KAISER'S WAR AGENT IS PICKED AS CHANCELLOR

Von Papen, Accused by U. S., at Helm.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

BERLIN, May 31.—A man accused of directing German propaganda in the United States before America entered the war and later a general staff officer of the imperial army of Kaiser Wilhelm II. was directed by President Paul von Hindenburg today to form a temporary government for Germany.

The new chancellor, who succeeds the "ousted" soldier and scholar, Dr. Heinrich Bruening, is Maj. Franz von Papen. He was military attaché in the United States until the American government demanded his withdrawal and a military associate of the octogenarian president.

Member of Catholic Party.

Like Dr. Bruening, Von Papen is a Catholic Centrist, but hails from the army group of the party. One of the reasons President von Hindenburg forced out Bruening was because he felt the army would not support him in case of disorders.

President von Hindenburg commissioned Von Papen to form a "national concentration" cabinet. There was considerable speculation on the imperial army officer's designation because of his Catholic affiliations and the nature of his career. The 59 year old chancellor is the principal stockholder and editor of the Catholic organ "Germania."

Von Papen tonight began the task of selecting a "stop-gap" government. He was forced to issue invitations to those who would be strong enough and receptive enough to join a concentration cabinet. Several of the nominees possess titles ringing of the days of the kaiser.

The chancellor himself is said to doubt whether it will be possible for him to obtain the support of the reichstag.

Nazis Willing to Wait.

Adolph Hitler's National Socialists failed to exhibit any enthusiasm over Von Papen's appointment. They are willing to let a concentration government exist until autumn when, it is expected, the Nazis will be given an opportunity to make good their claim that they could control the reichstag if given the chance in a general election.

Von Papen, some political leaders insist, has agreed to dissolve the reichstag in September and to recommend the calling of general elections in order that a new reichstag may alter the German constitution "to suit the national needs."

In the meantime, Von Papen intends to govern with an iron hand. He has repeatedly demanded a "national dictatorship freed of all parliamentary trimmings." He has made great efforts to establish contact with France and is known to favor a Franco-German union against Russia.

Disorders Sweep Berlin.

While President von Hindenburg was spending a trying day with political leaders, disorders swept Berlin. Hitler's Nazis staged demonstrations in front of the presidential palace while conferences were going on inside. They massed on front several times and shouted "Hail, Hitler!"

Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's lieutenant, tried to address a crowd in Unter den Linden, but was forced to move on by the police.

Communists clashed with Nazis as sailors paraded in commemoration of the battle of Jutland. In the riot, the sailors were nearly mobbed and the police were stoned. Mounted police fired into the air and charged the crowd. Two women were seriously injured.

The Von Papen cabinet is expected to be almost extremely rightist.

The new chancellor has offered the foreign ministry to Baron Constantin von Neurath, Germany's ambassador at the court of St. James's. If Von Neurath declines on account of poor health, Baron Rudolf Nadolny, ambassador to Turkey and negotiator at the Geneva disarmament conference, will receive the invitation.

Junker to Get Post.

There were indications that Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, Von Hindenberg's East Russian protégé, would be the choice for the interior. Thus this representative of the East Prussian junker landowners would have charge of Germany's huge police force.

Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, generally credited with participation in the nationalist movement which forced Dr. Bruening's resignation, may get the

High in the air over Cicero a pilot instructor fought a terror stricken post-graduate student of flying for control of a spinning airplane yesterday afternoon. The struggle ended when the student plunged from the swirling ship and fell 1,000 feet to his death at 59th court and Ogden avenue.

With the student gone the pilot was able to take the controls, right the swirling plane when it was only 250 feet up, and bring himself safely to a landing.

The man killed was Harold Burke, 21 years old, 292 East North avenue, Elmhurst. The instructor who escaped is Victor Lindemann, 23 years old, 4707 West 65th street, owner of the Aero Training school at the Chicago airport.

Goes Up for New License.

At about 1:15 p. m. Burke, who already held a private pilot's license was taken into the air by Lindemann. Burke desired the preparatory flight that would make him eligible for a limited commercial pilot's diploma. To get this coveted slip of paper it was necessary that he be able to put a plane into a tail spin and bring it out.

It was this part of the course that Lindemann was to take him through. So, with Burke sitting in the pilot's seat and the instructor behind him in the passenger's seat of the Warner motored Fleet ship, they went aloft.

In this type of plane there are controls in both cockpits. The man in the rear can handle the movements of the ship if the hands of the front man are loosed.

Instructor's Story of Tragedy.

Burke flew for about twenty minutes, gaining altitude and following his instructions perfectly. At a height of 4,000 feet he tried the unfamiliar tail spin. What happened after that was told by Pilot Lindemann later in the Cicero police station.

"We spun as we intended," he said. "Burke should have taken only three spins and then righted the ship. But he lost his head. He froze to the controls. I tried to get them away from him and couldn't. His grip was like iron on the control stick.

"Spin followed spin until there were fourteen in all. By that time we were little more than a thousand feet up. I yelled at Burke and it made no impression. Finally I slugged the side of his head with my fist, hoping to bring him out of his daze.

Student Leaps from Plane.

"He looked around and I pointed down to the ground to indicate to him that we were going to crash unless something like a miracle happened. He seemed to understand and he leaped out with his hand moving toward the ring on his parachute.

"Maybe he could have opened the chute and gotten down safely if he hadn't been hit by the left wing. We were still whirling and the wing caught him on the left arm and side. My guess is that his left arm might have been broken then. Burke dropped. Then I went to work and just managed to right the ship and get back to the airport."

The body of Burke struck the sidewalk and bounded into a prairie. Two witnesses who saw the fall were Andrew Kral, 3244 South Austin boulevard, Cicero, and A. J. Wernick, 4045 South 61st avenue, Stickney, who were walking in Ogden avenue. They believed at first, they said, that the falling body was a dummy and discovered that a man had been killed only when they reached it.

Flying Policeman Sees Fall.

Another witness was Anton Brown, Oak Park policeman and airplane pilot, who was aloft and saw the plunge from his plane.

Lindemann was released after being questioned by Cicero's chief of police, John C. Sullivan; C. A. Kohler of the sheriff's office, and Inspector Ora Young of the department of commerce. The pilot said that after his student jumped he made the quick decision to stay with the ship rather than to follow and take to his own parachute.

"My plane is all that I have in the world," he said. "I had to save it."

Burke was an employé of the Elmhurst postoffice. According to Lindemann, he had had more than 100 hours of flying.

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR RESTORES MASSIE TO FULL CITIZENSHIP

Frankfort, Ky., May 31.—(AP)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie was restored to full citizenship in an order issued here today by Gov. Ruby Laffoon.

LIEUT. THOMAS H. MASSIE.

The naval lieutenant, who with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two sailors, was convicted last month in Honolulu of manslaughter, is a native of Winchester, Ky. The sentences of the four for the "honor slaying" of a Hawaiian indicted for attacking Mrs. Massie, were commuted to an hour in jail.

The governor's order, issued on the regular form for restoring civil rights, carried a notation saying:

"The question has been raised as to whether by reason of said conviction, said Massie, who is a citizen of the state of Kentucky, lost his civil rights, as such citizen under the laws of this commonwealth, and while it is believed said conviction had no such effect in any respect, yet in order to put the matter beyond all doubt, his civil rights, if they were denied, are restored to him."

OLD POSTOFFICE SEEMS TO BE GOOD ENOUGH FOR GARY

Gary's opportunity to get the $500,000 new postoffice building, proposed in Speaker Garner's relief appropriation bill, may go begging for lack of local support. Alfred S. Hess, who has been Gary's postmaster for the last ten years, said yesterday that the town's postal facilities are adequate for the next few years. He pointed out that the present postoffice was remodeled recently, and several substations added. Mr. Hess said he had given no thought to a possible site for the new postoffice proposed in the Garner bill.

Mr. Roche, Gangsters' Foe, Is Victim of Auto Thief

Pat Roche, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, parked his twelve cylinder automobile in front of his home at 2317 East 70th place last night. He emerged from his home ten minutes later to learn his car was gone. Stolen with it were a repeating shotgun and half a dozen axes used in raids. The automobile was a black Cadillac sedan.

Idle School Rooms Total $20,000,000

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

More than $20,000,000 worth of idle rooms have been found in the Chicago schools, instead of $10,230,000 worth as recently reported. Yet it is reported that 67,000 school pupils are housed in rented rooms, basement rooms, and in portables, or are attending school only half the time.

The low estimate of $10,230,000 worth of vacant rooms was based upon a representation that there were 186 idle schoolrooms. Business Manager Howard Savage was asked for the number. It was not available in his office. He phoned the office of the superintendent of schools, which informed Mr. Savage that there were 186 vacant rooms. That number, based on the estimated value of $55,000 a room, represents $10,230,000 of idle investment in vacant rooms.

Finds 380 Vacant Rooms.

It was said that this number appeared low, and the report was conveyed to Business Manager Savage. He had clerks telephone to every school and obtained the statement of each principal on the vacant rooms in his or her school. Mr. Savage's new total is 380 vacant rooms, instead of 186. At $55,000 a room, there is therefore $20,900,000 worth of school space standing idle.

Last Thursday Mayor Cermak issued a statement showing 94 vacant rooms in 31 schools in one of the 13 districts in the school system. He valued the 94 rooms at $5,170,000, on the board's basis of estimating.

Strayer Report Today.

The report of Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia university, which is scheduled to be presented to the school board this afternoon, is expected to contain information on the subject of idle rooms. Dr. Strayer and seven of his associates in the making of the $100,000 survey of the Chicago schools, arrived yesterday to be on hand to submit the results of the survey. The contract of Dr. Strayer provides that he shall tell the board where it is denying opportunities to the school children, and a seat shortage of 67,000 is expected to be included in this part of the report.

Dr. Strayer, it is believed, may find more vacant rooms than the 380 reported to Mr. Savage. The district superintendents of the elementary schools made a report as of Dec. 31, 1929, which showed 430 vacant class rooms.

Gives Causes of Vacancies.

A subcommittee on building costs of the Principals' club made an analysis of this data, which was presented on May 20, 1931. The committee asserted that the 430 vacant rooms counted by the district superintendents did not include 170 rooms "used as special rooms which could be turned into division use."

overcrowded condition of our schools," said that report. "We do not hear, however, that there are 430 vacant class rooms, and if special rooms are added the number would be about 600. This number has been increased somewhat during the last sixteen months due to new schools. A recent report gives 706 vacant rooms."

PRICE OF MILK IN PINT BOTTLES CUT TO 7 CENTS

The price of pint bottles of milk will be reduced from 8 cents to 7 cents in Chicago and suburbs today. The reduction was announced yesterday afternoon by Dr. Clyde L. King of Philadelphia, called as arbiter in milk price negotiations between producers and distributors.

The price cut was made possible, Dr. King said, by lowering to $1.85 per hundred pounds the price paid to farmers for the milk, a reduction of 16 cents.

"This is as low a price as either farmers or dealers can now live under with full consideration of the disastrous price level now effective throughout the country," Dr. King said.

The price reduction on pints follows the reduction from 12 to 11 cents on quarts announced three weeks ago by Dr. King.

LEVY ON SALES BEATEN; HOOVER PLEADS IN VAIN

REPORT TO SENATE CUTS 239 MILLION OFF U. S. BUDGET

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—The senate appropriations committee reported out an economy rider to the legislative supply bill providing for a slash of 239 million dollars in the cost of operating the federal government during the 1933 fiscal year.

Passage of this bill as written would make it necessary for congress to effect cuts of 160 millions in the regular supply bills if the 400 million reduction in federal expenditures asked by the treasury department is to be effected.

Reduce Their Own Pay.

As finally submitted to the senate the rider calls for a flat 10 per cent decrease in the salaries of all federal employés including congressmen and all other persons on the federal pay rolls with the exception of army and navy enlisted personnel and those whose salaries are specifically protected by the federal constitution, such as judges.

Close examination of the senate's new economy program discloses that most of the reductions are to be effected through reductions of the federal pay roll and a $48,000,000 cut in the amount of money given to veterans under present laws.

The cuts for federal employés included reductions of annual leaves with pay from thirty days to fifteen days annually to save $22,000,000; a prohibition against filling vacancies to save $16,700,000; temporary suspension of overtime compensation, $6,381,000; and suspension of automatic increases in compensation, $3,090,000.

Most of the other reductions were small, the savings in each case running from a few hundred thousand dollars to $5,000,000.

House Kills Many Items.

As the economy bill emerged from the house it carried reductions of but $52,000,000, the majority of the items having been killed by the house after being reported favorably by the special house economy committee. The house bill originally provided for a 11 per cent federal pay cut above $1,000 to save $67,000,000, but this was shaved down until in the end the saving effected through pay reductions was only $9,000,000. Likewise, the house killed all the provisions for reductions in veterans' expenditures.

The senate economy rider, like the house bill, would authorize the President to reorganize the executive departments. No estimate of the savings which might be effected through this step was included.

All Night Session Results in Final Passage of Bill.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 1, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Twelve hours after President Hoover came before them with a plea to hasten balancing the budget lest greater economic catastrophe befall the country the senate at 12:25 this morning passed the billion dollar tax increase bill by a vote of 72 to 11.

The estimated total which will be raised by the bill is more than one billion 113 million dollars.

This action brought the bill after five months in the legislative mill to the final stage of enactment. It now goes to a conference committee, which will reconcile the differences in the house and senate bills. The measure is expected to be in the hands of the President within a week.

"Vote! Vote!" Cry Senators.

The passage of the bill followed swiftly upon the rejection at midnight of the manufacturers' excise, or sales tax, recommended by the President. Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] was cut off in the midst of a speech with impatient calls of "Vote! Vote!" from the weary senators.

The roll was called amid a confusion—the confusion of relief—that forced Vice President Curtis to pound for order. As one senator answered to his name he followed the hearty "aye" with a "whew" that could be heard around the chamber.

The eleven senators who voted against the bill were:

Republicans—Blaine and Norbeck.

Democrats—Black, Bulow, Costigan, Glass, Gore, Hawes, Smith, and Trammell.

Farmer-Labor—Shipstead.

It was the inclusion of the tariff items in the bill that turned the Democratic senators against it. Senator Tydings [Dem., Md.], who led the anti-tariff fight, asked to be excused from voting and was recorded "present."

Other Increases Voted.

The defeat of the sales tax by a vote of 27 to 53 followed the addition to the bill of taxes designed to raise 275 of the 285 millions Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills had told the finance committee would be needed to make the measure balance the budget. These additional taxes were:

One cent a gallon tax on gasoline, 150 million dollars.

A three per cent tax on sales of electricity by private power companies. 55 million dollars.

The manufacturers' sales tax was advocated by the President to yield 335 millions and replace these and other special excise taxes previously incorporated in the bill.

"Sales Tax Reaches Exempt Rich."

Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] made an impassioned plea for the sales tax. He said the bill is already reeking with sales taxes. Confronting Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], whose fortune is in tax exempt securities and who is an arch foe of the sales tax, Walsh shouted:

"The sales tax will reach the millions of people who have billions of wealth in tax exempt securities locked in their vaults. I predict," he went on, "that the sales tax will become a necessary source of revenue before the first of next March."

At the instance of Senator Robert M. La Follette [radical Rep., Wis.] the senate by a vote of 54 to 30 changed the provision relating to the tax on life insurance companies. The 4 per cent reserve provision was reduced to 3½ per cent. This entails a loss of $6,000,000 in the revenue to be derived from this source.

Tax Produce Futures.

Balancing this loss is an increased yield of $6,000,000 resulting from the action of the senate in restoring at the instance of Senator Lynn Frazier [radical Rep., N. D.] the provision of the house bill imposing a tax of 5 cents on each $100 of sales of produce of future delivery.

An outstanding feature of the night session was the speech made by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] in support of an amendment he proposed to confiscate the profits of bootleggers and other outlaws and take the government out of the partnership with such criminals which results from its present exaction of income taxes from their illicit gains. The senate, which was on the point of rejecting the amendment, adopted it overwhelmingly after hearing the Illinois senator's argument.

There was strenuous objection when

Greece Orders Pangalos, Former Dictator, Exiled

ATHENS, Greece, May 31.—(AP)—The council of defense decided today to banish Gen. Theodorus Pangalos, former dictator of Greece, to the island of Corfu, apparently as a consequence of reported subversive activities among his followers.

the proposed tax of 1 per cent per gallon on gasoline came in on the heels of the passage of the tax on electricity."

Once again, as he had when the incise tax on automobiles was under consideration, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.] protested against the pyramiding of taxes on the automotive industry.

And on behalf of the oil state members Senator Thomas P. Gore [Dem., Okla.] argued that a further federal tax on gasoline would be an unfair burden to a consumer already paying state taxes that in two cases ran as high as 7 cents a gallon.

Senator Elmer D. Thomas [Dem., Okla.] sought to substitute for the gasoline tax an amendment directing the Reconstruction Finance corporation to float 150 million dollars' worth of debentures and use the proceeds to repay the treasury 150 millions of the half billion dollars of capital furnished to the corporation by the government. His amendment was promptly sandbagged, 8 to 80.

With equal promptness and without bothering to take a roll call vote the gasoline tax was adopted.

The old tariff fight flared up and threatened for a time to delay the now swiftly moving bill. But the senate was in no mood for delay by that time and tariff questions were quickly given a quietus.

Demands End of Delays.

Senator Jones [Rep., Wash.] brought up his amendment to revise tariff schedules to compensate for the depreciation of foreign currency and sought to attach it as a rider to the bill. Into the debate swung Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader, to demand an immediate showdown on whether or not the senate was willing to have the tax bill delayed in this fashion.

"We have spent two weeks under the whip and spur of an emergency," he roared. "We have reached out everywhere for revenue with which to balance the budget and sustain the country's credit. For senators to insist on pressing the tariff—a subject admittedly controversial and foreign to the bill—is wrong and unjustifiable."

"Balance Budget Now."

And Senator Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.] counseled the senate to "pass the bill now; for now we know it will balance the budget; a week from now it may not."

The Jones amendment was ushered out without the formality of a roll call.

Members of the anti-tariff group which fought the four tariff items in the bill so strenuously ten days ago swung into the procession. They moved reconsideration of the votes by which the tariffs on oil, coal, and lumber were written into the revenue bill, but put aside all desire for lengthy debate.

One after another, in swift sequence, the motions to reconsider were defeated—that on oil by a vote of 36 to 44, that on coal by a vote of 40 to 43, and that on lumber by a vote of 31 to 50.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] moved to reconsider the vote on copper tariff, but, in the face of such opposition, withdrew his motion.

Events Move Swiftly.

The day was one of swiftly moving events. It began with Secretary Mills telling the finance committee how far the bill, as it stood Monday night, fell short of balancing the budget.

Within half an hour afterward the senate had adopted the Connally amendment income tax rates. Then came the President, making his first personal appearance before either house of congress, to portray the economic crisis and recommend a general manufacturers' excise tax which he said is not a sales tax, as the most feasible means of raising the money to make both ends meet in the national household.

The President was no sooner gone than the finance committee met and rejected his manufacturers' excise tax by a vote of 8 to 12, but agreed on the gasoline tax and a 5 per cent tax on household consumption of gas and electricity which the senate later rejected in favor of Senator Howell's 3 per cent tax on sales of electricity only.

Big Business Alarmed.

Earlier in the day it transpired that M. Hoover was almost literally catapulted to the capitol with his message by the pressure of big business men, chiefly in New York, who have become alarmed to the verge of panic by the continued sinking of the stock market, the unrelieved prostration of business with ever dwindling dividends and the unmoderated withdrawal of gold by Europeans, convinced that the United States will not balance its budget and will be forced off the gold standard.

Corporation dividends are averaging thirty per cent less this year than last year. In February business had fallen off to such an extent that the treasury no longer looked for as much as a billion dollars from income taxes. It estimated the yield from taxes on 1932 incomes at 867 millions. Now, such has been the further decline of business, that the income tax yield is not likely to exceed 750 millions.

In the business community, the blame for the worsening of the situation was being well nigh universally laid upon the five months' dallying by congress with the tax bill, with proposals of savings in the cost of government which have failed to materialize and with other proposals of vastly increased outlays.

In the latter part of last week the White House began to feel the pressure from the business interests for some sort of action that would speed up the passage of the tax bill, wind up this session of congress and end the suspense from which business is suffering. It was this pressure that brought the President precipitately back from his Rapidan camp, Sunday night, for a series of conferences with senate leaders.

The appeals from commercial, industrial and financial sources to do something to avert an actual panic fairly rained upon the President by letter, telephone and telegraph.

Owen D. Young, who is big business personified, came in person with the same message and participated in the White House conference last night.

Late Monday afternoon the situation was deemed so serious that it was proposed to hold a night session of the senate, at which the President would appear to deliver his message. Counsels to postpone the move till yesterday finally prevailed.

That the President would appear before the senate on an emergency matter became quickly noised about and the galleries of the senate were jammed long before noon. In the front row of the senators' private gallery was Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. In the row reserved for the use of the President was Mrs. Ogden L. Mills and a party of friends. Secretary Mills was on the floor which was crowded behind the senators' chairs with members of the house.

The senators and spectators rose in silence as the President was announced and entered the senate chamber, taking his stand with his manuscript at the secretary's desk immediately in front of the dais, where Vice President Curtis was presiding.

The President's pale and drawn countenance bore testimony to the strain and anxiety under which he has been laboring. He was also noticeably nervous. He laid his manuscript upon the lectern and then tightly clasped his hands before him and rested them on the edge of the desk in an effort to control their trembling.

With his characteristic expressionless delivery, Mr. Hoover read his address in a voice that was almost inaudible thirty feet distant. Senators in the rear row and the occupants of the galleries leaned far forward in their seats, cupping their ears in a vain effort to hear. Reporters in the press gallery were obliged to await the arrival of copies of the speech from the White House to learn what the President had said.

The President began by sketching the deepening of the depression, which he attributed largely to the paltering of congress with the tax and economy legislation and the schemes for further extravagances in expenditure which have engendered the fear abroad that the American budget is to go unbalanced. The result had been, he said, an unjustified run on the dollar, which must end, lest recovery be further retarded.

He called for common sacrifice by all sections and groups in the effort to balance the budget, setting up the following as the general objective:

"1. Drastic reduction of expenditures.

"2. Passage of adequate revenue legislation, the combination of which with reductions will unquestionably beyond all manner of doubt declare to the world the balancing of the federal budget and the stabilizing of the American dollar.

"3. Passage of adequate relief legislation to assure the country against distress and to aid in employment pending the next session of congress."

Opposes Public Works Splurge.

The President restated his views on depression relief, including his opposition to a vast program of public works construction, and concluded with a solemn appeal for expeditious adoption of his recommendations.

"In your hands at this moment," he ended, "is the answer to the question whether democracy has the capacity to act speedily enough to save itself in emergency. The nation urgently needs unity. It needs solidarity before the world in demonstrating that America has the courage to look its difficulties in the face and the capacity and resolution to meet them."

When the President closed the senators and occupants of the galleries arose and for the first time applauded.

The general reaction was that the President had struck a faint blow in behalf of the sales tax. Comparison was heard of Mr. Hoover's half hearted plea and frightened appearance with the masterful stroke of that confident and determined executive, Woodrow Wilson, when he appeared before the joint assembly of the two houses and scared the legislators into repealing the Panama canal tolls exemption. Foes of the sales tax were jubilant, proclaiming that the President had damned it with faint praise.

Vote on Manufacturers' Tax.

The vote by which the finance committee rejected the manufacturers' tax was as follows:

For the sales tax—Republicans—Smoot, Watson, Reed, Shortridge, Keyes, Bingham, Metcalf. Democrat—Walsh [Mass.].

There was debate as the senate progressed with its work, but it was shop talk compared with the debate that often flared earlier in the day.

Outstanding in these early and fiercer hours was the speech made by Senator Couzens in reply to a statement yesterday in which Senator Reed painted a picture of gold being withdrawn from the United States by the shipload and a fall from the gold standard in the offing if the sales taxes were not adopted.

Creditors Only Excited, He Says.

The only persons distrustful of the American future, said the Michigan senator, belong to the creditor class and he declared the agitation over the revenue legislation was directed in favor of the creditor class.

Quoting from a recent New York dispatch, Senator Couzens showed that there had been a net loss of gold totaling $90,757,900 during the last week the largest loss since October. But despite losses, he declared, the monetary stocks of American gold now total $4,207,000,000.

"A loss," said Senator Couzens, "of only 12 per cent during the year in spite of all the great depression."

He showed, moreover, that the circulation of federal reserve notes was secured by a backing of approximately 76 per cent of gold.

Senator Couzens' speech followed closely the adoption of the amendment of Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.] raising the already increased individual income taxes approximately to the 1922 rates.

MAKES REVENUE LAW TAKE 100 PER CENT OF CRIMINAL'S PROFITS

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—An amendment to the revenue bill which senate leaders predicted would go far to put the gangster out of business was offered tonight by Senator Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.] and adopted almost unanimously by the senate.

The amendment of the Illinois senator provides that the income tax for criminals shall be 100 per cent of his profits.

Senator Glenn's amendment came as a dramatic surprise during the closing hours of debate.

"During the recent drives by government agents, particularly in and about Chicago," said the Illinois senator, "there have been revealed literally millions of illegal profits.

"These syndicates have operated white slave rings, gambling rings, narcotic rings, and have operated from coast to coast in violation of the prohibition laws.

"Some portion of the profits have been obtained for the federal government through prosecutions for violations of the income laws.

"But a cry has gone up, and nowhere has it been louder than in Chicago, that these are not the sort of business endeavors in which the federal government should be a partner."

CONFERENCE MUST SETTLE THESE POINTS IN REVENUE MEASURE

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(AP)—The more important differences between the senate and house on the tax bill to be settled in conference are:

The senate's further increase in income rates; addition of copper and lumber import taxes; one cent a gallon gasoline tax; three per cent tax on the earnings of electric power companies; corporation tax increase, and lowering of admission tax exemption.

The house provision for subjecting corporate dividends to the normal tax and placing a minimum rate of one-fourth of one per cent on stock transfers. These were eliminated by the senate.

TEXT OF HOOVER'S PLEA TO SENATE URGING SALES TAX

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—President Hoover's address to the senate urging a sales tax and prompt enactment of revenue and economy legislation to balance the budget follows:

An emergency has developed in the last few days which it is my duty to lay before the senate.

The continued down movement in the economic life of the country has been particularly accelerated during the last few days and it relates in part definitely to the financial program of the government.

There can be no doubt that superimposed upon other causes the long continued delays in the passage of legislation providing for such reduction in expenses and such addition to revenues as would balance the budget, together with proposals or projects which would greatly increase governmental expenditures, have given rise to doubt and anxiety as to the ability of our government to meet its responsibilities.

Fears Exaggerated Abroad.

These fears and doubts have been foolishly exaggerated in foreign countries. They know from bitter experience that the course of unbalanced budgets is the road to ruin. They do not realise that slow as our processes may be we are determined and have the resources to place the finances of the United States on an unassailable basis.

The immediate result has been to create an entirely unjustified run upon the American dollar from foreign countries and within the last few days despite our national wealth and resources and unparalleled gold reserves, our dollar stands at a discount in the markets of the world for the first time in half a century. This can be and must be immediately corrected or the reaction upon our economic situation will be such as to cause great losses to our people and will still further retard recovery.

Nor is the confusion in public mind and the rising feeling of doubt and fear confined to foreign countries. It reflects itself directly in diminished economic activity and increased unemployment within our own borders and among our own citizens. There is thus further stress upon already diminished and strained economic life of the country.

Appreciates Sacrifices.

No one has a more sympathetic realization than I of the difficulties and complexities of the problem with which the congress is confronted. The decrease in revenues due to the depression by upwards of $1,700,000,000 and the consequent necessity to reduce government expenditures, the sacrifice such reduction calls for from many groups and sections, the further sacrifice called for in the distribution of the remaining burden by the imposition of new taxes all constitute a problem which naturally arouses wide divergence of sectional interest and individual views.

Yet if we are to secure a just distribution of these sacrifices in such fashion as to establish confidence in the integrity of the government we must secure an adjustment of these views to quick and prompt national action, directed at one sole purpose, that is to unfetter the rehabilitation of industry, agriculture and unemployment.

The time has come when we must all make sacrifice of some parts of our particular views and bring these dangers and degenerations to halt by expeditious action.

Confers with Party Leaders.

In the stress of this emergency I have conferred with members of both parties of the senate as to methods by which the strains and stresses could be overcome and the gigantic resources and energies of our people released from the fetters in which they are held.

I have felt in the stress of this emergency a grave responsibility rests upon me not only to present the situation to the senate but to make suggestions as to the basis of adjustment between these views which I hope will lead to early action. And I am addressing myself to the senate on this occasion as the major question under consideration are now before this body.

We have three major duties in legislation in order to accomplish our fundamental purpose.

1. Drastic reduction of expenditures.

2. Passage of adequate revenue legislation, the combination of which, with reductions, will unquestionably beyond all manner of doubt declare to the world the balancing of the federal budget and the stabilizing of the American dollar.

3. Passage of adequate relief legislation to assure the country against distress and to aid in employment pending the next session of congress.

Must Show Effort to Save.

It is essential that when we ask our citizens to undertake the burdens of increased taxation we must give to them evidence of reduction of every expenditure not absolutely vital to the immediate conduct of the government.

The executive budget of last December provided for a reduction of expenditures in the next fiscal year over the then estimated expenditures of the current year by about $370,000,000.

I have recommended to the congress from time to time the necessity for passage of legislation which would give authority for further important reductions in expenditures not possible for consideration by either the executive or the committees of congress without such legislation.

An earnest nonpartisan effort was made to secure these purposes in a national economy bill in the house but it largely failed. That subject is under review by the bipartisan committee appointed from the members of the senate appropriations committee, and I am informed it has tentatively agreed upon a recommendation which would aggregate savings of $250,000,000, together with a number of undetermined further possibilities.

Urges Adoption of Economies.

I am not informed as to details of these recommendations, although I learn that my own suggestions in many instances have not been accepted.

But I do know that the committee has made honest and earnest effort to reach a just reduction in expenditures and I trust therefore that, despite any of our individual views or the sacrifice of any group that we can unite in support and expeditious adoption of the committee's conclusions.

In addition to the economies which may be brought about through the economy bill, the direct reductions of the appropriations committee should increase this figure to at least $400,000,000, not including certain postponements to later deficiency bills.

As this sum forms the basis of calculations as to increased taxes necessary, it is essential that, no matter what the details may be, that amount of reduction must be obtained or taxes must be increased to compensate.

If this minimum of $400,000,000 is attained by congressional action, together with the $369,000,000 effected through executive budget, except for amounts already budgeted for public works in aid to unemployment and increased costs of veterans, we will have reduced expenditures of this government to the lowest point since 1916.

Tax Yields Decreasing.

In the matter of tax legislation, we must face the plain and unpalatable fact that due to the degeneration in the economic situation during the past month the estimates of fertility of taxes which have been made from time to time based upon the then current prospects of business must be readjusted to take account of the decreasing business activity and shrinking values.

The finance committee has been advised that the setbacks of the past month now make it evident that, if we are to have absolute assurance of the needed income with breadth of base which would make a certainty of the collections, we must face additional taxes to those now proposed by the senate finance committee.

I recognize the complaint that estimates of the taxes required and reductions of expenses needed have been repeatedly increased, but on the other hand it should be borne in mind that if tax and economy legislation recommended from time to time since last December had been promptly enacted there would have been less degeneration and stagnation in the country. But it is unprofitable to argue any such questions. We must face the situation as it exists today.

All Sorts of Taxes Suggested.

In the course of the six months during which the revenue bill has been considered in the house and senate practically every form of tax has been suggested at one time or another, many have found their way into the bill later to be rejected.

The total amount congress originally set out to obtain has been gradually whittled down either by actual reductions or degeneration of the situation while needs have increased.

If we examine the major sources of possible increases in taxes now proposed and the nature of taxes already voted, it may well be that the income taxes have already been raised to the point of diminishing returns through avoidance which will ensue by the use of tax-exempt securities and are already so high as to approach the danger point in retardation of enterprise.

It is advisable that more relief should be given to earned incomes. Nor will further increases in income tax, even including the proposals of Senator Connally cover the gap in our revenues or provide against any failure to reduce expenses to the full amount I have stated.

The senate has already imposed a multitude of specific manufacturers' excise taxes on special industries. Some of them appear discriminatory and uncertain in their productivity.

I have not and do not favor a general sales tax. It has not been proposed by the treasury.

A sales tax is not, however, to be confused with an extension of the special manufacturer's excise taxes to a general manufacturers' excise tax with exemptions of food and clothing.

This is an entirely different tax from a so-called sales tax and cannot be pyramided. Even this general manufacturers' excise tax has not been proposed by the treasury, although at the time such a tax was unanimously recommended by the ways and means committee of the house, representing both political parties and their leaders in the house of representatives, the secretary of the treasury accepted it in the hope that immediate passage of the bill would result.

In order, however, to solve our problem and give assurance to the country and the world of the impregnability of the American dollar and that we are ready to meet our emergencies at any sacrifice, I have now come to favor an extension for a limited period of the many special excise taxes to a more general manufacturers' excise tax and will support the congress if it should be adopted.

Whether this be the course or not, some further emergency tax sources should be incorporated in the pending bill.

Problem of Relief.

Our third problem is that of relief. The sharp degeneration has its many reflexes in distress and hardship upon our people. I hold that the maintenance of the sense of individual and personal responsibility of men to their neighbors and the proper separation of functions of the federal and local governments requires the maintenance of the fundamental principle that the obligation of distress rests upon the individuals, upon the communities, and upon the states.

In order, however, that there may be no failure on the part of any state to meet its obligation in this direction, I have, after consultation with some of the party leaders on both sides, favored authorization to the Reconstruction Finance corporation to loan up to 300 million dollars to state governments where they are unable to finance themselves in provision of relief to distress.

Such loans should be made by purchase of state bonds by the corporation, but where states are unable to issue bonds then loans should be made upon application of state authorities and if they are not regularized by the issuance of bonds within a period of 12 to 18 months they should become a charge upon the federal aid funds to which such states may be entitled.

Increased Reconstruction Fund.

In order to aid unemployment and to avoid wasteful expansion of public works I have favored an authority to the reconstruction corporation to increase its issues of its securities to the maximum of 3 billion dollars in order that it may extend its services both in aid to employment and agriculture on a wide scale.

Under the methods proposed the corporation is to be

[A] authorized to buy bonds from political subdivisions or public bodies to aid in construction of income producing or self-liquidating projects;

[B] to make loans to established enterprise upon adequate security, for advancement of sound projects that will increase employment but safeguarded by requirement that some portion of outside capital is also provided;

[C] to divert a portion of the unexpended authorizations of agricultural loans through the secretary of agriculture to finance exports of agricultural products;

[D] to make loans to institutions upon security of agricultural commodities to assure the carrying of normal stocks of these commodities and thus by stabilizing their loan value to steady their price levels;

[E] to make loans to federal farm board to enable extension of finance of farm coöperatives.

Opposes Further Public Works.

I have not been able to favor the expansion of public works beyond the program already proposed in the budget. I have for many years advocated speeding up of public works as relief to unemployment in times of depression.

Since the beginning of this depression, in consonance with this view, the federal government will have expended in excess of $1,500,000,000 in construction and maintenance of one kind or another as against a normal program of perhaps $650,000,000 for a similar period.

The budget for next year calls for over $550,000,000, or double our usual outlay.

If we shall now increase these programs we shall need instantly to increase taxes still further.

We have already forced every project for which we have justification with any regard to the taxpayer and the avoidance of sheer waste.

Refuses to Argue Point.

It is not my desire on this occasion to argue the comparative merits of extending such a program and that of financing an even larger program of employment on productive works through the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

We are indeed all desirous of serving our fellow citizens who are in difficulty and we must serve them in such a fashion that we do not increase the ranks of unemployed.

I may emphasize that this alternative program avoids drain upon the taxpayer and above all, if we are to balance our budget and balance it in such fashion that our people and the world may know it is balanced, we cannot make further appropriations in any direction beyond the amounts now before the congress.

I am confident that if the congress could find in these suggestions which come from members of both parties a ground for adjustment of legislation on those dominant particulars and could bring it into immediate action it would yield not only relief to the country but would reëstablish that confidence which we so sorely need.

National Wealth Unimpaired.

The natural wealth of this country is unimpaired and the inherent abilities of our people to meet their problems are being restrained by failure of the government to act.

Time is of the essence. Every day's delay makes new wounds and extends them.

I come before you in sympathy with the difficulties which the problem presents and in a sincere spirit of helpfulness. I ask of you to accept such a basis of practical adjustment essential to the welfare of our people.

In your hands at this moment is the answer to the question whether democracy has the capacity to act speedily enough to save itself in emergency.

The nation urgently needs unity. It needs solidarity before the world in demonstrating that America has the courage to look its difficulties in the face and the capacity and resolution to meet them.

HOOVER'S FIRST APPEARANCE BEFORE SENATE

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—President Hoover's appearance before the senate today was his first before either branch of congress, and it marked the fifth occasion on which any one of the four last Presidents has appeared before the senate alone.

President Wilson made 23 personal appearances before congress, but only on three occasions did he address himself only to the senate. The first of these was on Jan. 22, 1917, when he came before the senate to present his speech on our foreign relations with Europe. On Sept. 30, 1918, he appeared before the senate on behalf of woman's suffrage, and on July 10, 1919, he submitted to the senate the treaty of peace with Germany.

President Harding made seven appearances in all before the congress, but only one of these was before the senate alone, when, on July 12, 1921, he appeared to deliver a message on the veterans' bonus.

President Coolidge made no personal appearance before either house of congress, preferring to send his messages instead. Until today President Hoover had followed the practice of his predecessor.

JAMES SIMPSON RACES HERE FROM INDIA IN 14 DAYS

Raps Congress for Delay; Must Stop Borrowing.

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—Returning to New York from India by plane and rail and ship in the record breaking time of 13 days, James Simpson departed at once for Chicago to take an active hand in movements there to alleviate economic stress.

JAMES SIMPSON.

Mr. Simpson, who is chairman of the board of Marshall Field & Co., was in Bhopal, India, on May 18, when he was recalled by business to Chicago. He started homeward at once by plane, flying over Persia, Palestine, Greece, Switzerland, thence to Paris and Cherbourg and boarded the Majestic on May 25th. His arrival in New York today marked his 13th day of travel. He will reach Chicago tomorrow, making 14 days from India to Chicago.

Raps Congress' Delay.

During a lengthy discussion of the financial and economic situation both at home and abroad, Mr. Simpson gave expression to some pointed views.

"One would think that we would have learned some lessons from the predicament in which so many countries of the world find themselves.

"Whn I left the United States on March 5, congress was busy drafting a new revenue bill. Three months have elapsed and the bill has not yet been passed. It seems that we are sadly lacking in courageous and intelligent leadership. Every congressman seems to vie with the other in playing to the gallery and in making cheap appeals for popular acclaim.

Must Pay As We Go.

"It must be obvious to all that if we are to maintain our national credit we must have a balanced budget. We must adopt a pay as you go policy.

"Constantly growing bond issues for unemployment relief, reconstruction finance boards, farm relief, soldiers' bonus, and a multitude of other reliefs will, unless stopped, bring about national finance disaster.

"We must drastically cut governmental expenses. Expenses might be cut in half and still give us all the governmental service needed.

"We must pass a tax bill that will raise enough money to pay current expenses without adding to the national debt. The same policy should be adopted by local state and municipal governments. The sooner we realize this and act upon it the better we all will be.

Warns of Too High Income Rate.

"Another lesson we should learn from Europe's experience—Great Britain in particular—is the dangers of enacting a revenue measure with confiscatory rates for income surtaxes.

"Just for a moment let your mind dwell on what is sure to happen. People with money will seek investments in tax exempt securities in order to avoid payment of excessive federal income taxes. Therefore, the increased income tax rates will not produce the expected revenue.

"One of the dangerous by-products of driving capital to invest in tax exempt securities will be to encourage states, cities, and local municipalities to issue bonds for the payment of both necessary and unnecessary expenditures that should be paid out of current revenue.

Local governments will thus be encouraged to excessive expenditures that will, in many cases, lead to bankruptcy, with all the disastrous consequences pertaining thereto.

Favors Manufacturers' Tax.

"The way to avoid this is to have a moderate income tax and a broadened base for the balance of necessary taxation.

"Again, Britain's lesson should teach us that abnormal income surtaxes means in the ultimate—confiscation of capital and destruction of principal. It is necessary to conserve both if we as a country are to develop in the future as in the past.

"It is a fallacy to think that governments can spend their way out of depression.

"While I have unbounded confidence in our ultimate future, it is going to require more courageous intelligent leadership in congress than is apparent on the horizon at this moment—to lead us out of our present slough of despond."

GARNER LEAVES CHAIR TO PLEAD HIS BILL'S CAUSE

Committee Will Hear Foes of Plan Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Proponents of the Garner two billion three hundred million dollar federal relief bill completed their testimony today in behalf of the measure before the house ways and means committee. Tomorrow the opponents of the bill will have their innings, with Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills scheduled to be heard. The measure to be reported out later in the week.

JOHN N. GARNER. [(C) Harris & Ewing]

Speaker Garner [Dem., Tex.] departed from long standing precedent to speak in behalf of his bill. Stepping down from the presiding officer's dais to appear in the novel rôle of witness, Mr. Garner defended his measure from White House charges that it represented a pork barrel raid on the treasury. The speaker asserted that passage of his bill was a step which must be taken in the interest of the unemployed.

Replies to "Pork" Charge.

In the face of President Hoover's criticism of the program of public works the speaker sought to refute all charges of the pork barrel or "hint of ham" as he called it. He reminded the committee of President Hoover's indorsement of a 2 billion dollar advance public works program recommended by the conference of governors in New Orleans in 1928.

In supporting the section of his bill which adds one billion dollars to the capitalization of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and empowers that organization to make loans for nonfederal construction, Speaker Garner said such a step would bring relief to the individual and the small business man. The speaker reiterated his contention of last Saturday that while the finance corporation had aided the banks and big business it had not benefited the middle classes.

Backed by Committee Heads.

Speaker Garner was followed by Representative Joseph J. Mansfield [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the rivers and harbors committee; Representative Riley J. Wilson [Dem., La.] of the flood control committee, and Representative Edward B. Almon [Dem., Ala.] of the committee on roads with statements of indorsement of the road work provisions of the program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Confronted by an array of manufactured articles, featured by a pair of lady's pink pajamas, alleged to be sold by the government in competition with private business, the house of representatives today voted to set up a committee of its members to investigate and recommend whatever legislation might be necessary to take Uncle Sam out of the competitive market.

REP. J. B. SHANNON. [Acme Photo.]

By a vote of 176 to 129, they passed the Shannon resolution creating a committee of five to make the study and suggest remedies to the next session of congress. There was no limitation placed upon the scope of the inquiry or on the amount of money which might be expended in gathering the data, although the possibility that the sum spent might reach considerable size provoked opposition from many of the members.

Shannon Shows U. S. Wares.

The display of manufactured articles was brought into the chamber by Representative Joseph B. Shannon [Dem., Mo.], author of the resolution. He handled the exhibits with all the fervor of a medicine show barker and he got response when Representative Thomas L. Blanton [Dem., Tex.] got up and announced he wanted not an investigating committee but a bill "with teeth in it," to make the government stop selling these commodities.

Snatching the pink pajamas from the clerk's table, where they rested with the other exhibits, Representative Shannon unfurled them to the inspection of his colleagues.

"Now these," he said, "were bought at the government store at Fort Leavenworth, Kas. What in the world do they want with these things in an army fort—unless it's to deceive the enemy."

Sell Liquor Flavoring.

He snatched a pair of shoes from the table, and, holding them aloft, he advised the membership that they were not only sold by the government in competition with a citizen retailer, but that they were products of an English factory, imported into this country in competition with a citizen manufacturer.

But the pièce de résistance of his show was a half dozen little bottles, bought, he said, by his clerk in a government store right in the capital. They contained, he declared, reading from the label "gin extract, rum extract, corn extract, rye extract."

"And the man who sold them," he shouted, "said there was a great demand for them."

11,000 Coal Miners Meet to Arrange Wage Scale

Clinton, Ind., May 31.—More than 11,000 coal miners from Illinois and Indiana attended a meeting here today at the Clinton High school athletic field in an effort to bring about a joint agreement between Illinois and Indiana union miners concerning the $6.10 basic scale now being asked by miners in these two districts. It also was reported that an effort would be made to reorganize the old four-state competitive scale which would effect a scale agreement between Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

POSTAL RECEIPTS $60,000,000 OFF FOR FISCAL YEAR

April Shows General Drop of 17 Per Cent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Postal receipts for the current fiscal year will fall more than $60,000,000 below the postal revenues for the corresponding period in 1931, it was disclosed today. On the basis of the revenue reduction shown so far during the current fiscal year the total postal receipts for the year ending June 30 next will run about 595 million dollars, compared with 656 million dollars in 1931 and 705 millions in 1930.

Postoffice officials today said that the reduction in revenues was general throughout the postal services, all classes of mail showing a decline in receipts. The decline in revenues has shown a marked acceleration in recent months.

Chicago Off 20 Per Cent in April.

Tabulations prepared at the postoffice department showing daily receipts for fifty selected offices throughout the country disclosed that April revenues ran 17 per cent below the revenues for the corresponding period in 1931. Another tabulation covering postal receipts at fifty industrial offices disclosed that their postal receipts for April, 1932, were 17.46 below those for April, 1931.

According to the tabulation of selected offices the postoffice at Chicago showed a drop of 20 per cent in April compared with April, 1931.

New York Falls 16.21 Per Cent.

During the same period the New York postoffice disclosed a reduction of receipts of 16.21 per cent; Philadelphia, 17.28 per cent; St. Louis, 22.56 per cent; Kansas City, 24.94 per cent; Atlanta, 25.67 per cent; Fort Worth, Tex., 25.98 per cent; Detroit, 17.60 per cent; Cleveland, 18.39 per cent; Pittsburgh, 24.11 per cent, and Milwaukee, 14.96 per cent.

Receipts for fifty large selected offices were $24,271,529 in April, 1932, compared to $29,257,210 in 1931. Receipts for January, 1932, were 13.23 per cent below the same month in 1931; February, 1932, was 8.88 below February, 1931, and March, 1932, was 11.60 below 1931. The figures for May, 1932, not yet available for publication, show a continuing large decrease in receipts.

Peoria Drops 18.34 Per Cent.

Peoria showed a decrease of 18.34 per cent in April this year compared with the same month last year. Phoenix, Ariz., showed a reduction of 27.03 per cent. Springfield, Ill., showed a falling off in receipts of 20.95 per cent for the same period.

Postal receipts for the fifty industrial offices ran $2,697,782 in April, 1932, and $3,368,409 in April, 1931.

While the average reduction in receipts for the last two months has been approximately 17 per cent below receipts for the corresponding months a year ago, postoffice officials said this would not mean that total receipts from all postal revenue sources during 1932 would be 17 per cent below 1931. It was said that the reduction for the year would run approximately 61 million dollars.

Amelia Putnam Dances Three Times with Wales

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 31.—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, trans-Atlantic flyer, had three dances with the prince of Wales tonight at the brilliant Derby charity ball at Grosvenor house. She was the center of attraction when she arrived with David Bruce, American Ambassador Mellon's son-in-law, and was taken straight to the prince's table. Beneath a short cloak of brown velvet she was wearing a shimmering dress of what may be known in London as "Atlantic green."

Hoover Plea, Congress Delay Drive Stocks to New Lows

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—The stock market got badly upset over Washington again today. Prices tumbled from a fraction to $4 or $5 a share as holders, alarmed over the trend of events at the nation's capital, proceeded to dump securities.

At the low levels of the day the decline in values as measured by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S index of fifty representative stocks had amounted to 51 per cent since March 8, when the current wave of liquidation—the seventh of the long bear market—got under way. It is the largest percentage drop in values of any of the downward movements that have yet engulfed the market.

Sell After Hoover's Speech.

President Hoover's outspoken remarks on the seriousness of the economic situation now confronting the country and the senate finance committee's rejection of the general sales tax proposal a little later in the day were the chief items of Wall street's fresh spasm of anxiety.

Not that any one doubted that the situation was a matter for genuine concern, but the President's reference to it as an "emergency" and his emphasis on the necessity for prompt action to preserve the nation's credit alarmed many traders in a wavering mood and caused a general rush to sell before matters grew any worse. The heaviest selling of the day developed after the chief executive's appearance before the senate.

The political upset in Germany with its threat of a Hitler dictatorship and further delay in the payment of private debts by the reich was another factor in the street's fresh despondency.

Liquidation converged in some of the leading shares of the list, including American Telephone, United States Steel common, Consolidated Gas, General Motors, and the like. Steel was driven down to a new bear market low of 25½. American Can, another big time leader, dropped to 34½, also a new bottom. American Tobacco common slid off $5.25 a share and the "B" stock $4.50. Brooklyn Union Gas lost $5 a share and American Stores fared as badly.

Dollar Temporarily Stronger.

The dollar finished somewhat stronger as measured against the exchange media of other countries, but banking circles were evincing no little concern over its future in view of the uncertainties attending financial legislation prospects at Washington. It was weaker toward the close of last week and has suffered more than one setback since congress began its long drawn out game of hide and seek.

Meanwhile gold continues to flow out the country by almost every ship that sails. Shipments booked for the Mauretania, Rochambeau, Majestic, Ile de France, and other vessels are expected to bring the week's exodus of the precious metal up to last week's figure of nearly 100 million dollars.

During May the shipments from the port of New York amounted to 215 million dollars, against only $7,490,000 of imports. This movement compared with exports of $49,489,400 and imports of only $10,142,300 in April.

NATION-WIDE TAX CUT DRIVE OPENS HERE TOMORROW

Delegates to Be Sent from Many States.

G. W. ROSSETTER.

The nation-wide tax demonstration—officially known as the National Conference for the Reduction of Governmental Expenditures — will open in the grand ballroom of the Hotel La Salle tomorrow morning. It will close on Friday. There will be representation from business, industrial and agricultural organizations from at least twenty-one states, according to a statement made yesterday by George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce which is sponsoring the meeting.

This demonstration grew out of the midwest tax conference held here last March under the auspices of the Chicago association to line up the middle west in a drive to reduce the cost of government—federal, state and local. So successful was this meeting that it was decided to organize the whole country in a determined effort to reduce taxation by curtailment in government costs.

Business leaders have been asserting in letters to congressmen and to their stockholders that the burden of taxation has been one of the factors prolonging the depression.

Support from Many States.

In his statement yesterday Mr. Rossetter said:

"Some idea of the fashion in which leading taxpayers all over the country are behind this united movement to show congress and other tax spending bodies that business is really in earnest in its fight for reduction of governmental budgets is shown in the list of delegations which have reported to us. We have received requests for reservations from trade and agricultural groups in twenty-one states, including such widely scattered areas as New York and California, Idaho and Alabama, New Jersey and Wyoming, Tennessee and Florida.

"Mississippi will have one of the largest representations. It will include not only leaders in cotton belt business circles but also several prominent officeholders, such as Senator James M. White and Representative Thomas McClellan.

"Other public officials who have already registered include J. M. Jones, president of the city commission of Birmingham, Ala.; Mayor William Moore of Portage, Wis., and Mayor X. A. Kramer of McComb, Miss.

"Out of this meeting should issue a program producing very effective results before the adjournment of congress and before the Republican and Democratic platform makers arrive in Chicago for their 1932 deliberations."

Program of Conference.

The official program of the conference is as follows:

Dean Thompson lists 32 cities in which he or some member of the tax committee has appeared to organize tax committees. The report shows 38 Illinois cities with active organizations of this kind.

DEFAULT ON BOND ISSUE COUNTY IS TRYING TO SELL

Three years ago Cook county was authorized to issue $2,350,000 in bonds for a nurses' home at the county hospital. Today, with only $200,000 worth of the bonds sold and with only the foundations built for the dormitory skyscraper, the county will default on its first interest payment on the issue.

The default is one of a series, totaling $1,697,380, which the county will suffer today. It has about $600,000 in cash to meet these obligations. This will be used to make a 50 per cent payment of principal and interest due on those issues for which taxes were assessed in the 1930 levy. Levy of the taxes for interest and principal totaling $501,380 on three other bond issues was not started until the 1931 levy. Since those taxes are still several months from collection, holders of these bonds will get nothing at present.

Payments on Three Issues.

The amounts due on the bonds levied for in 1930, on which the holders will get 50 per cent payments, follow:

	Principal.	Interest.
Series V, $15,000,000 hard road 4s	$750,000	$240,000
Series W, $3,000,000 jail, Criminal court 4s	150,000	48,000
Series AA, nursing home 4s	None	8,000
Totals	$900,000	$296,000

The county bonds defaulting today on which no payments will be made, due to noncollection of 1931 taxes, are:

	Principal.	Interest.
Series M, Oak Forest infirmary	$ 50,000	$ 2,000
Series T, Criminal courts building	225,000	63,000
Series U, county hospital addition	126,000	35,380
Totals	$401,000	$100,380

In spite of the then pending default on the nurses' home bonds, the county board voted last week to advertise for bids on another $200,000 worth of the bonds. Michael J. O'Connor, assistant county controller, told the commissioners at the time that the action was "ridiculous" and that banks would not bid anywhere near their face value for the bonds.

$442,300 in Default.

Cook county has already defaulted on $442,300 in interest and principal on bonds since the first of the year.

The forest preserve district today will turn $133,600 over to the First National bank, trustee of series 2 bonds of the forest preserves, to pay interest and principal now in default.

Tax payments totaling $5,774,075 were received by the county treasurer yesterday as the delinquency date fell on 1930 real estate taxes. The payments yesterday increased the total collected on the 1930 levy to approximately $129,000,000, or 44.3 per cent of the taxes levied.

MAYOR WILL PUT PARKING UP TO ALDERMEN TODAY

Owners Nullify Night Ban on Autos.

Mayor Cermak will ask the city council today to adopt a resolution suspending enforcement of the all night anti-parking ordinance until such time as the aldermen decide whether the law is to be repealed. The mayor asked Police Commissioner Allman to halt the police campaign against night parking after learning that vandals had been puncturing automobile tires.

Statistics announced yesterday showed that automobile owners, by their refusal to obey the summons given them by police for all night parking, have virtually nullified the ordinance. During the eight day drive, started a week ago Monday morning, the city spent more than 125 times as much in salaries of police assigned to enforcement of the ordinance as it collected in fines from violators.

119 Policemen Tag Cars.

There were 119 patrolmen assigned to tag cars parked in violation of the ordinance with summons ordering the owners to appear at the "cafeteria" branch of the traffic court and pay fines of $2 each. In addition the captains' secretaries in 41 district stations spent most of their time keeping records of the drive. The salaries of these 160 policemen for an eight day period totaled $9,600.

Although the police distributed more than 25,000 summonses, only 33 car owners appeared and paid fines, a total of $76 collected by an expenditure of $9,600. Thirty others demanded court hearings. They will be dismissed when their cases are called, according to City Prosecutor Michael Rosinia.

"I won't stand for enforcement of the ordinance if hoodlums are interested in it," Mayor Cermak said after his conference with Police Commissioner Allman at which the drive was officially ended. He referred to the tactics of vandals who on Sunday night punctured tires and broke glass in automobiles parked in the street.

Forecasts Higher Rates.

"However," continued the mayor, "it's my opinion that automobile owners will pay in the end through increased theft insurance rates. Insurance rates are just a hidden tax. A number of garages have told me that they are willing to charge only $5 a month for night parking. But the automobile clubs are opposed to the ordinance, and they are supposed to know what is best for the automobile owners."

PHILADELPHIA IS BROKE; 25,900 TO MISS PAY CHECK

Philadelphia, Pa., May 31.—(AP)—Its treasury empty, Philadelphia will be unable to meet its semi-monthly pay roll of $1,400,000 tomorrow.

Indications are that the 25,000 city and county employés and 900 retired policemen, firemen, and other workers on pension will face at least a week's delay before they are paid.

Payment depends upon the success of the $20,000,000 municipal bond issue to be offered for sale Friday.

PROFESSOR LISTS 1,700 TAX EATING UNITS TO DISCARD

Urges Consolidation of Small Counties.

The abolition of the 1,400 townships and 300 road districts in Illinois, or the legislative undermining of their functions, and the consolidation of sparsely populated counties as means of effecting economy in government was suggested yesterday by Prof. John A Fairlie, head of the department of political science at the University of Illinois.

Prof. Fairlie expressed his theories of economy before the subcommittee on consolidations of the Illinois commission on taxation and expenditures, which met in the La Salle hotel. It was the third preliminary hearing held by the subcommittee, of which State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg is chairman.

Townships Increase Taxes.

Prof. Fairlie, who has been a student of local governments for many years, explained that all except 16 of the 102 counties in Illinois have townships and that the tax levies per capita in the counties with townships are from 25 to 50 per cent higher than the others. Montgomery county, for example, has townships, and its general tax plus the township taxes aggregates $4.17 per capita, as compared with $3.47 per capita in Morgan county, which has no townships. Edwards county, with no townships, was compared with Putnam, and the per capita taxes were $2.48 and $4.81 respectively.

"The same situation is found in the other comparisons," said Prof. Fairlie. "The townships simply increase expenses."

A legal difficulty might be encountered, said the professor, because to bring the question of abolition to a vote a petition from 20 per cent of the voters is required. Representative Schnackenberg suggested that the law might be changed, and the professor said this would, at least, make abolition possible.

Overlapping Governments.

"Whether the people would be willing is another question, but I believe they are coming to realize the unnecessary tax burden brought about by overlapping governments," said Prof. Fairlie.

With townships abolished the whole county authority would rest with the board of commissioners. Prof. Fairlie also suggested that road districts be abolished and all road work be done by the county road supervisors and whatever assistants they might need. In North Carolina, he said, the state took over road work from the counties and it was found that the sole equipment of one county was a broken drag operated by a blind mule and a lame man, while a neighboring county had enough equipment to care for the roads in four other counties.

Prof. Fairlie also suggested undermining the functions of justices of the peace, reducing their number to the constitutional minimum, and giving county judges jurisdiction over their cases. He would do away with the township assessors and let one man, nominated by the supervisors and approved by the state tax commission, do all the work for a county. These measures would be adopted in the event the people refused to abolish the townships.

There are 59 counties in Illinois with less than 50 inhabitants to the square mile, said Prof. Fairlie, and he suggested consolidating such counties.

U. S. WILL TAKE PART IN LONDON TRADE PARLEY

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The United States has consented to attend an international economic conference in London, sponsored by Great Britain, to consider methods of stabilizing world commodity prices.

The date of the conference and its program have not been announced, but the State Department made it clear today that the American acceptance was with the understanding that only economic questions shall be considered, and war debts and reparations barred.

Secretary Stimson and Secretary Mills conferred with President Hoover today concerning the proposed conference, and the statement of acceptance followed.

France, Italy and other European powers also have been invited by Great Britain.

MELLON INQUIRING.

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—Ambassador Mellon has asked the foreign office whether Britain believes a world conference to consider the universal slump in commodity prices would ameliorate the general economic crisis, it was learned today.

The ambassador discussed the question with Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, but thus far nothing definite has developed. The ambassador's query remains under consideration by the British government. It was understood the question of the best time to hold such a meeting was not gone into by Mr. Mellon and Sir John.

WALKER AID PAYS THAT 'UNNAMED PERSON' $58,000

Seabury Seeks to Link Mayor to Gifts.

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—The mysterious and missing Russell T. Sherwood had a rapid spender on his hands, it appeared today before the Hofstadter legislative committee. Up to the time of Sherwood's disappearance last summer an even more mysterious "unnamed person" of Samuel Seabury's inquiry was absorbing money at the rate of $1,000 a week from Sherwood.

Mayor James J. Walker admits paying this "unnamed person" $7,500, but he disowns expenditures of $75,321 by Sherwood for that person as heartily as he disavows any interest in Sherwood's $961,225 deposits over a period of 5 years.

$10,000 Letter of Credit.

Sherwood, who provided the mayor's wife with a $5,000 credit and who transmitted from $800 to $1,000 a month to the mayor's sister on April 30, 1931, bought for the "unnamed person" a letter of credit for $10,000.

The $10,000 lasted ten weeks. On July 10 Sherwood increased the credit $2,000; on July 29 he boosted it $2,500, and on Aug. 5 he added $2,000 more.

Then the story of that letter of credit ended, for, while Mayor Walker was on the high seas bound for Europe, a Seabury subpoena was issued for Mr. Sherwood and he vanished.

That Unnamed Person.

The $16,500 letter of credit was described by James T. Ellis, accountant of the Seabury staff, who also testified that securities costing $41,668 had been delivered to the "unnamed person" from Sherwood's brokerage accounts. An additional 300 shares of B.-M. T., costing $117,321.43, he testified, was delivered to that person, but later returned into Sherwood's account with Baylis & Co. There that block recently was seized and sold as part of Sherwood's $50,000 fine for contempt of the committee.

When Democratic committeemen protested mildly against the evidence Mr. Seabury showed a marked lack of sympathy.

"I am putting it in," he declared, "so that you can see that these securities were delivered from the Sherwood account to the same person to whom he [the mayor] authorized the payment of $7,500, and I leave it for you to say, on the inspection of these records, whether there was any reason at all why Russell T. Sherwood should have made on his account that expenditure and if you determine that you know of no such reason then there is a fair basis for your conclusion that those securities were paid out for and on behalf of the mayor of the city, no matter what he may say by way of denial."

Mayor's Brother to Appear.

Dr. William H. Walker, the mayor's brother, who has been missing for the last two weeks although wanted as a witness, reappeared today at the graduation exercises of his daughter, Patricia, at Merrymount convent, near Tarrytown. It was said he had been in Atlantic City "resting up" and that he would be available as a witness at tomorrow's hearing.

Meanwhile, Mr. Seabury was going through a long inquisitorial ordeal with J. Allan Smith, the Equitable Coach company officer who bought the $10,000 letter of credit which Mayor Walker took to Europe in 1927 and who also covered the mayor's $3,000 overdraft.

Most interesting in Mr. Smith's examination was his testimony that when he finally was forced to pay the $3,000 overdraft, four months after Mr. Walker had drawn it, he had been able to collect from State Senator John A. Hastings only a few $500 installments toward that amount. But he insisted it had all been paid up, though gradually.

Mr. Smith stood by the mayor's sworn statement that they did not know each other, though their paths came very close. He admitted that along with the mayor, he had attended the "Old Clothes Party" with which the granting of the Equitable franchise was celebrated. But he saw no reason why Mr. Walker should single his identity out of all the Smiths in the world.

Around a luncheon table at the Hamilton club yesterday plans were made for the entertainment of delegates and visitors to the Republican national convention which opens on June 14 at the Chicago Stadium. The Hamilton club plans to turn over part of its building as headquarters for the women attending, and as a general gathering place for the men.

A dovetailing of the arrangements for the social programs was discussed by the group at yesterday's meeting, which included Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman from Illinois; Mrs. Frank J. Conrad of the Woman's National Republican club, who is coöperating with her; William D. Saltiel, chairman of the men's committee, and its personnel, including David H. Jackson, Walter E. Beebe, Will J. Bell, and George Jensen.

First on the schedule is the large dinner to be given at the Stevens hotel on the evening of June 14 by the Woman's National Republican club. Members of the Hamilton club will participate. Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley will be the speaker.

Three luncheons are also planned by the Hamilton club, at which the main speakers will be Senator Otis F. Glenn of Illinois, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

One of the most ambitious projects planned will be the information booth to be installed for the convenience of delegates and visitors at the Hamilton club. Another feature of the preparations is the register to be kept of the delegates, so that their friends may be able to find them promptly.

POPE RECEIVES 400 CHILDREN ON BIRTHDAY

VATICAN CITY, May 31.—(AP)—Appearing in excellent health, Pope Pius XI. spent his 75th birthday today in a round of receptions and other duties which have become his routine.

Besides a special mass of thanksgiving in his private chapel, the pontiff, among other things, received 400 school children in a single audience.

They were pupils of the Institute of St. Angela Merici, and presented the pope with an album containing a record of 75,000 good deeds they had performed, such as special prayers and acts of charity.

PARTY MEETINGS OPEN TO PUBLIC—IF IT PAYS PRICE

Tickets Due to Be Put on Sale Saturday.

BY PARKE BROWNE.

The common people who lack any sort of political pull may have season tickets for either or both of the big national conventions—that is, if they are willing to pay what are considered moderate prices for them.

In all conventions of the past, so far as is known, the entree was limited to those who "had an in," who knew some one with a "drag," or had an understanding with some doorkeeper with defective eyesight. Therefore the situation this year is a novelty. Perhaps, it has been whispered, it is due somewhat to the depression.

Sale to Begin Saturday.

Whatever the cause, it is probable that several hundred tickets to both the Republican convention, two weeks from yesterday, and to the Democratic convention, which opens on June 27, will be placed on sale to the general public beginning next Saturday, June 4, the sale continuing until the supply is exhausted.

These tickets will be for the first and second balconies of the Stadium. The prices, respectively, will be $22 and $17. Each ticket will be a "season" book for the entire convention, with two coupons attached for each day, the extra one to be used in the event of a second session. And it is believed that each convention will hold two sessions daily.

The entire main floor of the big hall is reserved for delegates, alternate delegates, and the press. The mezzanine will be occupied by contributors to the guarantee fund which brought the two big meetings to Chicago and by distinguished visitors—diplomats, senators, governors, and the like.

Clear View of Scene.

But those in charge of the convention arrangements say that occupants of the two balconies will be almost as well off as such guests of honor. They say vision is unobstructed and that the amplifier system will carry to the farthest corner of the hall every word spoken on the platform.

Just how many tickets will be available to the general public cannot be foretold. The distribution of spectator tickets begins with the delivery to fund contributors of one seat for each $100 donated. Now contributors have been allowed until next Friday, June 3, to buy additional seats which have been turned over to the Chicago Citizens' committee headed by Edward N. Hurley.

The demand from this source up to this time has not been heavy and representatives of the committee believe that when Friday night comes around they will have several hundred seats for each of the conventions which will be purchasable by the general public after that time. They will be on sale at the committee's headquarters at 208 South La Salle street.

FOR CONVENTION

Decoration for electric light posts agreed upon by the committee on decorations for Republican and Democratic national conventions.

WEST SIDE STARTS DRESSING UP FOR THE CONVENTIONS

That part of the west side surrounding the Chicago Stadium began to wash its face yesterday and get ready to receive company—the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

Under the sponsorship of the West Central association, which has created twelve committees for the purpose, a two weeks' program of cleaning up—painting of stores, washing of windows, clearing and grading of vacant lots—was begun and will continue for the two weeks leading up to the Republican meeting. The city also started 300 men cleaning streets and alleys and a council committee prepared to bring about the removal of unsightly billboards and ramshackle buildings.

Downtown improvements also were announced by Salem N. Baskin, chairman of the citizens' committee on decorations. The State street council, of which Walter L. Gregory is president, has awarded a contract for the conversion of State street lamp posts into small replicas of the Washington monument surmounted by American eagles carrying six color plaque pictures of George Washington. The posts also will be draped with large American flags.

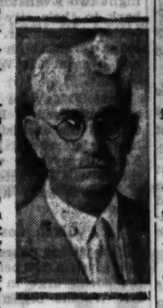
PINS ANTI-SALOON TAG ON BUSINESS MEN'S DRY GROUP

Just a 'Collection Agency,' Says Crusader Head.

Col. Ira L. Reeves, regional manager for the Crusaders, pinned a label yesterday on the American Business Men's Prohibition foundation.

"It's just another collection agency for the work of the Anti-Saloon league," he said.

He made the assertion when questioned about the latest bit of press agent material from the "business men's" organization, a long statement attempting to deny reports from Washington that President Hoover is wavering on the question of resubmission of the 18th amendment to the states.



COL. I. L. REEVES.

Just a Fund Raising Agency.

"By careful investigation," said Col. Reeves, "we have convinced ourselves that this is nothing more than another agency to raise funds for the Anti-Saloon cause, a new guise for these activities since the Anti-Saloon league fell into popular disfavor to such an extent that it could no longer raise funds of its own.

"We believe the money that goes to the so-called business men either goes directly to the Anti-Saloon league or to defray the costs of some of the work formerly carried on by the league.

"As evidence of this let me cite the fact that several letters were written to the American Business Men's Prohibition foundation offering contributions upon the condition that none of the money would go to the Anti-Saloon league. Not in a single instance was there an answer to a letter, although money was offered.

Only 13 "Business Men."

"Originally—that is, two or three years ago—the organization's letterhead listed 39 directors. We looked them up and out of the whole group we found only thirteen, or one-third, who might be considered business men. The rest were of the reformer type, many of them preachers who were presidents of small denominational colleges.

"Since that time, I am told, the original list has been materially reduced. I have no doubt that the minority of business men found they weren't doing business with business men."

The press agent material in reference to President Hoover cited Fred D. L. Squires, "director of research," as the authority for inside information concerning the President's present attitude on the prohibition question.

Ran for Alderman.

Thirty or more years ago Squires was an unsuccessful candidate for alderman. It also is reported that at one time he was editor of a trade paper, the Building Supply News, and that at one time he was connected with the Cook County Real Estate board.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union announced yesterday that it will conduct a "loyalty convention" in Chicago from June 10 to June 13, the four days preceding the Republican national convention. It will be held in the Third Presbyterian church.

PASTOR IS RUNNING FOR CONGRESS ON A MODIFICATION PLANK

St. Joseph, Mo., May 31.—(AP)—A prohibition modification plank is included in the platform of the Rev. Lloyd Harmon, pastor of the Grace Methodist church here, who announced his candidacy today for the Republican nomination for congressman at large from Missouri.

Touching on prohibition the candidate said:

"It is evident to even the most rabid dry that some change is going to be made in the matter of prohibition. In view of the certainty of the impending change, those of us who have worked through the years for temperance will have to decide the question whether this change will be made by the friends or the enemies of prohibition."

Mr. Harmon was an army lieutenant in the world war, and served a year as executive secretary of the board of pensions and relief of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mayor Gets New Cravat That Speaks for Itself

When Mayor Cermak approached his desk yesterday the first thing that greeted his eyes was a new brown cravat. On it was worked a beer stein in red, white and blue with the inscriptions, "We want beer" and "Bring back prosperity." The cravat had been received by mail from J. F. Hamilton, who also sent his wishes for Democratic success in the November election.

$3,500 IN GOLD FOUND IN HUNT FOR BANK LOOT

Gold pieces and bills amounting to $3,500, supposedly part of the $52,000 loot which was taken in the robbery of the Union National bank of Streator, May 16, were recovered yesterday from a deposit box in the Liberty Trust and Savings bank, 3158 Roosevelt road. Added to $1,500 found previously, this makes a total of only $5,000 of the $52,000 recovered.

The $3,500 was seized on a warrant by Sergts. Alex De Mar and William Rohan of the detective bureau. It consisted of twenty-three $20 gold pieces, fifty-four $10 gold pieces, and 500 $5 bills.

Six men are being held by La Salle county authorities for the robbery. Two of them are Assistant Chief of Police Clarence Goss and Patrolman Kmetz of the Streator department.

A seventh member of the band, Chuck Tilden, 1242 South Tilden avenue, was arrested in Minneapolis, Minn., last night by Sheriff E. J. Welter of La Salle county and Roy Lapitz of the Burns Detective agency. The sheriff took with him to Minneapolis a warrant charging Tilden with being one of the original ten men involved in the bank stickup.

JERSEY G. O. P. CONVENTION IS FOR REPEAL

Trenton, N. J., May 31.—(AP)—The Republican state convention today advocated repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act for the first time since passage of the 18th amendment.

The Democratic state convention, meeting at the same time, modified its prohibition plank to advocate the sale of light wines and beer pending repeal of the 18th amendment. Originally the plank had called for a general repeal of all liquor laws.

PARKES CADMAN ADVOCATES VOTE ON LIQUOR LAW

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 31.—[Special.]—Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, widely known New York clergyman and columnist, stopped off in Pittsburgh today, interviewed his interviewers about Mayor Charles H. Kline, and then said the liquor question ought to be submitted to the people and that what this country needs is national character.

"You know what this country needs to come out of this depression?" he said. "National character, that's what. I don't mean leadership, but individual character."

BRITAIN DEFEATS RADICAL MOVE IN AUSTRALIA STATE

Rejects Plea to Abolish Legislative Council.

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—The judicial committee of the privy council today dismissed the appeal of former Premier John T. Lang of New South Wales against the decision of the New South Wales Supreme court preventing the abolition of the state's legislative council.

Long Standing Feud.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, May 31.—(AP)—No political question since the federation more than thirty years ago has agitated Australia as did the appeal to the privy council at London involving the fate of the upper house in the New South Wales legislature.

Lang regained power nearly two years ago after stating in his campaign speeches that one of the things he intended to do was abolish the upper house, which defeated a number of his legislative projects shortly after he assumed office.

Thwarted in some of his drastic financial legislation by the upper house, Lang moved its abolition. The previous government had anticipated the move, however, and had amended the constitution to make necessary a referendum to the people before the council could be done away with.

Passes Bill to Abolish Self.

Lang claimed that in having mentioned abolition of the upper house during his campaign, the referendum had already been taken. The upper chamber was presented with a bill from the lower house providing for its own demise; constitutional lawyers advised its passage, realizing that the upper house could be swamped with new members enough to assure passage if Lang was opposed.

Court action was taken under the previous government's constitutional amendment, but Lang replied to this by a further measure to repeal the previous constitutional amendment. The upper house passed this also, then made application to the high court for an injunction restraining the governor from giving his assent to both measures.

The injunctions were granted and Lang appealed to the imperial privy council at London. The council's decision against him was handed down today.

Telephone Company Pays $462,000 to the City

The Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday gave City Controller Szymczak a check for $462,000, compensation for the use of city streets for three months. The money will be available for pay rolls. Mr. Szymczak announced that he has arranged to meet with representatives of loop banks next week when he will endeavor to sell enough warrants to pay all city and school employés for a full month. Because of tardy payment of 1930 taxes such a sale will be the only hope of paying employés before July 1, he said.

Historical Society Moves Two of Columbus' Anchors

Two anchors that were dropped into the waters of the new world from the ships of Christopher Columbus more than four centuries ago were moved from the old building of the Chicago Historical society at 632 North Dearborn street and placed in the society's new quarters in Lincoln park at Clark street and North avenue yesterday afternoon. The anchors weigh 1,200 pounds each. One came from the ship Pinta, and the other from a boat used in the explorer's second voyage.

CHICAGO VETS MUSTER A NEW BONUS BRIGADE

Barred from Trains, 500 Camp in Indiana.

A new brigade of bonus marchers was mustered yesterday in Chicago for a descent upon Washington to demand from congress the immediate passage of legislation to pay the bonus in cash.

The marchers bivouacked for the night at Roby, just across the Indiana line from Chicago, after officials of the Pennsylvania railroad had refused to provide them with box cars for a free ride to Washington. There were about 500 men in the encampment, and their leaders said that they expected more recruits as they passed through Indiana.

Arthur H. Milton, who adopted the title of "chairman, provisional bonus march committee," was the leader of the men. He said that all of his followers were war veterans, that most were members of the American Legion or other veterans' organizations, and that any communists who tried to attach themselves to the party would be expelled.

Sees Radicals in Ranks.

However, Detective John Adair of the industrial squad of the Chicago police force said that he recognized in the ranks of the bonus marchers a score of men who had figured in radical demonstrations in the past.

Another of the organizers of the march was Leslie R. Hurt, 434 South Central Park avenue, general secretary of the district council, Workers' Ex-Service Men's league, with headquarters at 2733 Hirsch boulevard.

Lieut. Make Mills, chief investigator of radical activities for the Chicago police, said that his records show Hurt's real name is Frank E. O'Brien and that he is an active communist leader. Hurt was one of the most vehement speakers at a demonstration of Reds at the Coliseum on May 13. At the communist party's national convention on Saturday he pledged support of the league to Foster and Ford, the nominees of the convention for President and Vice President.

The march of the men through the South Chicago district was conducted in an orderly fashion. They carried banners demanding payment of the bonus in cash. Along their route, members of the group solicited money from spectators, and last night the "commissary" of the organization purchased 300 loaves of bread and several hundred pounds of meat for rations.

Milton asserted that he had been promised by officials of the Pennsylvania railroad that box cars would be furnished the men free for their trip to Washington. When they gathered in the Colehour yards of the railroad at Roby, however, there were no cars waiting.

Visited by Rail Official.

The men were visited by R. D. McKeon, divisional superintendent of the road, who told them that the railroad is prevented by law from furnishing free transportation. It was hinted to the men, however, that there would probably be no opposition from railroad detectives if they flipped passing freights one by one, and "rode the rods" to Washington in hobo fashion.

Another group of bonus marchers, 70 in number, reached Aurora yesterday from Rockford. They had been given a ride as far as Aurora by a Rockford trucking company, and sought transportation farther east from Aurora citizens.

W. D. Springer, "captain" of this group, said that all of the men were jobless war veterans from Rockford. Two communists tried to address them as they were starting their trip, but were driven away, he asserted.

YOUTH'S TASTE IN HOTELS RICH; HE'S POOR ON PAY

Gets Costliest Room Then Exits from Window.

The social atmosphere of Evanston lured Alex Waddle from his placid La Grange domain last week, and last night two Evanston cops escorted him back to their city to answer a number of things. Mr. Waddle is 22 years old, a former high school football star and lives at 611 West Elm street, La Grange.

Last Friday he felt a social urge, and journeyed to Evanston, where he entered the exclusive Orrington hotel. He registered as H. E. Williams of New Jersey and was assigned a $5 room. He inspected the room critically. "I want a better room," he announced.

Given Costly Room.

His wishes were honored and he was given a $12 per diem room. With the social urge in full bloom, young Mr. Waddle began entertaining. He invited guests, among them two or three co-eds, a school teacher, and a Mr. Charles Coxter and a Mr. Taylor, both of La Grange. The entertainment continued through Saturday night.

It was 2 o'clock Sunday morning that, his social aims now satiated, Mr. Waddle checked out of the hotel. Using lamp cords, bed sheets and pillow cases, he lowered his suit case to the alley, five floors below. Then, casually, he walked out through the lobby.

Guest Leaves Clew.

Otto Ruddig, night manager of the hotel, discovered Mr. Waddle's unconventional departure later and notified the police. He estimated that the room charges and loss of sheets amounted to $30. Police searched the $12 per diem room for evidence. They came across a clew in a bill fold which had been dropped. It borne the name of Charles Coxter, one of Mr. Waddle's guests. Last night they questioned him and were directed to Mr. Waddle. He was found at home and taken to the Evanston station, where, it was said, a charge of some sort would be preferred.

Mr. Waddle remained rather mum on his social venture into Evanston. He broke his silence only once, when he turned to his captors, Policemen Edward Bussean and William Johnson:

"I tipped a bell boy 35 cents," he confided.

CAN YOU KISS AND FALL ASLEEP? NARCOLEPSY! WITH NO KNOWN CURE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 31.—(AP)—A queer disease called narcolepsy which, Dr. S. Bernard Wortis of New York City pointed out, might cause you to fall asleep after kissing a girl in a taxicab, was discussed last night at the opening session of the American Psychiatric association's 88th annual convention.

Victims of narcolepsy, Dr. Wortis said, very often fall asleep after hearing a story. In general, the malady usually has the effect of putting the victim soundly to sleep for a few moments after any emotional strain. Studies thus far, the physician stated, have failed to locate the spot in the brain which controls the attacks.

DISCOVER STILL IN $40,000 HOME IN RIVER FOREST

The conversion of a $40,000 home into a still in River Forest was discovered late last night by a police raid at 843 Williams street, in one of the most restricted residential districts in the suburb. Four Chicagoans, two of them women, were arrested and held for the government.

The prisoners are Mrs. James Bruno, 45 years old, a widow; her sister, Miss Anna Esposito, 22, and her brother, Angelo Esposito, 24, all formerly of 328 South Western avenue, and Joseph Disarno, 29, of 2463 Flournoy street.

Discovery of the still came by chance. Police earlier had questioned Esposito about an automobile and to further their inquiry went to the Williams street address. Apparently misunderstanding the visit of the police, Mrs. Bruno exclaimed: "I'll show you the still." That was the first the raiders knew of its existence. They found complete equipment, of 500 gallon capacity, and forty-seven barrels of mash on an upper floor.

CAFE OWNER SHOT TO DEATH.

Kansas City, Mo., May 31.—(AP)—Joe Cottalo, north side restaurant owner, was shot and killed here last night a few blocks from where Dan "Red" Sheehan, ex-convict, was shot down by gangsters Sunday afternoon.

RUMANIA BROKE; KING CAROL KICKS OUT HIS CABINET

Ruler Abandons Dream of a Dictatorship.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, May 31.—After sponsoring a semi-dictatorial régime for one year behind a façade of parliamentary government presided over by Prof. Nicholas Jorga, his old tutor, King Carol abandoned the attempt and accepted the cabinet's resignation tonight.

It is expected he will ask Nicholas Titulescu, Rumanian minister to London, to form a new government.

NICHOLAS JORGA. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

This time, Carol's spokesmen admitted, it will be a responsible constitutional government. Carol's idea of a dictatorship was partially squelched last year when he became frightened at the manner in which Alfonso was chased from the throne in Spain. Now he has definitely abandoned his dream.

An Empty Treasury.

The resignation of the government was the result of financial difficulties. Rumania is broke and the treasury is empty. For six months state employés have not received a cent. They have borrowed from banks to buy food and clothing, but the banks have no more money to loan. In the last few days the situation became acute.

Constantine Argetoianu, finance minister, who with King Carol actually ran the government, vainly tried to secure a 10 million dollar loan from France. Before granting it France sent experts to Bucharest to look over the treasury's books. Their report was completed last week and it is known they recommended rejecting further loans until Rumania has put its financial house in order. The report described how graft and corruption had prevented the collection of taxes and demanded a reduction of 50 per cent in state expenditures.

Besides an army of 170,000 men the French experts found Rumania supporting 300,000 state employés. Out of a budget of 145 million dollars over 36 million is spent in government salaries, the report revealed.

Teachers Demand Pay.

Teachers and professors met at Bucharest yesterday and demanded their pay. Premier Jorga, who was also minister of education, offered to resign but was dissuaded by King Carol. The teachers were ordered to appear in disciplinary courts.

Today the king called a cabinet meeting. Argetoianu, his strong man, pointed out the hopeless financial position. The king then asked Jorga to resign.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Officials of the Chicago Title and Trust company stated yesterday that Edward Flynn, who asserted Sunday, when he was arrested on a charge of window smashing, that he was a clerk employed by the company, had never been in their employ.

Mrs. William R. Manchester of Glencoe asks correction of the statement in the May 30 TRIBUNE that Glencoe had made no arrangements to celebrate Memorial day. The suburb had no parade, but services were held in the public park near the Memorial boulder by the citizens, with an address by the Rev. Richard C. Talbot and a wreath was placed on the boulder by the D. A. R.

ROBBER SLAIN BY VICTIM; HIS GUN KILLS PAL

In an unusual shooting two Negro bandits were killed last night during an attempt to rob Earl Riley, 43 years old, also a Negro, in his delicatessen at 4459 Prairie avenue.

The robbers surprised Riley behind the counter and ordered him to surrender his money. After taking $15 from the till they demanded some food.

Riley turned as if to meet the demand, then suddenly drew a revolver. He fired one shot. The bullet struck one of the robbers in the chin, killing him. The shock of the bullet caused the falling gunman to fire his own revolver, and the bullet from his gun pierced the back of his companion, killing him also.

at what you save!

ABOVE is given a partial list of the cost of laundering (both washing and ironing) clothes at home with a G. E. Home Laundry—a G. E. Activator Washer and a G. E. Flatplate Ironer. While the cost may appear astonishingly low, we assure you they have been figured very conservatively. These costs have been figured on the basis of an average laundry for a family of five and include the time payment charge on both the Washer and Ironer, the cost of electricity, hot water, soap, and the interest you would receive if the purchase price were in the bank.

Nor is this all. There is an enormous saving in clothes. Clothes washed and ironed at home—the G. E. way—last much longer, for the G. E. Activator Washer is one of the gentlest, most thorough washers ever made. It washes by water action, flexing the clothes and forcing water through them so that all dirt is removed without danger to the most delicate fabrics.

The G. E. Washer does not need to be watched. It cannot damage clothes regardless of how long you leave them in. Model 2G shown above is the Two-Tub model, equipped with damp drying spin-basket and pump. It requires no laundry tubs, can be put in your kitchen and enables you to wash practically without putting your hands in water.

The G. E. Flatplate Ironer enables you to sit down comfortably to iron. It presses, without friction, like a tailor's iron. Any one can operate it without training, and do better ironing than ever before. It eliminates ironing labor, cuts ironing time in half. It costs no more to operate than your hand iron and presses men's clothes perfectly.

If you haven't seen a G. E. Home Laundry in operation, if you don't know how easy and economical G. E. has made home laundering, then call the nearest G. E. store and arrange for a demonstration. To show you the difference between this and any other laundry equipment we will do a week's laundry for you, without cost or obligation to yourself.

LAWYERS CLASH OVER PASCHEN'S TAX TESTIMONY

Hope of Finishing Trial This Week Fades.

Hope that the Paschen trial before Federal Judge Barnes might be completed this week dwindled yesterday at the conclusion of the court session. It was Chris Paschen's second day upon the witness stand in his own defense. He is being tried on a charge of evading $114,000 income tax payments in 1927 and 1928.

The former city building commissioner has been on direct-examination for two days and this will continue today. The cross-examination is expected to consume at least two days. Late yesterday Cassius Poust, Paschen's lawyer, began the introduction of a stack of bills a foot high. He met with government objections to each offer. Bickerings between the attorneys featured this phase of the defense testimony.

Contention developed over Poust's effort to show that the title to Paschen's 2,000 acre "Paschendale" farm near Antioch is held by the First National bank, which also has chattel mortgages on the farm stock and on the trucks and other equipment with which the defendant conducts his building cleaning and tuckpointing business.

U. S. Objection Sustained.

Assistant United States Attorney Sam Clawson objected to this as immaterial and was sustained by Judge Barnes. Poust then asked Paschen to read the pay roll items for the farm during 1927 and 1928. Another objection was made, the government contending that much of the expenditure was for permanent improvement which represented capital investment and was not, therefore, deductible on income tax returns.

Judge Barnes ruled that the defense must segregate the expenditures for actual farm operation and for improvements.

During the interchanges following these offers of evidence Poust and Clawson made frequent sharp answers to each other. At one point Poust snapped: "The trouble with you is that you're rattled and sore."

"I object to remarks of counsel and ask they be stricken," cried Clawson.

"We're not making progress here, gentlemen," warned the court.

Tries to Identify Bills.

Poust later tried to have Paschen identify bills and tell the sums he paid for feed and other expenses on the farm and met another objection. Judge Barnes held that where the witness had an independent recollection of paying the bill he might identify it.

During the morning Poust was admonished by the court to discontinue "arguments to the jury in the guise of arguments to the court."

The rebuke came after the defense attorney had been striving unsuccessfully to show the amount of loans Paschen made at the Foreman bank in 1927 and 1928.

The jury was excused when Poust said he wished to argue the admissibility of this evidence, and Judge Barnes told him that "these arguments must cease. I'm saying this now outside the presence of the jury," warned the court. "Next time I won't."

Poust Makes a Protest.

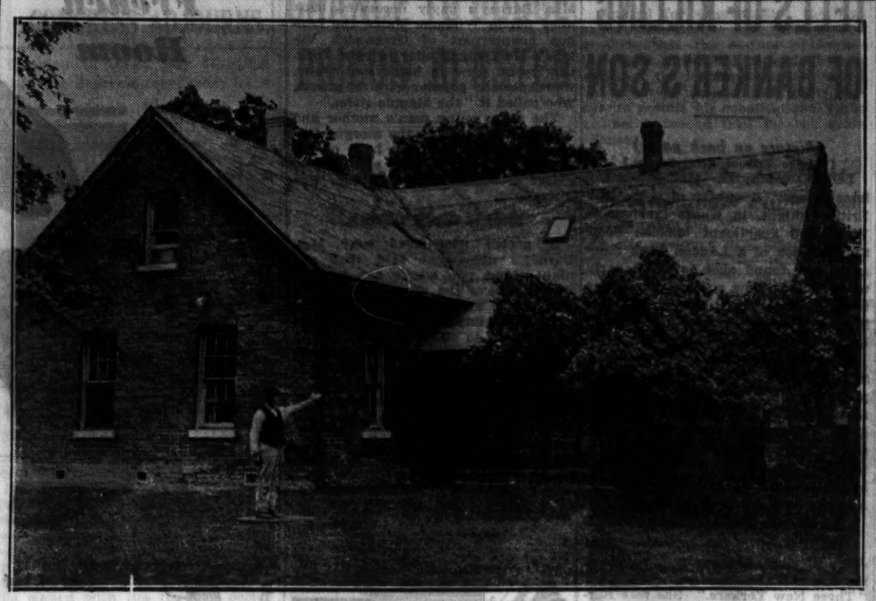
"In all respect to your honor, I don't feel that statement is warranted," replied Poust. "I suggested that the jury be excluded while this matter was being argued."

Judge Barnes repeated his statement and the incident was closed.

Striving to show that his farm was actually operated for profit and was not merely a country estate—as the government contends—Paschen testified that he has been selling more than 9,000 pounds of milk a day.

In 1927 and 1928 he had more than 100 men at work on the place, he said. His 1927 receipts were only $100, but in 1931 the receipts amounted to $60,000. It was only last year that the receipts were as much as the expenditures—perhaps a little more than expenditures, he claimed.

Unable to Pay Taxes, Offers Farm to Charity



James D. Wilkie, Bloom township farmer before farmhouse which he offers with 113 acre farm to any charitable institution which will make a small down payment and guarantee an annuity of $6 an acre to his wife and himself as long as they live. He explains he now rents for a little more than $700 a year and has to pay $804 in taxes. If used for charity the farm would be tax exempt. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Owned Since 1853

James D. Wilke, pioneer farmer of Bloom township, has offered his 113 acre farm to any institution that will make a small down payment and pay an annuity of $6 an acre to him and his wife as long as they live. Wilkie is 77 years old and his wife is 66.

Three years ago, Wilkie said yesterday, the property, which includes a nine room brick house, was worth $40,000. High taxes and the low price of agricutural produce were given as the reasons for his offer.

"The taxes are all out of proportion to the possible income on the farm," Wilkie said. "It will cost me $804 in taxes this year and my rental is little more than $700. Prices of farm produce are so low that the tenant can't even pay the rent."

Mr. Wilkie suggested that a charitable or church institution might operate the farm at a profit since under such ownership it would be tax exempt. Otherwise it is impossible to make a profit from the place, he said. The only incumbrance on the property is the tax bill.

The farm is a quarter of a mile south of Glenwood, Wilkie's present residence. It has been in his family since 1853, Wilkie said, and until the last few years has been profitable.

FOG SWALLOWS PLANE ON NIGHT TRIP; 2 MISSING

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., May 31.—An impenetrable fog tonight held the secret of the disappearance of Dr. Karl Kuehnert of Crystal Lake, Ill., and his pilot, Arthur Sullivan, owner of the biplane in which the pair took off from St. Anthony last night on a brief sightseeing flight.

Dr. Kuehnert, a dentist on the staff of the International Grenfelf mission at St. Anthony's hospital, boarded the plane with Sullivan at 8:30 p. m. with about an hour and a half of daylight remaining. When last seen the plane was headed to sea with a fog suddenly blanketing land and sea.

The fog lifted for the first time at darkness tonight, but despite a search of the sparsely populated coast line and waters surrounding not the slightest trace of the men was discovered. A Grenfelf mission steamer, fishing boats, and searchers on the shore all reported failure. It is feared that the plane must have crashed somewhere inland as the sea was smooth, and though the fog was dense the craft was equipped with pontoons.

A CINCINNATI BOY WHISTLES HIS LUCK AWAY

From Cincinnati, known as the Rhineland city and the home of old fashioned German brew, came a message to the detective bureau yesterday requesting the arrest of one Pat Sammon on a charge of embezzling $1,200. Police Chief W. C. Copelan of Cincinnati merely identified him as being five feet, seven inches tall, and suggested that he might be found in a shoe shining shop at 72 West Washington street.

Sergts. Edward McVeigh and George Homer went to the shop. The place was busy and there were many men there five feet, seven inches tall.

The detectives were in a quandary. As they watched, one of the men, hands in pockets and gazing out the window, started to whistle softly. The tune was familiar. Sergt. Homer listened intently. Then he turned to Sergt. McVeigh.

"He's whistling 'Ach du leiber Augustine,'" said Sergt Homer.

"So I thought," replied Sergt. McVeigh. "Unless I'm off on my German, that's still a popular tune down in Cincinnati."

Sergt. McVeigh was quite right. The whistler was from Cincinnati; he also was Pat Sammon.

NEW INDICTMENT VOTED AGAINST GASTON B. MEANS

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(AP)—A new indictment charging Gaston B. Means with larceny and embezzlement of $104,000 on false claims that he could recover the Lindbergh baby was returned today by the District of Columbia grand jury.

A previous indictment charging him with larceny after trust and embezzlement of the money from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, estanged wife of the Washington Post publisher, was amended slightly to meet a legal technicality. He is scheduled for arraignment this afternoon.

SEARCH COUNTRY FOR A MAN SAVED BY PROHIBITION

New York, May 31.—(AP)—A man named "Diogenes," after the man who sought in vain for an honest man, will set out at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow for a coast to coast tour. It will bear five members of the prohibition research committee seeking "one drunk who has actually been reformed by the 18th amendment to the constitution."

Paul Morris, committee director and expedition leader, claims a search of New York already has been futile.

In each city visited, he said, prohibition organizations will be invited to produce such a reformed man. The group will make independent efforts to find the man through police and hospitals.

"We do not expect to find any such person," Morris said, "but if we do we'll take him to Washington, give him a big dinner, and say: 'Look! This man's reformation cost the country 24 billion dollars.'"

The searchers' first visit will be at Albany, then Utica, N. Y.; Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Cleveland, proceeding on to the coast and back to New York by Aug. 10.

U. S. ATTORNEY'S EMPLOYES TAKE 3 DAY PAY CUT

Employes and assistant attorneys in the office of United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson will receive a three day pay cut for the current month to forestall a possible deficit preliminary to the making of a new budget, Mr. Johnson announced yesterday. Similar measures are being adopted, on orders from Washington, D. C., in all district attorney's offices, he said.

In Chicago the cut will mean a saving of $1,300, which will keep the office within its appropriation. The assistant attorneys, numbering twenty, will work the three days without pay. Seven special attorneys, who are paid from bureau appropriation, will not be affected.

HERRIOT REFUSES TO SET FRANCE ON RADICAL COURSE

Spurns Socialist Demands for Their Support.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 31.—The next French government will be run by the Radical Socialists, but it will be neither socialistic nor radical.

This became a certainty tonight when the executive committee of the Radical Socialist party, under Edouard Herriot, tossed into the waste basket an ultimatum handed to it earlier in the day by the national congres sof the Socialist party, setting forth the terms under which the Socialists will consent to enter the cabinet with the Radical Socialists.

By their action the Radical Socialists broke the united front which swept themselves and the Socialists to victory in the recent elections and gave those elections the appearance of a left landslide.

Herriot Lays Down Program.

In stating why the Radical Socialists could not accept the Socialists' conditions, Herriot laid down a program for his party which has to be examined with a microscope before it can be distinguished from the program of the expiring Tardieu government.

The Radical Socialists, according to Herriot, want disarmament, but only on condition that France's security is not endangered. They want the state to take care of all its children, but insist that the costs of government must be cut. And they are opposed to further intrusion of government in private business.

To understand just what the official policies of the future Herriot government will be, it is only necessary to consider the character of the Socialist bait they turned down—and to take into account the fact that the support of the Socialists would insure them a solid and dominant position.

What Socialists Offered.

Here is what the Socialists offered as a minimum common program for the two parties to work together:

First, massive reductions of military expenses; second, nationalization of war supplies and munitions industries; third, balancing the budget by other means than a reduction in social expenses, schools and farm relief; fourth, control of banks; fifth, protection of agriculture against speculation; sixth, nationalization of railroads; seventh, nationalization of insurance companies and the setting up of state insurance for unemployment and agricultural relief; eighth, a forty hour week without reductions in salaries; ninth, general amnesty for political offenders.

In the opinion of political experts, the Radical Socialists must now depend chiefly on the center for support. It will thus be a minority government, depending on the good nature of the groups both to the left and right, and is not expected to last long.

The retiring Tardieu government decided today to leave the signing of an agreement with the United States regarding payment to the United States of war debts omitted under the Hoover moratorium to the next government.

'American Colony in Paris Expects Edge to 'Vote Wet'

PARIS, May 31.—(AP)—The American colony in Paris expects Ambassador Walter E. Edge, who is sailing for home tomorrow to be gone about two months, to take an affirmative stand at the Republican convention in Chicago on any plank looking toward the abolition of prohibition. It was recalled today that Mr. Edge was a conspicuous wet on the floor of the senate. He will be a delegate at large at Chicago from New Jersey.

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Two women plunged out of hotel apartment windows on the east side only a few blocks apart today. Mrs. Telye H. Strousse, 50, of the Hotel Carlyle was killed. Miss Aida Messrivia, 40, received a fractured skull.

COUMER SLAYER IS FOUND SANE BY STATE ALIENISTS

Belief Increases He Was Bolshevik Tool.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 31.—Paul Gorguloff, assassin of the late President Paul Doumer, was officially pronounced sane by alienists appointed by the government to examine him in a report to the examining magistrate today.

PAUL GORGULOFF. [Acme Photo.]

This judgment raises to the status of an international mystery a crime which at first appeared to be the act of an isolated madman. Those persons who were convinced from the first that Gorguloff was a tool of the bolsheviks see in the decision of the medical experts a confirmation of their theory.

Fail to Find Evidence.

While the most diligent investigations throughout Europe by the surete generale, the French secret police, have so far failed to produce any tangible evidence supporting the bolshevik theory, it seems increasingly probable that Gorguloff did not act entirely on his own.

The sinister Cossack, who now faces the guillotine for his crime, remains a man of mystery. One thing learned is that Gorguloff's "green party" was not just a mere figment of his imagination. It has been proved that Gorguloff really was leader of a queer gang of obscure Russian extremists, whose real political affiliations never were ascertained.

Furthermore, these "greens" are now known to be the remnants of organizations in outlaw states of southern Russia during the civil war which fought both whites and reds and negotiated with representatives of certain western powers.

Linked with Reds and Whites.

It is the theory that this band scattered after the red victory, escaped to Europe, and formed numerous underground terrorist societies in the various European capitals, which were more or less loosely organized into a "fourth international."

Where the real mystery comes in is in the relations between these successors to the Russian anarchists of the last century and the various existing political organizations. As far as the French police can determine, the "greens" had ramifications reaching into both the red and white camps and connected with certain European police systems.

THOMAS M. BOYD, HEAD OF SEATING COMPANY, DEAD

Thomas M. Boyd, chairman of the board of the American Seating company, 14 East Jackson boulevard, died early this morning at his home, 5490 South Shore drive, after an illness of six months. Mr. Boyd was 71 years old. In addition to his connection with the seating company he was president of the Grand Rapids Warehouse corporation.

Mr. Boyd came to Chicago 26 years ago and since that time had been active in business and club life. Among his clubs were the Union league, Chicago Athletic, Lake Shore Athletic, South Shore Country, and the Bankers of New York. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Kramp Boyd, and two daughters, Mrs. John McCloskey and Mrs. Roy Burdin, both of New York City.

ministry of defense, which carries the command of Germany's armed forces.

Count von Schwerin-Krosigk has been asked to become finance minister. The food ministry has been offered to Baron von Luenick, or Count Kalckreuth, head of the National Farming association.

The only "bourgeois" mentioned among the candidates approached by Von Papen are Dr. Herman Warmbold, Bruening's former minister of economics; Dr. Curt W. Joel, former prime commissioner, and Karl Goerdeler, who is slated for the labor portfolio.

It is generally regarded as probable that a cabinet will be ready by tomorrow or Thursday for presentation to the president.

Must Find 200 Millions.

One of the first jobs of the new government is to find $200,000,000, which Bruening sought to raise through new taxes. Prussia has warned the federal government that it will not be able to pay its next month's salaries unless the government advances funds immediately.

The Hitlerites are demanding that the new government cancel the decree suppressing Hitler's "brown shirt army." They also are asking amnesty for political offenses and "restoration of the full liberty of the press and speech for nationalist Germany."

Shared Limelight with Boy-Ed.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—(AP)—Franz von Papen, named to form the new cabinet, shared display headlines in American papers with Capt. Karl Boy-Ed in December, 1915, when these two attachés of the German embassy here were handed their passports and sent back to Germany.

Count Bernstorff, then German ambassador, battled to keep the two officers in this country, but without success. Even the kaiser made a protest in their behalf, but Secretary of State Lansing could not be moved.

He based his stand upon testimony given in the trial of Hamburg-American line officials, who had been instrumental in sending supplies to German warships, indicating Von Papen and Boy-Ed also had a hand in inspiring the chartering of ships under falsified papers to supply coal to German warships in South American waters.

Connected with Bomb Plots.

Von Papen was military attaché and Boy-Ed naval attaché of the embassy, but in war days both of them had offices in Wall street, New York, and their names were connected with plots to promote labor trouble in munition plants.

The United States government formally asked their recall because of "improper activities in military and naval matters," and detailed no charges against them.

The recall of Von Papen followed that of Dr. Constantin Theodor Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, who was handed his passport several months earlier in 1915 because of alleged attempts to cripple American munition plants. Dumba and Von Papen both were alleged to have sent letters to Europe by James F. J. Archibald, who was searched by British officials. One of the letters he carried, presumably written by Von Papen, referred to "these idiotic Yankees."

SOCIETY WOMAN TELLS OF KILLING OF BANKER'S SON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 31.—Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, daughter of a wealthy British knight, in whose fashionable West End apartment Michael Scott Stephen, son of a London bank manager, was found shot to death early today, made a long statement to police tonight. She told what transpired during the all night cocktail party which ended in tragedy.

Scotland Yard immediately began an investigation. Mrs. Barney told the police that in a struggle with Stephen for possession of a pistol it was accidentally discharged. Mrs. Barney was not formally placed under arrest. She was accompanied to Scotland Yard by her father, Sir John Ashley Mullens, and her mother, Lady Mullens.

Former Wife of Yank.

Mrs. Barney is the former wife of John Sterling Barney, a member of the famous American trio of singers, "Three New Yorkers." She met Barney at her father's house here in 1928, when she herself was on the stage under the name of Dolores Ashley, and married him a few months later. The marriage was dissolved a short time ago.

Much mystery surrounded the tragedy in the Barney apartment. Neighbors reported that sounds of gayety were audible from the apartment all through the night and into the early hours of the morning.

Suddenly, they said, there was a commotion, then five revolver shots and then a woman began screaming: "Oh, chicken, chicken, come back, darling. I am sorry."

Police were called and found Stephen lying on a sofa, shot through the chest.

Society Circles Stirred.

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—The haunts of Mayfair society were stirred today by the fatal shooting of Michael Scott Stephen in the apartment of Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney.

Meanwhile, astonishing stories were heard of parties which were held in Mrs. Barney's gayly decorated back alley flat in Williams Mews, the London counterpart of Greenwich Village's MacDougall alley in New York. One room, done in black and white, was especially popular with the guests, who called it "the Magpie room."

The slain young man's mother and father were called to the morgue late today and identified the body of the handsome blond victim, who was a native of Scotland. The mother was distraught.

Slept in Grocer's Truck.

A groom who lived near Mrs. Barney's apartment said that one night about two weeks ago he saw Stephen leave the apartment, calmly step inside an empty grocer's truck nearby and make himself comfortable on the floor to go to sleep.

"He slept soundly for many hours and in the morning awoke and went to breakfast," the groom said.

NOW GLAMOROUS

Frances Williams joins this Fight against FAT

INTERVIEWER: You were superb tonight, Miss Williams. And in that blue crepe gown, your figure was absolutely ravishing. Come on! Tell me how you keep yourself so slender.

MISS WILLIAMS: I spend no time on those exercise machines, I'll tell you that. My secret, if you call it a secret, is very simple. I follow the Hellmann Slenderizing Plan.

INTERVIEWER: So you're following that plan, too! What does it allow you to eat?

MISS WILLIAMS: Almost everything, and that's why I like it. Just eat two salads every day covered with Hellmann's Mayonnaise in place of too many heavy soups and rich, fattening foods. Then cross any tendency towards increasing weight right off your list of worries!

What a delightful sounding way to keep slender and healthy! Two delicious, inexpensive salads every day covered with Hellmann's Mayonnaise, in place of heavy, fattening foods! Why not begin at once? Remember to insist on Hellmann's. The quality, double-whipped mayonnaise. It contains breakfast eggs, special salad oils, vinegar and spices. Certain mayonnaise makers have recently introduced cheap, inferior ingredients into their products in a frantic effort to lower prices. This we refuse to do. Hellmann's Mayonnaise remains a quality mayonnaise, absolutely unchanged, absolutely uncheapened.

So get your jar of Hellmann's from your grocer. And start the Hellmann Slenderizing Plan at once. Results will amaze you.

Lovely Frances Williams (at the right), one of America's most perfectly formed women, follows this plan daily. And what it does for her, it can also do for you.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW NEGRO DEATH SENTENCE

Orders Dry Killer Tried Under State Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Under the protection of a special guard of 100 policemen and plain-clothes men, the Supreme court held its final spring session today.

Among its final decisions was one granting a review for the seven colored men sentenced to death at Scottsboro, Ala., on being convicted of assaulting two white girls.

The police guard was called after local officials had received reports a communist demonstration might be staged in event the court refused a new trial for the seven Negroes. The court, however, in a formal order agreed to review the case and set the hearing for Monday, Nov. 10. The seven were to have been executed on June 24, but the court order today automatically stays the execution.

State to Try Dry Killer.

In a second major decision which may have a bearing on prohibition enforcement, the Supreme court held that Henry Dierks, a federal dry agent charged with killing a prisoner, should be tried in the state rather than the federal courts.

Although department of justice officials had no comment today to make on the Dierks decision, the possibility developed that it may vitally affect the government's long standing policy of immediately transferring killing cases in which dry agents are arrested to the federal courts where they have a better chance for acquittal. In many instances in the past agents charged with killings have been transferred from state courts.

Overrule Federal Judge.

Dierks had hit a prisoner on the head with a revolver and killed him. The prohibition agent was arrested and taken into the state courts but he asserted that as a federal prohibition agent he was immune from prosecution there and must be tried in the federal courts. J. Foster Symes, judge of the Colorado federal District court, granted a writ of habeas corpus to Dierks and the case was taken to the federal courts, but the state of Colorado fought the action charging deliberate murder and the Supreme court today decided in Colorado's favor.

"Federal officers and employés are not, merely because they are such, granted immunity from prosecution in state courts for crimes against a state law," Justice Butler said.

Corner Stone of New Field Office Building Is Laid

A copper box, containing records and newspapers, was placed yesterday in the corner stone of the new Field building, La Salle and Adams streets. The structure will be 42 stories high and will be Chicago's largest office building when completed on May 1, 1934. The building occupies the site of the old Home Insurance building, said to have been the world's first skyscraper. Officials of the Field estate, the contractors and the architects of the structure attended the corner stone laying ceremony. The speakers were James R. Leavell of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company; Ernest R. Graham of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, the architects, and George Richardson of the Field estate.

CHIEF JUSTICE HUGHES.
[(C) Harris & Ewing]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—The Supreme court today handed down a decision that the President of the United States has the legal right to sign bills within the ten days permitted by the constitution following an adjournment of congress. Previously the court had ruled that the President had such authority in event of a recess of congress. The controversy over the legality of bills signed after congress had adjourned has raged for more than 100 years.

In handing down the court's unanimous opinion, Chief Justice Hughes pointed out that while "the constitution was perfectly clear in stipulating that the President must sign a bill within ten days, it was not explicit upon the question of the legality of bills signed with the ten day period after adjournment."

"There is nothing," he continued, "in the words of the constitution which prohibits the President from approving bills within the time limited for his action, because the congress has adjourned, and the spirit and purpose of the clause in question forbids the implication of such a restriction.

"No possible reason, either suggested by constitutional theory or based upon supposed policy, appears for a construction of the constitution which would cut down the opportunity of the President to examine and approve bills merely because the congress has adjourned."

CAPONE'S LAST CHANCE TO DODGE PRISON BLASTED

Supreme Court Refuses to Review His Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—[Special.]—Al Capone's last chance for freedom through the courts faded today when the Supreme court refused to review his case. The gangster is in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta serving 11 years for income tax evasion.

AL CAPONE.

The court gave no reasons for refusing a review. It simply declined to take any action which would give the Chicago gangster another chance in the courts. Counsel for Capone had filed a new petition a few days ago, after the first appeal entered in behalf of the gang leader had proved fruitless.

First Move in April.

Capone's first move to gain a review via the Supreme court was made by his counsel in April. The main point made at that time was that the indictment under which he was convicted of evasion of the income tax laws had failed to set forth sufficient facts to inform him of the nature and cause of the accusations against him, as required by the constitution.

In its reply the government said that Capone's rights had been fully protected and that he had chosen to gamble upon the verdict of the jury. The Supreme court agreed with the government and declined to intervene. Capone then went to the penitentiary.

Last Appeal Is Filed.

Counsel for Capone filed the last appeal several days ago, based on the grounds that the statute of limitations had run in the gangster's case and that the indictment under which he was tried was not sufficiently specific to protect his constitutional right against a second trial for the same offense.

FOSTER PLEADS FOR COMMUNISM IN U. OF C. TALK

Gives Russia as Example of How Well It Works.

William Z. Foster, presidential candidate of the communist party, yesterday appealed to 1,000 students at the University of Chicago, members of a chapter of the National Student's league, to give their influence to an overthrow of capitalism.

Speaking at Mandel hall, Mr. Foster pictured the doom of capitalism in the present economic depression, and he urged his hearers to be prepared.

"Capitalism must be abolished by an open struggle of violence," he declared. "No domineering ruling class ever has been removed by anything but force, and the peaceful methods of the ballot will never win freedom for the working classes."

Gives Russia as an Example.

Communism wakens culture, Mr. Foster said. He argued that with better working conditions, higher wages, and a share in the profits of their toil, the working classes would find more opportunities for study in the arts and sciences.

This has been proved in Russia, he asserted. The status of the worker in the cities, and of the farmer, has improved to such an extent that they now have freedom to explore the classics, and to give themselves to artistic expression.

As to when the new era of communism will appear, Mr. Foster said the weaker links in the capitalistic chain will give way one by one, until a world governed by the working classes will emerge. He thought that Poland at present was the weakest of the capitalistic nations, and that breaks might be expected also in India, China, Germany, and Spain.

Fascism and Hitlerism offer no solution to world problems as Mr. Foster viewed them. For Hitler to gain power over Germany would only result in war with France, he declared. He branded war as the weapon of capitalism exerted in times of economic stress.

Student Reds Win Trial Delay.

Ten radical university students and Karl Borders, a socialist leader in Chicago, were granted continuances until June 7 when they were arraigned yesterday before Judge Thomas A. Green on charges of holding an unlawful assembly. The students were arrested as they picketed the home of Samuel Insull, bearing placards protesting against the treatment of miners on Insull controlled properties in Kentucky. Borders was arrested when he berated the police who took the students into custody.

Nels Peterson, 51 years old, 2713 Sheffield avenue, an alien, was fined $25 by Judge Frederick W. Elliott for having torn down an American flag from the home of a neighbor on Memorial day. Two communists, Boleslowas Kastenas and George Gugich, were granted jury trials on charges of unlawful assembly.

BIG TIME RACKETEER INDICTED; FACES 22 YEARS IN PRISON

New York, May 31.—[Special.]—Larry Fay, big time racketeer, was indicted by the federal grand jury today on six counts, two charging misdemeanors and four charging felonies. The indictment was handed up to Judge William Bondy.

If convicted on all counts, Fay would face a maximum penalty of 22 years in prison and a fine of $60,000.

All of the counts in the indictment relate to Fay's operation in 1929 of the Club Rendezvous, a night club, at 1636-1640 Broadway.

The two misdemeanor counts charge that Fay in April and May, 1929, failed to collect certain taxes on cover charges for the federal government of a total of $1,844.30.

The four felony counts charge that Ray did collect such taxes in April and May, 1929, but failed to pay them to the government.

NABS MAN WHO FLEECED HIM SEVEN YEARS AGO

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Seven years ago Joseph Pogany, a fur dealer, paid $3,500 for a third interest in a machine that was supposed to turn out bright, new $1 bills. He took a drink to bind the bargain, and when he awoke the machine, money and the men who sold him the interest were gone.

Today Frank Miller, 51, was in the police lineup, charged with the swindle. Pogany said he recognized him on the street yesterday afternoon. He grabbed his coat tail and held on until two detectives came.

Miller denied the charge. Police said he had served time in Pennsylvania and New Jersey on several convictions for burglary and fraud.

REOPEN CASE OF BOY SLAYER WHO ESCAPED CHAIR

Take Testimony Ordered by High Court.

Rockford, Ill., May 31.—[Special.]—Russell McWilliams, 17 years old, slayer of a street car motorman, saved from death in the electric chair by the state Supreme court, went on the witness stand today in the rehearing of the case ordered by that court's decree. McWilliams was sentenced to death last October by Judge Arthur L. Fisher on his plea of guilty to slaying William S. Sayles during the holdup of a street car.

RUSSELL McWILLIAMS.

After detailing, under the guidance of his own counsel, the story of his life, McWilliams then faced cross-examination by State's Attorney William D. Knight. The prosecutor sought to show that the youth was a master gunman and knew what he was about when he shot the 64 year old motorman to death last Aug. 29.

The youth admitted that in a thirty day career of banditry he staged seven robberies, using three different guns.

Intoxication Chief Defense.

The defendant's claim that he was intoxicated and didn't realize what he was doing when he fired five shots into the motorman's body was jolted by the prosecutor, when he drew from McWilliams the admission that he had loaded his revolver at home on the night of the slaying before he had taken a drink.

Under questioning by William Holly, Chicago, of defense counsel, McWilliams testified that he had drank a half pint of alcohol and seven bottles of beer an hour before he staged the street car holdup.

The defense, led by Holly and Attorney B. J. Knight, began the presentation of testimony this afternoon after the prosecution had called nineteen witnesses to refute the slayer's claim that he was intoxicated and to link him to other armed robberies. Testimony of the state witnesses was begun when the hearing opened before a packed court room this morning.

Parents Tell of Past Life.

Before McWilliams took the stand his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McWilliams, and his brother, Woodrow, did what they could to save the youth from a second death sentence by picturing him to the court as a quiet youth who worked to support his parents.

It was lack of testimony concerning his home life and his family background and training upon which the Supreme court based its ruling setting aside McWilliams' execution and ordering a rehearing.

The defense had attempted to withdraw McWilliams' plea of guilty, get a change of venue, and have a jury trial. This was denied by Judge Fisher, who ruled that the Supreme court's decree called only for the hearing of additional testimony and not a retrial of the case.

FINES SHORT WEIGHERS.

Municipal Judge Freeman L. Fairbank yesterday assessed fines for short weighing customers against Fannie Schneider, 1219 South Kedzie avenue, and Isadore Rashkow, 3427 North Clark street, and against Henry Nathanson, 1227 South Kedzie avenue, for not having a certificate of inspection for his meat market.

AMALIA KUSSNER COUDERT, ARTIST OF THE '90S, DIES

Painted the Portraits of European Royalty.

An announcement was received yesterday of the death in Montreau, Switzerland, of Mrs. Amalia Kussner Coudert, well known miniature portrait painter of the nineties and a former Chicagoan. The announcement was made by Mrs. Albert Kussner of St. Petersburg, Fla., wife of Mrs. Coudert's brother, a composer, formerly of Chicago.

Mrs. Coudert, then Amalia Kussner, painted as one of her first subjects Mrs. J. Ogden Armour of Chicago in a pink satin gown embroidered in gold. She then painted such well known eastern society women as Mrs. George Gould and Mrs. John Jacob Astor.

In 1899 she was commissioned to paint the czarina of Russia, and from there went to South Africa, to make a portrait of Cecil Rhodes. King Edward VII., when he was still the prince of Wales, sat for a portrait.

In 1900 she married Capt. Charles du Pont Coudert, who served in the Spanish-American war, the son of Charles Coudert, founder of an old law firm, Coudert Brothers, in New York. Mrs. Coudert was born in Greencastle, Ind., the daughter of Lorenz Kussner, musician. The family later moved to Chicago and lived on Cedar street until the death of the father. She attended St. Mary's of the Woods academy.

PROSECUTOR TO OPPOSE PAROLE FOR JOE HUSZAR

Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller will go before the state board of pardons and paroles at Joliet penitentiary today to oppose the pleas for paroles made by "Indian Joe" Huszar, former operator of a speed trap in the village of Broadview, and David D. Beyers, who got $250,000 through a confidence game based on a tax-fixing racket.

Each man has served only the minimum of his sentence. Huszar, sentenced to 1 to 14 years for assaulting motorists whom he arrested on the pretext that they were speeding, jumped bond and was a fugitive from justice for several years after his conviction was sustained by the Illinois Supreme court.

Among the 97 prisoners seeking paroles is Kitty Malm, the "Blond Kitty" of one of Cook county's most famous murder cases. She and her husband, Otto, were sentenced to life imprisonment nine years ago for the murder of an elderly watchman during a holdup.

3 Die, 7 Missing as Flood Inundates Arizona Farms

Yuma, Ariz., May 31.—(AP)—Swirling flood waters of the Colorado river tonight had claimed the lives of at least three persons and threatened to inundate 20,000 acres of farm land, the home of 2,500 persons. Seven other persons, including five children, are missing. Tonight the river broke a levee at Brown's Landing, six miles northwest of Blythe, Ariz., and threatened to spread over the rich farm land.

STRUCK BY AUTO; MAY DIE.

Murphysboro, Ill., May 31.—(AP)—Tossed into the air when struck by an automobile, Leo Lips, 30, of Murphysboro, was in a serious condition today from injuries. Doctors said his recovery was doubtful.

ROBBERS RAID POSTAL STATIONS AND STEAL $900

Nearly $900 in government money was stolen last night by three armed bandits in robberies on two northwest side drug store subpostal stations. It was the second holdup of one of the stations in less than four weeks.

The gunmen first visited Edward Pitchman's pharmacy at 2156 Addison street. They took $13 of the store money and $300 in postal money.

A short time later they appeared at the Arco drug store at 4958 Diversey avenue, where after menacing Arthur B. Lash, the manager, they stole $585 of postal funds. They also got $40 of the store receipts. The Arco substation was held up by two men on May 9 and robbed of $560.

It's as though the tobaccos "were welded" together...

It "welds" together different kinds of the several varieties of tobacco... many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco.

THIS "WELDING" TOGETHER—or Cross-Blending—permits every kind of tobacco used in the Chesterfield blend to partake of the best qualities of every other type. Each tobacco is thus made to yield its finest flavors.

CROSS-BLENDING takes all these pleasing flavors and aromas and combines them into one—the Chesterfield taste. And we think you will agree that it is a far better taste . . . worth all the extra care that Chesterfield takes to get it.

EVERYTHING that money can buy and that science knows about is done to make CHESTERFIELD milder and taste better.

SEVEN ARRESTED BY U. S. AGENTS IN DRY FORAY

Federal dry agents acting under M. L. Harney, district prohibition administrator, arrested seven persons in a foray after prohibition law violators yesterday.

In a saloon at 10 North Jefferson street three barrels of beer and a quantity of whisky were seized and John Keenan and Leo Cecconi were arrested.

Morris White and Thomas Bain, riding on a 15 ton truck loaded with 33 barrels of beer, were arrested near 103 North Wells street.

A 150 gallon still was in operation at 433 East 45th place and four 50 gallon barrels of mash and one 10 gallon can of alcohol were found, the agents said. There was no operator present. William Heinzelman was arrested at 5440 New England avenue, where the agents found 264 bottles of beer, 190 gallons of mash, and bottling equipment. At 4972 Milwaukee avenue William Brager was arrested and beer and whisky were seized. John Sadlas, 8345 Burley avenue, was arrested when he was found to have a pint of colored spirits.

Michael Schmitz, chief of the Niles Center volunteer fire department and owner of the Auto Inn, and John T. Bowman, an employé, arrested several weeks ago, were freed by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday because of insufficient evidence. Daniel Baroni, manager of the Club Ambassadeur, at 226 East Ontario street, which was raided last week, and Chris De Perro, waiter, also were freed by the commissioner. Charles Yario, bartender, was held to the grand jury.

JURY HOLDS FATE OF 11 MEN TRIED AS KIDNAPERS

Prosecutor Asks Death for Four of Them.

Peoria, Ill., May 31.—[Special.]—Fate of the eleven defendants on trial for the kidnaping of Dr. James W. Parker rested with the jury tonight. Closing arguments were started at noon and Judge Henry Ingram indicated that the sessions will continue until counsel completed the arguments and that he would read instructions to the jury if it required a late night session.

Assistant State's Attorney Leo F. Cavanaugh in the state's opening argument asked the jury to fix death in the electric chair as the penalty for four of the accused kidnapers. He named James W. Betson, Claude [Red] Evans, Cecil Minninger, and Arlo Stoops as the defendants whom the state believed deserving of the extreme penalty.

In the case of the other defendants, including Mrs. Raymond Stoops and her 17-year-old son, Dean, he asked that the jurors return a fair and just verdict that would be in keeping with the "atrocious crime" that had been committed.

Pleads for Pursifull.

Emanuel Rosenberg of Decatur, attorney for Joseph Pursifull, lawyer and reformer, argued the case in behalf of his client, while E. A. Hayes, Decatur, past state commander of the American Legion, followed with a sympathetic plea in which he told the jurors that Pursifull was the victim of circumstances and knew nothing of the kidnaping until summoned by James W. Betson, alleged leader of the gang, to act as a go-between.

Before the defense rested its case three witnesses were summoned to produce an alibi for Claude [Red] Evans, ex-convict and safe blower, who also faces an indictment for robbery. Evans, Dr. Parker testified, stuck a gun in his ribs. The witness testified that they were with Evans during the time the state claims Evans was engaged in helping to bring Parker back to Peoria on the night of April 1 after the kidnapers had become frightened and decided to release him.

A Partial Alibi.

No attempt was made to show Evans' whereabouts on the night of the kidnaping. Dr. Parker put the "finger" on Evans as being one of the three men who took him in custody in the garage of his home and later robbed him of $85 which he had in his pockets.

Character witnesses numbering more than twenty were summoned to testify as to the character of Pursifull, Betson and Homer Massey. The last named was one who stood guard over Parker while the physician was held a prisoner in a house near Banner, Ill., for eighteen days.

George W. Sprenger, attorney for Betson, argued for thirty minutes in behalf of his client. State's Attorney Henry E. Pratt closed for the prosecution, after which Judge Ingram excused the jury for dinner. Pratt substantiated Kavanaugh's remarks in pleading for the death penalty for four of the defendants. He reviewed the case from beginning to end, appealing to the jury to put an end to lawlessness.

ROBBER CAUGHT AFTER HOLDUP.

Harry Salmon, 36 years old, 3053 Armitage avenue, was captured yesterday after he had taken $11 from G. E. Templar, 3249 Potomac avenue, in a holdup in front of 2048 Cortland street.

SPECIAL JURIES DO LITTLE, COST MUCH—CERMAK

During the last twenty years investigations by special grand juries have resulted in little but the expenditure of public money, Mayor Cermak declared yesterday in commenting on the statement that Chief Justice Fisher of the Criminal court will set a special grand jury to work on June 7.

"I never knew of an investigation by a special grand jury that accomplished anything except the expenditure of large sums of money," said the mayor. "I'll venture to say that should the county's records be scanned they will show that special grand juries have cost the people hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"Looking back over twenty years I can recall only two special grand jury cases that resulted in convictions. One was that of a school employé in whose case the Supreme court held that he was civilly, but not criminally, liable. The other case was the investigation into the primary day shooting of Octavus Granady in the Twentieth ward in which fines were levied."

ASKS STATE TO AID IN RAISING RELIEF FUNDS

Arthur Eidman, vice chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, yesterday made a final appeal to Gov. Emmerson and other state officials to aid the commission in the sale of $6,250,000 of state tax anticipation warrants. The money from the sale of the warrants is needed to keep relief stations in Cook county open after June 4, he said.

The commission was originally authorized to sell $18,750,000 of warrants. Of that sum $12,500,000 of warrants have been sold and all of those funds allocated for relief work except $408,600, an amount sufficient to continue relief activities only to June 4 in Cook county and July 1 in downstate counties.

Rival 200 Pounder

The woes of a former burlesque queen, who took 20 pounds off her hips only to discover that her husband preferred fat ladies, were recounted to Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Mary Ell, 441 Wrightwood avenue.

She weighed 180 pounds when she married Joseph Ell, a baker now living at 935 North Leavitt street, in Poland in 1922, she said. She was a burlesque actress at the time. Ell came to the United States, and in 1928 he sent for her. Mrs. Ell had read of the slim American women, she said, and she went through an arduous course of diet and exercise which reduced her to 140 pounds.

But instead of greeting her joyfully when she reached Chicago, she charged, her husband said, "Ptooey, you're not my type. I like them fat."

She is suing him for divorce on grounds of adultery and cruelty. She named a Millicent Ludwig of St. Louis, who, she said, weighs 200 pounds, as co-respondent.

GOLD RUSH MINER KILLED IN FALL UNDER LOG JAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., May 31.—Two Alberta prospectors of the new McConnell creek gold rush arrived here last night and announced that Fred Firth, miner of Edmonton, Alta., had been killed in a log jam on the Finlay river.

The three miners had taken a plane to McConnell creek, but their food gave out one month after the last plane left on April 6. They began the long journey back to civilization by way of the Ingenika, the Finlay, and the Parsnip rivers. Their raft struck a big log jam at the junction of the Ingenika and the Finlay rivers. Herbert Henry and Mike Miller jumped to safety, but Firth missed his footing and disappeared beneath the jam.

His companions secured aid at Fort Grahame, but could not locate the body.

William Thomas, 45 years old, and John Pingera, 38 years old, were taken to Joliet penitentiary last night to serve life sentences for kidnaping Dr. Max Gecht and his wife, Georgia. Sentence was passed by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the Criminal court yesterday when they were arraigned on pleas of guilty.

Thomas and Pingera pleaded guilty at the start of the trial in which they were co-defendants with Attorney Ward Swalwell, a former assistant state's attorney, and Edward Finnen, a saloonkeeper. Swalwell was found not guilty by a jury and Finnen was freed on a directed verdict by the court. The state charged that Mrs. Gecht was held prisoner in a Palos Park cabin and liberated when her husband, who had been freed to obtain ransom, paid $2,000.

Before passing sentence on Thomas and Pingera, Judge Sullivan complimented Investigator Pat Roche for capturing the kidnapers and Prosecutors C. Wayland Brooks and Ross Lee Laird for their work in the trial.

The Gechts were seized on Dec. 10 and held in the cabin of Gus Sanger, whose interest in Mrs. Gecht trapped the kidnap gang. Following her release, he telephoned Mrs. Gecht and tried to arrange a meeting. Acting on orders of Roche, Mrs. Gecht made an appointment and Sanger was arrested and turned state's evidence.

DAUGHTER WILL SEE HER MOTHER AFTER 21 YEARS

As a result of the reuniting of two sisters who had not seen each other for 21 years, one of them, Miss Mary Esther Angelladian, 25 years old, of Teasville, will go to California next fall to see the mother who let her enter an orphanage when she was 4 years old, keeping the other sister. Miss Angalladian and her mother have not met since then.

Miss Angalladian and her sister, Mrs. Rose Angalladian Nazareth, 30 years old, who resides with the mother in Los Angeles, were brought together through the efforts of Attorney J. Edward Clancy. Each will receive $3,500 from the estate of their father, George Angalladian, who died in 1925 in Marseilles, France.

The younger sister, who was renamed Hacker as a child in being shifted from one orphanage to another, Attorney Clancy said, did not know her name was Angalladian but remembered that she had had a sister named Rose. She also described in vivid detail, the attorney said, a scene from her childhood concerning her transfer from her home to an orphanage.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

POOR RELIEF AND THE BEGGAR STATES.

Senator Wagner's bill to provide 300 million dollars for emergency relief throughout the country has now been introduced. The bill provides that when the governor of a state certifies to the need for poor relief funds the Reconstruction Finance corporation may advance the money desired. Repayment will come from future federal grants in aid of the state road programs. Thus, if Illinois borrows 20 million dollars it will receive nothing from the federal government's road fund until the 20 millions are repaid.

It need hardly be said that this proposal already has received the indorsement of Senator Walsh of Montana and Senator Pittman of Nevada. It will have the support, no doubt, of all the other senators of all the other beggar states.

There is and there must continue to be grave doubt of the wisdom and propriety of the federal government's advancing money to the states for poor relief. If poor relief is not the function of the states and the localities, it is difficult to believe that there is such a thing as local responsibility for anything in the United States. But that point may be dismissed for the present while attention is directed to the way in which the Wagner bill would work out.

The fact to be reckoned with is this: The states in which unemployment has created the greatest need for relief are precisely the states which pay the largest sums to the federal treasury and which receive the least proportionately in return in the form of road and other subsidies. On the contrary, the beggar states like Montana contribute little to the federal government and draw back much more than they receive. For example, Illinois in 1931 paid 190 million dollars and drew back only eight million dollars. In the same year Montana paid less than two million dollars and drew back more than four million dollars.

Presumably Montana will borrow little from the Reconstruction corporation and Illinois will borrow heavily if Senator Wagner's bill is passed because Montana has a relatively small urban population. That can only mean that the specially favored treatment which Montana now receives will be accentuated.

Let there be no mistake about this: The theory of this bill is that it is the duty of Illinois to build roads for Montana farmers, but it is not the duty of Montana farmers to contribute in the slightest to keep their fellow countrymen in Illinois alive. As a matter of fact, if Illinois did not have to support road building and other local services in other sections of the country the problem of raising funds for poor relief in Chicago would be considerably less difficult than it is. Because federal taxation is bleeding Chicago white, Chicago's own governments and charities are finding it needlessly hard to get the money required to take care of Chicago's poor.

If Senator Wagner is really interested in relieving the distress in New York, Chicago and other cities, a good way to do it would be to remove from the federal budget such items as the federal subsidies to the states for roads and for vocational education. New York and Illinois cannot support their own unfortunates and provide roads for the chronic beggars of the wide open spaces as well.

IN THE PLANNERS' UTOPIA.

Parlor pinks and radical theorists now belaboring the capitalist order and announcing the breakdown of civilization make much of an alleged contrast between conditions in America at this moment and those which are supposed to prevail in soviet Russia. The contrast is made impressive by exaggerating conditions in the United States and by assuming conditions in Russia, which news from that country has not been verifying very well of late. We are told by these partisans that a "planned social order" does not permit privation, which is now, according to them, destroying millions of victims in capitalist America.

But although the communist order has been in operation since 1917 in a country whose natural resources, especially food supply resources, are as great as America's, we are now hearing again of famine in the mining district of the Donnetz basin, and Pravda says conditions are getting worse instead of better. They would not get publicity in the press, which is under iron censorship, if they were not pretty bad. The Pravda puts the blame on the huge bureaucratic machine, and, of course, charges that "opportunists," traitors, speculators, and incompetents are threatening to intensify the shortage.

But how is this possible in a system of "planned economy" after more than a decade of dictatorial authority? How is it possible in an order which is not based, as the Methodist general conference protests ours is, on the sordid motive of profit making?

Perhaps a "planned" order will be discovered some day which will do away with the basic qualities of the individual. But bolshevism is not doing it.

BACK TO FIRST PRINCIPLES.

The crystallization of substantial opinion in the Republican party upon the fundamental needs of the present crisis is encouragingly shown in the resolutions recently adopted by the Vermont state convention. Declaring that the present state, national, and world-wide conditions call for the highest statesmanship, and forcefully summarizing these conditions in the United States, the resolutions declare:

"Contrary to the fundamental conception of the government of this nation, it is engaged in nearly every line of business. Governmental policies, restricting trade and commerce, are destructive. The growth of 'sectionalism' and 'political blocs' endangers the nation. It is a common attitude of government servants and agents that the government of the nation exists for their benefit and not for the benefit of the people. The centralization of government has usurped the powers of the people and has given rise to numerous bureaus, commissions, boards, and departments never contemplated under the constitution. Expenses of government have mounted to perilous and destructive heights. Unwarranted and organized raids are constantly and regularly made upon the treasury of the nation, with resulting dependence of many of our citizens. Our national extravagances have extended to the point where the stability and security of our government is affected.

"Our people and their property must be safeguarded. In order for the people to prosper property must be used. In order that property may be used and that people may be gainfully employed, industry must be encouraged. In order to safeguard the rights of both people and property the present burden of taxes must be substantially reduced. Some forms of taxation are confiscatory and destructive. Taxes must be reduced and equalized to avoid disaster."

Vermont Republicanism therefore demands a recurrence to the fundamental principles which the progressive extension of federal power, the growth of bureaucracy and paternalism, and the destructive increase of federal expenditure have ignored. "We deplore the appalling expense of government and demand immediate and drastic reduction thereof." "We demand reductions of commissions and bureaus and the abolishment of all nonessential activities of government." "We demand an immediate reduction in numbers and excessive salaries of government officials, agents, and employés." "We demand the return of the government to its constitutional powers and the limitation of government to those powers."

For the practical enforcement of these sound opinions the convention resolved: "That we urge the national convention of the Republican party, for the preservation of the nation, to pledge every Republican member of, and Republican candidate for, the congress of the United States to vote for no legislation not within the strict limits and scope of the powers delegated by the people of the United States and enumerated in section 8 of article 1 of the constitution of the United States; to enact legislation looking to the ultimate elimination of the many abuses arising out of the usurpation by congress of powers never delegated to the federal government by the people and taking the form of bureaus, commissions, boards, and departments not within the limits and scope of the powers delegated to the federal government, and in pursuance of these recommendations to thereby reduce the enormous burden of taxation resting upon the people of the United States."

THE PLANKS ON PROHIBITION.

Fear lest the national conventions adopt ambiguous planks on prohibition in their platforms is expressing itself in various efforts to avoid so deplorable an evasion. The Voluntary Committee of Lawyers, which has done such good work in arousing the bar to its responsibilities, has appealed to the President and to the Democratic party leaders urging that "definite statements of purpose, either to repeal the 18th amendment or to enforce it, be adopted without qualifications involving vacillation or delay."

If there is character and responsibility in the direction of the national parties this course will be adopted. Professional prohibition influence and some shortsighted politics will resist it. If the latter prevail one of the most costly blunders in American history will be committed. Respect for party government, which already is at a dangerously low ebb, will virtually disappear, and with it responsible public administration. The prohibition experiment has gone a long way toward destroying confidence in and fealty to government among the people, and the nation, if it is to preserve its institutions, cannot afford to have the situation made worse by a refusal of the party organizations to permit the people to declare its will at the polls on an issue of major and urgent importance.

Whether a general appeal, even by the most respectable organizations, will carry much weight will be doubted by seasoned observers of the ways of practical politics. It should be followed up by the demand upon delegations for definite pledges for definite action.

CONDENSED LITERATURE.

[Boston Transcript.]

The late President Eliot of Harvard, in the course of one of his occasional addresses, spoke of the enormous accumulations of books in our time, of the problems they brought to librarians in trying to house them. He suggested the regular, gradual elimination of books that had not been called for within a definite period, perhaps the preservation of one copy in a great central storage place where it could be found in case of need. His remarks are recalled by the statement of a government statistician that if all the biographies in America were laid end to end they would cover the entire surface of the United States ten times over. This has been promptly followed by the proposal of a worn-out book reviewer that anybody writing another life of Washington or Lincoln should be severely punished upon the granting of the copyright—be given the choice of paying a $50,000 fine or going to jail until he had promised to reform.

Perhaps we shall find a way out through the invention of Rear Admiral Fiske, who lately gave a demonstration of his "improved reading system," destined in his opinion to effect great economies in space and publishing costs. An ordinary printed page is reduced by photography to about the dimensions of a single picture in a cinema reel. Forty-five such pages can be printed on a card and the microscopic type is read through a magnifying lens. The whole apparatus, which "looks like a complicated lorgnette," weighs four ounces. It works somewhat like an old fashioned stereoscope, the card being placed in a slide, which travels to and fro by the pressure of the thumb on a screw. Admiral Fiske estimates that by printing books in this way the Eliot "five foot shelf of literature" could be crowded into a space of three inches, and the entire contents of the Boston public library be stored in a building the size of one of the subway entrances on the Common.

LISSEN, KING!

"King Alexander's Palace Bombed. Cause Unknown."—Headline. Now, Alexander, you may not know who threw bombs at your palace while you were inside or why they did it. But let us tell you the story reputed to William Jennings Bryan, and he was said to have related it after the third time the country had rejected him for President. It may threw some light on the subject. A man climbed up three long flights of stairs to where a grand mask ball was being given. The doorkeeper demanded the man's invitation and ticket. The man said he didn't have an invitation nor yet a ticket, nor the price to buy one, but he was going to the grand mask ball anyhow. The doorkeeper said no, the man wasn't going to the mask ball anyhow, and so he kicked him down the three flights of stairs.

After a while the man again presented himself at the door of the grand mask ball and the doorkeeper asked him once more if he had an invitation and a ticket or the price and the man said no and the doorkeeper kicked him down the three flights of steps again. After a while the man again presented himself at the door of the grand mask ball and the keeper rushed him over to the window and dropped him out in the street. The man came to in the middle of the street car tracks, glanced down at his disheveled clothing, mopped the blood off his face, spit out a couple of teeth, and looked up at the third floor, from whence came the sound of the merry music of the grand mask ball.

"Tut, tut!" said the man, "they can't fool me. They don't want me up there."

And so, Alexander, it may be—that is, it's barely possible—that they threw bombs at your palace because—we hate to say this, Alexander—but it might be, Alexander, that they don't want you up there.

JUNE.

I cannot tell what gods there be,
But June is very real to me;

She plants her gardens for my joy
Lest care and sorrow might destroy,

And through the woodland's singing voice
She makes my spirit to rejoice.

June drives the lurking clouds away
And bids my thoughts go out to play.

She laughs at Winter's old-time threats,
She taunts old age and time's regrets,

This day of days let love be true;
Give rein to hope, glad faith renew;

Let hatred's banners now be furled,
As June comes singing through the world!

"UNITED STATES ASKS Arms Parley at Geneva Not to Halt Until Delegates Have Accomplished Something."—Headline. Gosh! it's a life sentence.

"TENS OF THOUSANDS of Americans perished in France needlessly," says Maj. Gen. Hanson Ely in his Memorial day address, "because the United States was unprepared." But, General, Germany was prepared down to the last canteen, filled with fresh water daily, and the extra pair of marching socks waiting in readiness for the last reservist to be called to the colors. The allies have contended that Germany was so very well prepared she went out looking for trouble. But, prepared to the limit as Germany was, it has always been our understanding that she got an awful licking. But did she? After reading Maj. Gen. Ely's remarks we are convinced it is the best prepared nation that wins victories. And Germany was admittedly the best prepared. Which brings up the old question once more, "Who won the war?"

HERR HITLER is now the Man of the Hour in Germany, and the eyes of the world, when they're lifted now and then from the latest quotations on the ticker tape, are turned right straight on Herr Hitler. Yet when you look at photographs with that comical mustache under his nose you would say, if you didn't know who he was, that there was a man who would either be a flagpole sitter, champion raw egg eater, or engaged in walking around the world backwards. Which simply shows you can't always judge a man by his funny mustache.

FARMER WIVES' MARKET.

The farmer wives have come to sell
Their products to the town.
Small golden rolls in dozen lots,
And wheat bread baked light brown.
Pressed chicken in round earthen bowls,
White loaves of cottage cheese,
And rows of neatly labeled jars
Revealing beans and peas.
The barnyard gave of eggs and fowls,
The soil of greens and berries,
The orchard fruit for the preserves,
And scarlet quarts of cherries.

On these long counters stand displayed
Kind Nature's gifts to our demands,
Blessed by the touch of Love and Work,
By strong, untiring Mother hands.

OUTRAGEOUS! Reactionary! Disgusting! Mid-Victorian! Puritanical! Salem witchcraft! Diabolical! And more we might say, for we are seething with righteous anger. EASING PAIN.

A GROUP of workingmen cleaning the wings of airplanes in a German airport noticed that they no longer had any sensation in the skin of the face. They reported the fact and wanted an explanation. When everything is going well the facial sensations are pleasant and add to the joy of living. These men were disturbed not only because of what was but because of fears of what might be.

The chemical used in this cleaning process was trichlorethylene. Upon investigation it was discovered that this cleansing solvent agent was also an anesthetic capable of benumbing the very important nerves of sensation of the face, known to physicians as the trifacial.

Then some one, recalling the very painful, persistent, and obstinate neuralgia, known as tic douloureux, to which this nerve is subject, thought the chemical used to clean airplane wings might also be of service in relieving the pain of tic douloureux. Chemically, it is kin to chloroform and also to alcohol—both anesthetic drugs. Why should it not have anesthetic action? It was not the first chemical devised and used for a commercial purpose but later found to be a medicine of value. The most popular hookworm medicine used today was taken over by medicine from the commercial field.

When tried in cases of trifacial neuralgia, trichlorethylene gave relief. Twenty to thirty drops are placed on a handkerchief and inhaled from once to three times a day. If it is going to be of service it soon stops the pain and, thereafter, it holds it under control for several hours. The drug in that dose, at any rate, is not a general anesthetic; its action seems to be pretty well limited to the head and face.

Dr. G. C. Fahys says he has used it for the relief of face pains for a period of about four years and has found it harmless. No disagreeable symptoms follow its use, he says. It is suited to some cases and not to others. If used on a case to which it is not suited it is without effect and nothing is gained by continuing to use it.

Neuralgia in this nerve, like pain in all nerves, is nothing more than a symptom and giving relief is not a cure. The best that can be said is that in suitable cases it eases pain and promotes comfort without doing harm, while something, which we call nature, cures. If, in a given case, nature can cure the disease of the nerve or nerve ganglion or the brain and thus remove what lies behind the pain the anesthetic meets all the needs and is accepted as a satisfactory remedy. Harmless sedatives have their place.

Readers will recall recent articles in which I have told of toothache being relieved by spraying alcohol into the back of the nose, and of pains in remoter parts of the body being eased by applying other sedatives to the membranes in the same region.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mrs. J. S. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of Bright's disease?
2. How long is one's life when suffering with that disease?
3. Is it inherited from parents? My father died with it; also a brother.
4. Will dieting do good?

REPLY.

There are several kinds of Bright's disease, and you do not specify. I will answer for chronic Bright's without dropsy.

1. There is probably high blood pressure, and possibly some loss of endurance and wind. There is usually night urination. Urinalysis shows large quantity, low specific gravity, very little or no albumin, a few casts. There may be some other symptoms.
2. The tendency to take life is not great. A person with this disease should live from 10 to 50 years.
3. There is a slight inheritance tendency, but it is of secondary importance.
4. Eating sensibly and in moderation is of some service. As a rule, the people who diet for this kind of Bright's disease go too far and do more harm than good.

IT'S CUSTOMARY THING.

Mrs. T. L. C. writes: My baby is 16 months old, and we are wondering if she has flat feet. When her foot is wet and placed on a surface, there is no arch discernible.

REPLY.

Babies of that age and younger always appear to be flat footed. In fact, they have a pad of fat under the instep, which makes that region slightly convex rather than concave like the instep of older people.

CRACKING JOINTS.

Mrs. J. G. A. writes:

What makes the bones in the body crack? Mine crack in arms and ankles very much.

REPLY.

It is your joints that crack and not your bones. Cracking joints is evidence of arthritis. If that is the only sign present, it means a very mild and very chronic arthritis—one that should never disable you. Old people have it almost always. They expect to be able to creak, but still to get around until the end of the seventh period of life. Work horses have it.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

NATIONAL CONVENTIONS

DEMOCRATIC—1924.

New York, July 10 [2:30 a. m.].—In the third week of its troubled existence the Democratic national convention closed early this morning with the nomination of this ticket: For President—John W. Davis of West Virginia, noted New York lawyer, formerly representative in congress, and ambassador to Great Britain. For Vice President—Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska and brother of William Jennings Bryan. Mr. Davis was nominated by acclamation at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Gov. Bryan was named as his running mate at 2:25 o'clock this morning.

Then the convention, which began on June 24 in Madison Square Garden and in which the most desperate conflict in the history of the party took place, adjourned sine die with the band leading the frazzled delegates and drooping spectators in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

The balloting began on June 30 with William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, and Gov. Al Smith, the idol of Tammany Hall and New York's east side, as the leading contenders. On the first ballot McAdoo received 431½ votes; Smith, 240½, and Davis, 31, with the rest of the delegates split among the various favorite sons. Fifteen ballots were taken on that day and fifteen ballots were taken on the succeeding day, at the end of which McAdoo had dropped to 415, Smith had increased his vote to 328½, and Davis to 126½. On July 2 at the end of the 42d ballot McAdoo had 503 4-10 votes; Smith, 313.6, and Davis, 67.

The unprecedented deadlock was jarred loose on the 100th ballot on the ninth day of steady balloting, following the withdrawal of McAdoo and Smith, and on the 102d ballot the Davis bandwagon started.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 1, 1916.

EL PASO, Tex.—The Mexican situation took on a warlike aspect. Following the information that the Carranza note presented to the government in Washington today virtually was an ultimatum to withdraw the American troops, it developed that the Mexican authorities in the last few days have shifted their armies to be ready to enforce their demands. The Mexican soldiers are moving so that in a few days Gen. Pershing's forces will be cut off from assistance. In furtherance of this plan a force of 3,000 Mexican soldiers left Villa Ahumada, marching westward in the direction of El Valle. Gabriel Gavira, commander of all Mexican forces in North Chihuahua, left Juarez for Casas Grandes. Mexican artillery is being concentrated along the Mexican National railroad line between Juarez and Chihuahua.

LONDON.—In a series of powerful attacks the German crown prince drove southward to within six miles of the northwestern gates of Verdun, the nearest approach of the Germans on the west bank of the Meuse since the titanic struggle for the fortress began 100 days ago. Battered by a heavy German attack, the French were driven back toward Chattancourt station, less than six miles from Verdun's outskirts. The Germans, however, were unable to hold their gains and were swept back upon Cumieres village by a French counter attack.

VIENNA.—Austrian troops under Archduke Friedrich have conquered the strongly fortified towns of Asiago and Arsiero, upon which rested one of the main Italian lines of defense in the Alps, it was announced. The Austrians have also stormed and captured Monte Baldo. "The armored work of Punta Gorda was captured by our forces Monday," added the official statement.

Every Man's University

Questions and answers prepared by members of the faculty of the University of Chicago outline what they consider a well educated person ought to know. Today's instructor is N. Paul Hudson, professor of bacteriology.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

What is the unit of life?

[This question will be repeated and answered in this space tomorrow.]

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION:

How do bacteria aid in the continuation of life on the earth?

ANSWER:

With the death of a plant or animal complicated chemical compounds are locked up in the body cell, and as such they are not assimilable as food by succeeding forms of life. If this condition persisted it would not take long for the available chemical elements to become inaccessible to living forms, and life as it exists on the earth could not continue.

Bacteria play a part that allows the cycle of chemical substances to progress. They unlock the cells of dead plants and animals so that simple compounds pass off into the air or soil and can then be used by other forms. This is done by bacteria primarily while they are making the food available to themselves, but is done far in excess of their own needs. It is accomplished by means of substances secreted by the bacteria, and is commonly recognized as fermentation, putrefaction, and decay. The success of this biological function depends on the presence of suitable moisture and temperature conditions, on the ability of many varieties of bacteria to take effective part, and on the ubiquity of capable bacteria. By this means bacteria aid in the continuation of life on the earth.

As I am not in a position to attend a school for this information, I would appreciate receiving a questionnaire concerning citizenship. Should you not be able to do this and inform me where I could get it? F. C.

There is no official questionnaire for the use of aliens preparing for citizenship. Text-books covering elementary civics are furnished to schools by the government for the use of aliens attending the public schools.

PROTESTED TAXES.

Hinsdale, Ill., May 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have joined a taxpayers' association. 1. They tell me I don't have to pay until a certain court rules. 2. Will I have to pay interest after June 1, 1932? 3. Is it true that the city can't do anything to property owners if they protest through said association? H. I. B.

1. Unless court objections are filed your property might be sold for taxes.
2. We are confident that the decision will be such as to subject you to the interest payment.
3. It is true that the property will not be sold for taxes if proper legal steps are taken, but charges will accumulate against you, so that in our opinion you will ultimately be worse off.

SAVING THE DUCKS.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., May 24.—Paul G. Redington, chief of the Washington bureau that looks after wild ducks, hands out some good advice to the forty-eight states and to sportsmen's clubs—to "acquire small tracts of land suitable for the uses of waterfowl." He hopes that millions of acres will be bought and turned into refuges this year. He says the government has no money right now to handle the job, and the need is very urgent if we are to save the ducks from the shotgun.

The automobile has nearly spelled every duck retreat in the United States. The birds will be wiped out soon if hunters do not turn in and help. One new cottage builder in the new Glen-Oak group near the mouth of Koshkonong creek on Lake Koshkonong told the writer he killed 94 teal two years ago from a blind in front of his house. That made him buy the lot and build. That wild shore line is now backed by a village that means short shrift to ducks. The cottagers are mostly from Chicago.

Few people realize how fast shore property is being snapped up by duck hunters from the big cities. The automobile can take shooters now within a mile of every duck in the state. Unless refuges are quickly secured and better protection given, the birds that once made Wisconsin lakes famous will be rubbed off the picture. Raising the hunting license fee will provide the funds.

HALBERT LOUIS HOARD.

THE SPEECH OF SEAFARING MEN.

Chicago, May 29.—Having done considerable seafaring in my time, I was very much amused at the sophomore idea of seagoing language as exemplified in the passage to which Mr. Bogan took exception and which appeared in the Crane Junior College literary magazine, Pen and Pad.

The passage as quoted ran as follows: "No . . . swabface . . . scupper rat can scuttle me." Realism! Among seafaring men such a remark would excite nothing but laughter. What a seaman probably would say would be: "No bloke like you can get the forehand of me." Not so picturesque perhaps, but far more realistic.

If young writers want to get realism into their sea tales, let them study the characters that Joseph Conrad has so admirably sketched in "Youth," "Typhoon," "The Nigger of the Narcissus," and elsewhere. S. C. U.

FIVE MONTHS DUE.

THROW 'EM ALL OUT.

Chicago, May 18.—In November let's discharge all sitting senators and representatives from further duty, without regard to party and without animosity. They are just incapable employés and for that reason they should be discharged and new employés put in. Business men must run the government for the benefit of business to produce lasting jobs for the people. Throw out the politicians.

ARTHUR T. GALT.

COLLEGIATE AUTHORS.

Chicago, May 19.—Recently it was announced that the literary journal of Crane Junior college had been rather indecent in its last issue. Of course, this was scandal. Decency is the very essence of the respectable city dweller. However, in this decency he very often becomes hypocritical. In the very issue in which THE TRIBUNE mentioned the youthful antics of the collegians it published another installment of "Sudden Love," by a certain Elisabeth Sanxay Holding. The installment tells the story of the beautiful heroine bringing the intoxicated hero to a hotel room to spend the night after she had registered for them both as man and wife. Glancing across the page from this story we see the movie advertisements. "A Metro Passion Drama." "As You Desire Me." "A Creature of Silk and Passion."

After all, the faculty of Crane college can only direct the thoughts of the students. The thoughts themselves are bound to be partly formed through outside influences.

AMBROSE J. WEEMS.

REFLATION.

Chicago, May 14.—Prof. Fisher and his reflation theory are as perfect an example of prophecy fulfilled as the average student of economics may witness in a lifetime. Quite some years ago an economist of international eminence at that time, speaking informally at a seminar of graduate students in economics, mentioned the tendency of Prof. Fisher's thought and predicted that if a widespread and lengthy depression occurred during Prof. Fisher's active life that gentleman would advocate a dilution of money and credit. In the opinion of the prophet, a decided conservative, the dilution would be dangerous.

Certainly congress has been urged to authorize a monetary dilution under the Amos and Andy name of reflation. Whether it be dangerous in ultimate result can only be proven by trying it. Nevertheless there are great differences of opinion as to the advisability of trying it. On the field of battle seems to be a poor place to monkey with open boxes of detonators, and the height of a storm a poor time to go riding on a flimsy craft. But men have been known to do both and get away with it. If a bushel of cork balls is mixed with a bushel of potatoes there is no increase in sustenance value, little increase in weight; but the bulk of the load is doubled, and in the long run there is expensive work separating the cork from the food. The extra basket is almost impossible to get rid of, too; as witness all the cancerous excrescences our congress is afraid to remove. C. J. PRIMM.

COMPENSATION.

Chicago, May 28.—THE TRIBUNE of this morning contains the notice of the tragic death of Marie Liesch, a schoolgirl, who was killed by the gunfire of the police while endeavoring to arrest a gunman. No criticism of the police has been suggested in any way, so far as I know. The fact remains that the loss to the family is just as heavy. No compensation could relieve the sorrow. I suggest, however, that the city compensate the family in some substantial amount. It would, I suppose, require a city ordinance. Even so, it should be done.

$5,000 IN CANCER SALVES SOLD BY TILTON, SAYS NUN

Old Doc Lester Tilton, on trial with two others before a jury in Judge Desert's Criminal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the medical practice act, made more than $5,000 from the sale of his patent cancer cure during the operation of his "clinic" at the Felician convent, 3800 Peterson road.

This was admitted yesterday by a defense witness, Sister Mary Wenceslaus, member of the Felician order, who superintended the treatment of patients under Tilton and another defendant, Dr. Joseph Duffy, until Cardinal Mundelein ordered the clinic closed.

Tells of "18 or 20 Cures."

Sister Wenceslaus spent the entire day on the stand, telling of alleged cancer cures which, she claimed, were obtained by applying Tilton's pyroligneous compound, black specifics, and salves. Between 60 and 70 patients were treated while the clinic was in operation. She said 18 or 20 were cured. The others, she added, were in such serious condition before applying to the clinic that no cure was possible.

The nun was herself a beneficiary of the Tilton cure, she said. In November, 1929, while suffering from a malady of the shoulder, she went to the mother house of the Notre Dame nuns at Elm Grove, Wis., near Milwaukee, and there underwent the Tilton treatment. The medicine gave her noticeable relief, she said.

"When I was cured I tried the cure on twelve other members of the order," the nun said. "It proved very beneficial. I then obtained permission from the head of the order in Krakow, Poland, to open a clinic at our convent. Of the 60 or 70 patients treated, 18 or 20 were cleared up. I determined the size of the fees. No one was ever turned away for lack of money."

Objection Prevents Answer.

On cross-examination Prosecutor Charles A. Bellows asked whether Dr. Louis D. Moorhead, dean of the Loyola university school of medicine and chief of the medical board of the archdiocese of Chicago, had not informed her after examination that she had never been cured of cancer, because she never had the disease. An objection by Defense Attorney Erwin Walker prevented her answering.

"But, after an inspection of the clinic by Dr. Moorhead and a medical committee, the cardinal ordered that the clinic be closed, did he not?" Mr. Bellows asked. The nun assented. The clinic, she said, was opened in June, 1930, and closed the following May.

NUN FACES NEW INVESTIGATION IN OBREGON SLAYING

MEXICO CITY, May 31.—(AP)—Concepcion Acevado Y de la Llata, former convent mother superior, who was convicted four years ago of complicity in the assassination of Alvaro Obregon, president-elect of Mexico, was ordered returned here today from the penal colony at Tres Marias island, where she is serving a 20 year sentence.

Officials of the department of interior said she was being brought back because the government intended to re-open the investigation into the slaying. She will be lodged in jail here while the new investigation is under way, they said.

No definite information on the course of the investigation was given, but it was recalled that Miguel Trejo, the youth who was alleged to have handed the pistol to Leon Toral, who was convicted and executed as the slayer, was arrested here several months ago and held in jail. The origin of the pistol was never cleared up.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

RACING BALLOONS ALL SAFE; TWO IN SASKATCHEWAN

Goodyear Lands; Army Bag Is Sighted.

REGINA, Sask., May 31.—(AP)—Strong prairie winds swept two balloons of the United States National air race into Saskatchewan today, one landing at Tyvan and another carrying on communication with farmers near Woodrow and Gull Lake.

Piloted by Roland Blair, aided by Frank Trotter, the Goodyear VII., hydrogen filled balloon, one of six entrants, was brought to a landing on the field of Willard Smith, a farmer, about one mile south of Tyvan, 50 miles southeast of here.

Cover 800 Miles in 20 Hours.

Leaving Omaha at 8:25 p. m. Monday with five other lighter-than-air craft, Blair and Trotter set foot on Canadian soil at 3:50 p. m. central standard time. In the 20 hours of flight they covered 800 miles.

They encountered rainstorms for four hours and were forced to throw away nearly all their ballast. They flew at altitudes of from sea level to 17,000 feet, and in higher altitudes encountered snowstorms.

The other remaining ungrounded balloon, No. 2 army bag, piloted by Lieut. Wilfred J. Paul, had been sighted at Calgary swinging toward central Alberta with the prospect of going as far north as Edmonton.

Others All Down.

Omaha, Neb., May 31.—(AP)—Three of the storm-ridden balloons which started here late yesterday in the national race landed safely in North Dakota today after battling wind, rain, snow, and electric storms. A fourth had landed soon after the takeoff, its bag leaking badly.

Strike Live Wire.

The best unofficial distance reported among the first quartet of finishers was 600 miles, that of the No. 1 army balloon. Piloted by Capt. W. J. Flood of Washington, D. C., it landed near Sherwood, N. D., shortly after noon.

Nearest to disaster among the first four reporting was the City of Omaha, which landed in a ranch yard ten miles east of Sterling, N. D. Pilot Eddie Hill of Detroit suffered a severe head cut and his aid, Roscoe Conklin of Omaha, a sprained ankle when the basket struck a fence. Their distance was approximately 500 miles.

In Snowstorm.

The three pilots who landed in North Dakota declared severe electrical storms hampered them and heavy rain eventually beat them to earth.

"We shot up to 12,500 feet," Pilot Tracy Southworth related, "but we were still in the clouds and it was snowing. For an hour we scuttled over the North Dakota landscape."

BEVERLY STATE BANK ROBBED OF $6,000

Seger, cashier, and Clarence Yonker, employes of the bank, who were herded together and guarded by robber leader while companions looted the bank. The employes are looking at the empty cash box. Covered by Insurance

Four gunmen yesterday raided the Beverly State Savings bank, 103d and Loomis streets, and escaped with $6,000 after forcing six employes and four customers to line up against the wall.

The bandit leader, armed with a shotgun, stood guard over Cashier J. W. Steger and the other prisoners while his companions scooped the money from the cages into canvas bags which they carried.

"We've got all of it," one of them announced. They rejoined the leader and backed out of the bank with the warning to bank employes not to call police for five minutes. Entering a car parked at the curb, with a fifth man at the wheel, they drove north in Loomis street. Bank officials said the loss was covered by insurance.

INQUEST RETURNS SUICIDE VERDICT.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that John Schneidereit, 55 years old, who was found dead Sunday at his home, 4531 North Clark street, had committed suicide by shooting.

WINDOW VANDALS TELL HOW THEY PICKED TARGETS

Smashed Panes Replaced by American Glass Co.

Two brothers, arrested early Sunday with a companion while they were on a window breaking tour on the west side, admitted to Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler last night that they had picked certain windows to smash because they had been broken before and replaced by the American Glass company, by which they are employed.

The brothers, Bart and Edmund Flynn of 4838 West Van Buren street, and their companion, Frank Harrigan, 2760 West Jackson boulevard, a petty politician, were booked at the detective bureau last night on charges of malicious mischief and conspiracy. Although they contend that Sunday night was their first window breaking venture, police hope to connect them with the well planned campaign which has resulted in the destruction of more than 1,000 plate glass windows in Chicago in the last eighteen months.

Will Ask for Continuance.

The three will be arraigned today in the Felony court. Mr. Butler said that he would ask for a continuance. He may want to question Benjamin Beris, president, and other officials of the American Glass company, he said. When he asked Bart Flynn how he picked the windows which he and his companions smashed Flynn replied:

"The reason we broke those windows was that we knew they had been broken before and replaced by the American Glass company. We wanted to make more work for ourselves.

Bart Flynn has been employed as a glazier by the company for three years, he told police. His brother, Edmund, first insisted when he was arrested that he was employed by the Chicago Title and Trust company. When officials of that company refuted his claim he admitted that he had been employed by the glass company for eleven years as a clerk.

Dismissed Twice Before.

Files turned over by the Employers' Association of Chicago yesterday to Lieuts. Frank Johnson and Albert Hoffman, in charge of the investigation of window breaking, showed that Beris had been dismissed both times he was arrested during the last twelve years on charges of racketeering in the glass industry.

A charge against him was nolle prossed in the state courts in 1921, but Fred J. Galvin, who was arrested with him, was fined $100 for malicious mischief. Galvin told police that he had an arrangement with Beris to break windows which Beris' company had a contract to replace. Beris was indicted with four officials of the glaziers' union in 1928 in the federal court charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade, but the charge against him was dismissed the following year.

Two More Smashers Seized.

Two alleged window smashers were arrested this morning after a chase by Maxwell street police. They are Sam Gottlieb of 1254 South Union avenue and George Meyers of 537 West 37th street, each 18. They were seen fleeing in a car by Policeman James Doherty after the breaking of a window of the vegetable store at 840 Maxwell street. He fired one shot at them. The chase was taken up by Policemen Charles Brom and Charles Drs, who caught the youths seven blocks away.

8 TEXAS WOMEN GET DIVORCE TO SAVE JOBS, LOSE MEN AND JOBS

Fort Worth, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Eight Texas women who decided that jobs were more important than husbands face the loss of their jobs and uncomfortable scenes with their husbands, too.

The wives filed suit for divorce recently when the Texas and Pacific railroad informed married women employes they would be replaced by men June 1 if their husbands were making as much as $50 a month.

A rude shock awaited the would-be divorcées today. Railway officials announced that divorces would have no effect even if granted, as the order affecting married women applied to their domestic status May 16, when the railroad and union officials signed the agreement.

Tomorrow the women will be out of jobs and likely face some trying moments with irate husbands and unpaid attorneys.

2,000 REDS SLAIN BY GOVERNMENT TROOPS IN CHINA

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

SHANGHAI, May 31.—More than 2,000 communists were slain at Tsaoshih, west of Hankow, last Friday and Saturday, when the 48th division of government troops scored an important victory.

To counterbalance the government victory, Hankow reports say, a force of 10,000 communists and bandits is nearing the Tientsin-Pukow railway, south of Pengpu. The cities of Changpaling and Chiho are menaced.

Seven American missionaries and a new born infant are marooned at Luckowfu and there are forty-five others in the general neighborhood of communist activities from whom no word has been received.

"Just Poslam—I used it every night for a short time and now my complexion is as clear as a bell." "That's wonderful," says he—"I'll try it myself. I suppose I can get it at any drug store?" "Yes," said she —"and it's only 50c."

RIOTING SWEEPS SPAIN; SOLDIERS FIRE ON STRIKERS

MADRID, May 31.—(AP)—Violence continued today in syndicalist strikes widely scattered over Spain, with several casualties at Ceuta, where three sailors from a Spanish man of war were hurt in skirmishes with strikers. Many foreigners at Algeciras fixed the flags of their countries on their automobiles to avoid interference after motor cars leaving that city were stoned and damaged.

Troops and civil guards fired on strikers at Algeciras. Riots were reported in neighboring towns, where food shops were ransacked. Bakers joined in the walkout, the people of Algeciras obtaining their bread from military stores.

Part of Valencia was darkened tonight by the dynamiting of a number of posts supporting electric wires. The syndicalist strike prevailed in twenty towns surrounding Cadiz province. Traffic was at a standstill in Seville, where forty were arrested after an unknown assailant wounded a civil guard in the back. In towns near Seville strikers burned twelve harvesting machines and wounded a farmer.

TOKIO, June 1 [Wednesday].—The diet was officially opened by Emperor Hirohito at 11 o'clock this morning after a week's delay owing to the assassination of Premier Inukai and the change in cabinets. The diet will take up the bills for military expenditures in Manchuria and financial bills embodying measures aimed at controlling foreign exchanges, reforming the Bank of Japan system and revising the customs tariff. The new premier, Admiral Makoto Saito, will deliver a speech Friday.

Four Bank Robbers to Be Hanged in New Orleans

New Orleans, La., May 31.—(AP)—Four bank bandits are to be hanged tomorrow in the New Orleans jail. They killed Raymond Rizzo, a grocer, after robbing a branch of the Canal Bank and Trust company Nov. 30, 1931. The robbery was planned by Ito Jacques, New Orleans Negro, who went to Chicago and induced Donald Rylich, Herman Taylor and George O'Day, Chicago hoodlums, to come to New Orleans for the crime. All were captured the night of the robbery.

EVANSTON MAN ADMITS ROBBERY.

Theodore Abromovits, 21 years old, 1416 Ashland avenue, Evanston, who was arrested Sunday while speeding in Niles Center, confessed yesterday that he had robbed George M. Wattles, 1316 Richie court, of his money and the car.

EX-ALDERMAN IS SEIZED AS KEEPER OF A HANDBOOK

John Bauler, 47 years old, former Democratic alderman of the old 22d ward, was arrested yesterday as the keeper of an alleged handbook at 515 West North avenue by Sergts. Louis Capparelli and Michael Casey and a squad from the state's attorney's office. Five alleged patrons also were seized.

When the raiders telephoned for a police patrol, the former alderman requested that it be driven to the rear of his place, because he did not want the neighbors to see his departure. The request was refused. Capparelli and Casey seized racing sheets, chips, and $50 in cash as evidence.

Bauler and the other prisoners were taken to the South State street station, where his brother, Mat [Paddy] Bauler, Democratic committeeman of the 43d ward, went later to help him. The former alderman put up cash bail for himself and the five alleged patrons. They will appear in State street court today.

HENRY FORD ON SELF-HELP

MY VIEWS of how people can best be helped are not new. The present period has only brought them into intensive application. Nearly twenty years ago when we established our minimum wage, which is now six dollars a day, we had the other side of the problem. It was then a problem of sudden prosperity. We tried to teach our employes how to handle their resources to the best advantage and how to evade the parasites which wait on every hand for the workers' wages. There was no criticism of our methods then; in fact, they were commended. They are the same methods now with such improvements as experience has suggested.

I said, in the first of this series, that being out of some one's employ need not mean being out of work. In the last analysis independence means self-dependence. Dependence on some one else for employment in busy times may too easily become dependence on some one else for support in slack times.

If it is right and proper to help people to become wise managers of their own affairs in good times, it cannot be wrong to pursue the same object in dull times. Independence through self-dependence is a method which must commend itself when understood.

Methods of self-help are numerous and great numbers of people have made the stimulating discovery that they need not depend on employers to find work for them—they can find work for themselves. I have more definitely in mind those who have not yet made that discovery, and I should like to express certain convictions I have tested.

The land! That is where our roots are. There is the basis of our physical life. The farther we get away from the land, the greater our insecurity. From the land comes everything that supports life, everything we use for the service of physical life. The land has not collapsed or shrunk in either extent or productivity. It is there waiting to honor all the labor we are willing to invest in it, and able to tide us across any dislocation of economic conditions.

No unemployment insurance can be compared to an alliance between a man and a plot of land. With one foot in industry and another foot in the land, human society is firmly balanced against most economic uncertainties. With a job to supply him with cash, and a plot of land to guarantee him support, the individual is doubly secure. Stocks may fail, but seedtime and harvest do not fail.

I am not speaking of stop-gaps or temporary expedients. Let every man and every family at this season of the year cultivate a plot of land and raise a sufficient supply for themselves or others. Every city and village has vacant space whose use would be permitted. Groups of employed men could rent farms for small sums and operate them on the co-operative plan. Employed men, in groups of ten, twenty or fifty, could rent farms and operate them with several unemployed families. Or, they could engage a farmer with his farm to be their farmer this year, either as employe or on shares. There are farmers who would be glad to give a decent indigent family a corner of a field on which to live and provide against next winter. Industrial concerns everywhere would gladly make it possible for their men, employed and unemployed, to find and work the land. Public-spirited citizens and institutions would most willingly assist in these efforts at self-help.

I do not urge this solely or primarily on the ground of need. It is a definite step to the restoration of normal business activity. Families who adopt self-help have that amount of free money to use in the channels of trade. That in turn means a flow of goods, an increase in employment, a general benefit.

When I suggested this last year and enabled our own people to make the experiment, the critics said that it would mean competition with the farmer. If that were true it would constitute a serious defect in the plan. My interest in the success and prosperity of the farmer is attested by my whole business career. The farmer is carrying in the form of heavy taxes the burden of families who cannot afford to buy his produce. Enabling them to raise their own food would not be taking a customer away from the farmer, but would be actually lifting a family off the tax-payer's back. It is argued that farm products are so cheap that it is better to buy than grow them. This would be impressive if every one had money to spend. Farm products are cheap because purchasing power is low. And the farmer paying taxes helps to pay the difference. The course I suggest is not competition with the farmer; it deprives him of no customer; it does not affect the big market crops. Gardens never hurt the farmer. Partnerships between groups of city men and individual farmers certainly help the farmer. When a family lifts itself off the welfare lists or increases its free cash by raising its food, it actually helps the farmer as it does every one else, including itself. In fact, it is fundamental that no one is hurt by self-help. In the relief of tax burdens and the revival of industry the farmer would share the benefit.

MANY people have found ways to self-help. Others have yet to learn how. The one wide-open, practical, certain unemployment insurance is the land. A family with its food assured is a family that can face the world. Both employed and unemployed men should invest their labor in the land this season. Hoarded labor is as harmful to the nation as hoarded cash. The family garden helps everybody and hurts none. It even helps the farmer by lifting the burden of public welfare taxes. Let every man and every family cultivate a plot of land this year, first for their own benefit, next for the benefit of trade, and for the benefit of the nation in general.

I do not wish to be too detailed in this suggestion. I know what we shall do in our own part of the country and with our own people. How this method is to be suited to conditions in all parts of the country must be determined. I am urging Branch Managers of the Ford Motor Company and Ford dealers everywhere to study this suggestion and find the best method of applying it to their communities.

It is not a question of selling land, or of rents. Those who have the land must offer it to those who will use it. We ourselves shall farm large tracts of land, not for profit, but in experimental search for new market outlets for the farmer. We are saying to our people: "Here is the land. How much can you use?" For several years we have been running large crops of everything from sunflowers to soy beans through our chemical laboratory, in an effort to find an annual market for the farmer's produce—but that is a story I shall have to postpone until Friday. I mention it now to show that even in these larger operations we are not entering into competition with the farmer. Our hope for agriculture is to make it the partner of industry.

Prepared and paid for by the Ford Motor Company as a contribution to public welfare.

BISHOP OF LONDON DEFENDS MORALS OF AGED RECTOR

But Admits Pastor Was "Great Nuisance."

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 31.—Soon after the hearing of charges of immorality against the Rev. Harold F. Davidson, 62 year old rector of Stiffkey was resumed in the consistory court today, R. F Levy, the rector's leading counsel sprang a dramatic surprise.

"I call the bishop of London," he said.

Everybody in the court stood up as the bishop Arthur F. Winnington Ingram, wearing a purple cassock with a large gold cross, entered the court and walked to the witness chair.

Calls Rector a Nuisance.

During his cross-examiantion the bishop declared that the reference in his letter, which was read previously in court, that the Rev. Mr. Davidson had "pestered" him was rather unfair.

"Quite frankly, the word 'pestered' gave a rather bad taste in the mouth which I would like to withdraw," he said.

However, he found the rector "a very great nuisance," he said, but admitted that from the viewpoint of his moral character he had never heard a word against him. Later the bishop said he had obtained $1,500 from a "kind lady" to help the rector pay his debts of $2,500.

Naked Girl's Mother on Stand.

Mrs. "D.," the mother of a girl of 15 who was photographed in the nude with the rector, also testified today. She declared that she had no idea her daughter was to be photographed naked. She produced a bathing costume and shawl which she declared she gave the girl to wear.

The mother said she wanted to send the photograph to America, where its publication "might mean a lot" for her daughter. She declared it was not the rector's fault that he was in the photograph, because he had fallen into a "disgusting trap."

She entrusted her daughter to the care of the rector because, she said, "you never know what happens to a young girl on a car ride."

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, May 31. — Bombs were exploded almost simultaneously today at three of Havana's most prominent schools, La Salle in the Vedado district, Belen college in the Buena Vista division, and Los Hermanos Maristas in Vibora, a suburb. Some property damage done, but no personal injuries were reported, although the schools were crowded with children. The La Salle school is opposite the home of American Ambassador Guggenheim, who is now absent from Cuba.

Prisoner Escapes Honor Farm; 2 Others Trapped

John Brown, alias Henry Lempke, serving a one to 10 year sentence for operating a confidence game in Peoria, escaped yesterday from the honor farm outside the walls of the Stateville prison. The attempts of two other prisoners to escape were unsuccessful. Patrick Joyce, 23 years old, a Chicagoan serving life for killing a policeman, and Phillip O'Connell, sentenced from Cook county for theft, hid under the floor of a box car, but were found when the car was inspected before leaving the prison.

5 BOATS SEIZED BY COAST GUARD; 3 CARRY LIQUOR

New London, Conn., May 31.—(AP)—Coast guard boats from the New London base seized three speed boats alleged to be rum runners early today, and captured another last night for running without lights.

A fifth speed boat, the Margaret, of New York, which was seized Sunday night as a rum runner, sank yesterday afternoon in Long Island sound while being towed to New York.

The boats seized today were the Idle Hour of New York, the Mitzi of Providence, and the Bali, of Bridgeport. The Maureen of Providence was held for running without lights.

Coast guard officials said the Idle Hour, the Mitzi and the Margaret each carried several hundred sacks of liquor.

Two members of the Mitzi's crew were arrested, but the others escaped, as did the crew of the Idle Hour and the Bali. The latter, was found aground, with sacks of liquor in the water.

DEMAND RELICS IN BIRTHPLACE OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

Mystery Letters Sent to Rappite Home.

Evansville, Ind., May 31.—[Special.]—Miss Mary Emily Fauntleroy, former owner and now custodian of the old Fauntleroy home in New Harmony, birthplace of women's clubs and a treasure house of priceless relics of the old Rappite settlement and the Owen colony which succeeded the Rappites, has received a second letter demanding certain valuable historical articles in the home.

The letter orders her to have these packed ready for removal. Fearful of harm to herself and the treasures in her keeping, Miss Fauntleroy is reluctant to reveal the contents of the letters. It is understood that the letters are signed by a "historical society," but she refuses either to affirm or deny the report.

The home, now the property of the Indiana Federation of Women's Clubs, was built in 1815. The deed which Miss Fauntleroy transferred to the Minerva club, which was the first woman's club and which was organized in the old home, was made out to George Rapp in 1915 and was signed by President Madison. It carries Father Rapp's signature and those of his 501 followers.

In 1841 Robert Henry Fauntleroy, a geologist of Virginia, bought the place and it has since been in the hands of his heirs, until bought by the state federation of clubs. Since much of the original furniture remains in the house together with priceless books, pictures and manuscripts, its contents are of considerable value.

Jack Guzik Pays $17,951 Income Tax Fine in Cash

Attorney William F. Waugh yesterday paid the fine of $17,951 assessed by the government against Jack Guzik, Capone lieutenant, for income tax violations. The fine, said to be the largest ever paid in an income tax case, was paid in cash to Charles M. Bates, clerk of the District court. Guzik is serving a five year sentence in Leavenworth for income tax fraud. A government claim of $825,000 for back taxes and interest against Guzik is pending before the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

Wife Divorces Thompson, Involved in Kirkland Orgy

David Thompson of Gary, in whose home the gin orgy was held which terminated in the death of Arlene Draves and the subsequent conviction of Virgil Kirkland, for assault, was divorced in Hammond Superior court yesterday by his wife, Ida, who charged cruelty. An indictment charging assault is still pending against Thompson.

DEPRESSION HITS ENGLISH CHURCH; REVENUE DROPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 31.—The general depression is affecting church finances severely and when the Church of England assembly meets soon the budget question will be the chief topic of discussion.

The budget estimate for the church as a whole from free will offerings amounts to about $34,165,000, which is $330,000 less than in the previous year and $1,995,000 less than in 1925-'26. The report says that the scriptural injunction to give one-tenth is largely lost sight of by church people. The figure today is not more than one-seventeenth.

The average middle class family, it is asserted, spends only 1.5 per cent of its income on subscriptions to charities, 2.5 per cent for alcohol and tobacco, and 9.5 per cent for holidays, clubs, and recreations.

Last Bar to St. Lawrence Seaway Pact Is Solved

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—Last week Premier Bennett announced in the house of commons that only differences between Ottawa and the province of Ontario on power rights prevented the signing by Canada and America of a St. Lawrence seaways treaty. Today it became known that an Ontario-Ottawa agreement is ready for signature and the last obstacle to the international agreement is about to disappear.

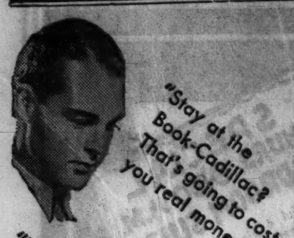
WE ARE NOT GOING OUT OF THE RETAIL OR WHOLESALE BUSINESS! A SACRIFICE FOR CASH



I got the shock of my life to hear the low price!

ONLY three dollars a day for a room at the Book-Cadillac! I thought Jack was kidding me. I had always wanted to stay there. But the thought of the expense scared me off.

A few weeks later I had to go to Detroit myself. No question about where to register this time. They gave me a wonderful room at the Book-Cadillac for only $3.00 a day. A regular "apartment"—private bath, circulating ice water and a bed that's my idea of solid comfort.

Their food made a hit with me, too. Substantial as home-cooking—but with a unique, sophisticated touch. And prices in keeping with the low room rates.

As a rule, I hate business trips. But since I've discovered the Book-Cadillac, there's one I'm always glad to make—to Detroit!

"KINGFISH" LONG SHOWS 'EM HE'S LOUISIANA'S BOSS

Cracks the Whip and Gets Action on His Bills.

New Orleans, La., May 31.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long performed true to his name of "Kingfish" in his old home state today.

In the house of the state legislature, now in session at Baton Rouge, he ran things as he saw fit. His followers kowtowed to him and acceded to his every wish.

He had reported favorably four bills placing a tax on cigarets and cigars, placing a tax on all life insurance premiums, placing a tax on electricity and a tax of one cent on every 5 cent bottled drink sold in the state.

It was not so much what was done, but how the "Kingfish" did it. He appeared before the ways and means committee and demanded these bills be reported immediately, which was done. For years legislative precedent has been to grant hearings on bills where such hearings were demanded. In vain did those interested in these bills ask for a hearing. "You can't have it," snapped the "Kingfish." "We know what we're doing and we're going to do it."

'That Assassination of Commerce.'

To a representative of the New Orleans Association of Commerce the "Kingfish" said: "Now let me tell you something about that 'assassination of commerce' down in New Orleans—that outfit's always tryin' to gum up things. That 'assassination of commerce' doesn't speak the sentiments of the people. Give them time on this bill and they'll have a special train runnin' up here. Give 'em time and we'll have to have a crew of interpreters to find out just what they do want."

President George Long of the Louisiana Manufacturers Association said that it was customary to be heard on all bills affecting taxation of not only business, but the people at large.

"Why didn't all you lovin', kindly manufacturers, with your hearts bursting with human sympathy, do something to help us feed the hungry and aid the unemployed?" shouted Senator Long at George Long.

Gov. Allen Takes Back Seat.

The "Kingfish" commenced yelling about lobbyists.

"You lobbyists are always hollering about delay," he roared. "Well, I'm lobbying myself today—I'm lobbyin' for the people of Louisiana."

The "Kingfish" was reminded that the Association of Commerce and other business organizations of New Orleans had letters of thanks from him for aid given him.

Gov. O. K. Allen, ostensibly the head of the state and former business partner of Senator Long, was completely in the background.

With the state millions of dollars in debt, the administration forces today introduced a measure proposing that $4,500,000 of outstanding loans which can not be paid be funded into bonds on which it is proposed to pay 6 per cent interest.

Thousands of voters throughout Louisiana waked Monday morning to find a circular signed by Gov. Allen on their doorsteps. This circular had all the signs of having been written by Senator Long. A paragraph reads:

"Be on your guard, people of Louisiana. Tell your legislators to back up the administration in undertaking to relieve this distress by taxing the interests that can afford to pay for it. We need your help now. Do not be deluded by these slick tongued, sly skunks and scoundrels."

INJUNCTION HELPS OIL STATIONS OPEN IN MICHIGAN ROW

Detroit, Mich., May 31.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald today revoked the license of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and notice to that effect was mailed to that company's general office in Chicago.

The move was made because of nonpayment of a claim filed by the state of Michigan which amounts to $1,699,815 over disputed oil taxes. The company is contemplating legal action in the form of a test case and Secretary Fitzgerald announced his willingness to give Standard Oil a reasonable time in which to obtain a court order keeping their stations open pending judicial decision.

Late this afternoon an order restraining Fitzgerald from proceeding with any intention of closing the oil stations was signed by Judge E. A. O'Brien in federal court.

The request for the order was made by former Gov. A. J. Groesbeck. He was accompanied by R. J. Fellingham, general attorney for the company. June 6 was set for a hearing on an order directing the state to show cause why a temporary injunction should not issue.

One of the principal questions involved is whether the gasoline wholesaler is entitled to a flat 3 per cent reduction for evaporation and seepage. Fitzgerald and the attorney general hold it is proper to deduct only the amount of actual evaporation and seepage not exceeding 3 per cent. Hitherto Standard Oil and other wholesalers have been deducting the full 3 per cent every month. If Fitzgerald's position in this regard wins judicial indorsement, claims amounting to several million dollars will be filed against other gasoline wholesalers in behalf of the state.

WIFE MUST EAT WHILE AWAITING RETURN OF BEER

Edward Franke, 2239 Kirkland avenue, is an optimist of 12 years' standing, but there's such a thing as carrying optimism too far, Judge Harry B. Miller told him yesterday in the Superior court.

Mrs. Ellen Franke, 2912 Broadway, who divorced Franke in 1920, had him brought to court in an effort to collect $1,000 in back payments which he was ordered to make for the support of herself and their two children.

"I'm a first class brewmaster," Franke told Judge Miller. "As a result, I haven't had a steady job since 1920, the year my wife divorced me. But I'm an optimist. I know that beer is coming back some day, and when it does, I'll pay her."

"You have a good idea," Judge Miller replied, "but the court and your wife can't wait. You'll have to get another job. Come back here June 29 prepared to pay something to your wife."

Dr. Hopkins' Alimony Cut to Fit Reduced Income

Judge Joseph Sabath entered an order yesterday reducing the alimony payments of Dr. Clarence W. Hopkins of the Hotel Sherman, chief surgeon for the North Western railroad, from $300 to $210 a month. He was divorced in April, 1931, by Mrs. Mary Kinzie Hopkins, 511 Lee street, Evanston. Dr. Hopkins testified that his salary has been reduced from $10,000 to $8,000 a year, and that his private practice has fallen off even more. In addition to the alimony, he said he was paying $3,064 a year premium on a $40,000 life insurance policy for Mrs. Hopkins.

Hear County Claim on Bain Bank Deposits Tomorrow

The plea of County Treasurer McDonough that $857,000 which the county had on deposit in the Bain banks when they failed last June be considered a preferred claim against the assets will be heard tomorrow by Judge William J. Lindsay in the Superior court. Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin, attorneys for the receiver of the banks, and James V. Cunningham, attorney for the allied depositors' committee of the banks, are opposing the motion.

COURT CENSURES A MASTER FOR HIS $2,000 FEE

Cuts 85% Off Charge for Foreclosure Hearing.

Aroused during an examination of the $2,000 fee asked by a master in chancery for five hearings of an uncontested foreclosure suit, Circuit Judge Feinberg yesterday censured the master and lopped 85 per cent of the charges from his bill. Later the judge suggested the case be brought to the attention of the bar association committee investigating alleged foreclosure frauds.

The master in chancery is Julius H. Miner. He was summoned to explain the fee he asked for hearing testimony in the foreclosure suit brought by the Central Republic Bank and Trust company against Christopher J. McGurn, owner of the Kenton Manor apartment building in Oak Park.

History of the Case.

The building was placed in receivership nearly two years ago when $193,000 in bonds and interest was defaulted. The case went before Judge William V. Brothers who referred it to Miner in December, 1930. Later it was transfered to Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski and then to Judge Feinberg who was asked to approve Miner's fee.

Investigation of the fee was begun at the suggestion of Attorney Charles W. Thompson, counsel for the bank.

Questioning of Miner disclosed that he charged $842.40 for 75 hour's work and in addition asked that he be paid $1,157.60 for future certification of 6,383 pieces of evidence.

Judge Censures Master.

"You are asking pay for work not yet performed," said Judge Feinberg. "I've been informed that other masters do the same but yours is the first case brought to my attention.

"Your decree is only 10 pages long. How did you take so long? What sort of records did you keep to show for your time?"

"I didn't keep any such records," Miner answered. "I've heard 2,000 cases during eight years as a master-in-chancery and I never kept any records. I remember clearly all those facts in my report, however."

Turning to Attorney Thompson the judge said: "You had better revise your order. I'm going to give this master only $300. I couldn't possibly refer this case back to him for final settlement. If he had kept any record I would not doubt his word."

Judge Feinberg then ordered Attorney Thompson to choose any other master and took the case from Miner.

M'GURN AND WIFE WIN REVIEW OF MANN ACT CASE

The Supreme court of the United States yesterday consented to review the Mann act conviction of "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn and his wife, the former Louise Rolfe.

McGurn, a Capone gunman who was suspected of complicity in the St. Valentine's day massacre, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and his wife, who was his "blonde alibi" in the massacre case, was sentenced to four months in jail by Judge Walter C. Lindley.

The testimony showed that McGurn took the Rolfe girl, whom he later married, to Miami, Fla., and Biloxi, Miss., for immoral purposes. The defense contends that this did not constitute a violation of the Mann act, since the girl went willingly and there was no element of commercialism.

ALL CHICAGO WILL LOOK FORWARD TO WORLD'S FAIR TODAY

World's Fair day will be celebrated in the public schools and by civic organizations throughout the city today, a year before the official opening of the exposition. The day has been set aside for observance by proclamation of Mayor A. J. Cermak.

The hall of science will be dedicated on the fair site in the afternoon. Dr. Frank Jewett of New York, vice president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company, will be the principal speaker. The carillon on the tower of the building will sound for the first time.

Workmen yesterday began to lay a sewer along the inner drive from 23d to 16th street. Traffic was slowed down, since one-half of the drive has been blocked off to permit the work. The sewer will be a part of the World's Fair sanitary system, which will connect with sewers of the sanitary district.

HOLD SKYSCRAPER BURGLAR AFTER STAMP THEFT

Melville Reeves, "skyscraper burglar" of nearly 15 years ago, was held yesterday at the detective bureau, following his arrest on Monday as he emerged from the basement window of the London Guarantee building, 360 North Michigan avenue. He was identified by William Forbes, a watchman, as the man who had broken into the Kostner Advertising company in the building, where $53 in stamps was taken.

Absent from police records for more than 10 years, Reeves was once accused of stealing a half million dollars in a series of burglaries. He was arrested eight times in 1913 and 1914 on charges of burglary, but convicted on none of them.

Police said that Reeves, surprised by the watchman, leaped into an elevator and forced the operator to take him to the basement. He was arrested by Sergt. Ernest Pieske, of the homicide squad, who was passing as Reeves broke a basement window and clambered out. When arrested, according to the police, Reeves was carrying a sledge hammer, two screw drivers, and two "feeler" wires.

WOMAN DROWNS SELF.

Kendallville, Ind., May 31.—[Special.]—Mrs. Clayton Parker, 50, drowned herself in Bixer lake yesterday. Notes left by Mrs. Parker indicated despondency over ill health.

BAIN AND AIDS GET NEW DELAY IN BANK CASE

Flowers Brothers' Trial Also Postponed.

Further delays were granted yesterday in the trials arising from the failure of the twelve banks headed by John Bain and the failure of the Roosevelt Bankers' State bank, 400 East 47th street. Bain and his five co-defendants were ready to go to trial before Judge John M. O'Connor, but Judge O'Connor could not preside because the Supreme court had not released him from his assignment to the Appellate court. Alexander and Samuel Flowers, brothers, and Louis Frank, all officials of the Roosevelt Bankers State bank, were ordered to trial next Monday.

JOHN BAIN.

Bain, his two sons, John H. and Robert A.; his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, and Dr. Walter H. Buhlig and Frank A. Mulholland had agreed to waive a jury and stand trial before Judge O'Connor on the indictment charging them with a conspiracy to embezzle $3,000,000. Under a recent ruling no judge can sit in the Criminal court unless assigned there under the rules of the Circuit and Superior court. Judge O'Connor is a Superior court judge, but has been sitting in the Appellate court.

Judge Denis Sullivan, head of the chancery division of the Superior court, said the Bain case probably would be transferred back to the chief justice for reassignment. It is expected that the defendants will then ask a change of venue, perhaps to Vermilion county.

UNIVERSITY AIDS CITY'S FIGHT FOR LOWER GAS RATE

Finds Its Bill Increased 50% by New Fuel.

As a large gas consumer and dissatisfied customer of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, the University of Chicago offered coöperation to the corporation counsel's office yesterday in the fight before the Illinois commerce commission for lower gas rates.

George O. Fairweather, assistant business manager of the university, in a conference with Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, declared that the university's gas bill has increased approximately 50 per cent since the company introduced natural gas last fall, in spite of a 6 per cent rate reduction ordered by the commerce commission.

Mr. Fairweather was accompanied by two experts, Dr. Herman Schlesinger, chemistry professor, and Leo Hall, research chemist. They declared that the new gas, instead of producing the one-third greater efficiency promised by the company on the basis of an increase from 530 to 800 British thermal units of heat content, had proved much less efficient in the bunsen burners and gas furnaces of the university laboratory than was the manufactured gas.

Equipment Changes Needed.

The new gas, Prof. Schlesinger said, requires a much greater supply of oxygen for efficient combustion than did the old gas, a situation calling for complete alteration of the laboratory furnaces and burners. Mr. Fairweather wanted to know whether the gas company, in view of the situation, should not be required to pay for the alterations.

Mr. Grossman was unable to give a definite answer, but promised to lay the question before the commerce commission. In view of the stake of thousands of small householders in the gas case, Grossman evinced more interest in the university's experience with cooking gas than heating gas. The university uses large quantities of gas in the stoves of its two hospitals and numerous dormitories.

It was in this connection that the 50 per cent increase in the university's gas bill was brought out. Mr. Hall, although declaring himself no expert on combustion engineering, advanced the suggestion that the new gas, regardless of whether the applicance were a bunsen burner or a common stove, produced no more heat than the old gas.

The Company's Contention.

The company, in this case, while admitting that the new gas may be ill suited for special appliances in some cases, says that it is capable of being adjusted to full efficiency on all gas stoves and will therefore produce the greater heat claimed for it.

On this point Mr. Grossman said the gas company's experts are assuming a position directly opposite to the one assumed in 1917 when in proceedings before the city council and the commerce commission the company sought a reduction from 650 to 530 British thermal units. At that time the company's experts maintained, he said, that a reduction of a few points would make no difference in the heating capacity. Mr. Grossman expects to produce the testimony from the 1917 case to attack the evidence of the company's experts in the present case, he said.

BRITISH PARTY OFF TO SPEND YEAR IN ARCTIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 31.—Four members of the British polar expedition which will spend from Aug. 1 of this year to Aug. 31, 1933, studying meterological problems of high altitudes at Fort Rae, in the Great Slave lake area of the North West Territories, left for Edmonton today on the second lap of their journey.

The quartet reached Montreal from Southampton last night. They will share the 13 months' vigil with the leader of the expedition, J. M. Stagg, and a sixth member of the party, A. Stephenson, who arrived in Montreal a week ago. The four who arrived last night were W. A. Grinsted, J. L. Kennedy, W. R. Morgans and P. A. Sheppard of the meterological office, London.

The expedition is an aspect of an international scheme of general attack on the meterological and geophysical problems of the present day and is being participated in by a number of countries. Russia, for example, will have several stations, members of the British expedition said, and among other countries sending representatives in addition to Canada are France, the United States, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Holland.

State Drops 9 Indictments Against Timothy Connolly

Nine indictments charging bribery, forgery, and larceny against Timothy Connolly, former purchasing agent of the sanitary district during the "whoopee" era, were nol prossed yesterday by Judge John Prystalski on the recommendation of the state. Connolly still faces trial on the general conspiracy indictment under which Timothy J. Crowe and three other former canal officials were sentenced to prison. Hearing on this charge was set for June 10 by Judge Prystalski. The indictments were returned against Connolly when he refused to testify for the state after his arrest in California during the trial of Crowe and the others.

87,598 PROUD PARENTS

PROFFERED PICTURES OF PROGENY

WHAT: Contest for photographs of New York's most beautiful children, conducted by The News, New York's Picture Newspaper. Three capital prizes totaling $1,450, and $25 for each picture published in the Sunday News Rotogravure section.

WHEN: Twelve weeks period, from December 1931 to March 1932.

WHAT OF IT: Well, 87,598 photographs are a lot of pictures, a whale of a lot. They made headaches for the judges, and about $250,000 worth of business for local portrait photographers. They constituted a record response for a promotion sponsored by a single newspaper. They represented eighty-seven thousand homes, with children—equivalent to a whole city in the 350,000 population bracket; and a city well above the national average in income and expenditures. And they showed an amazingly varied audience, coming from families with millions and families with mills—proving that parental pride and newspaper preferences know no income bounds, no social distinctions. Finally they indicate an amazingly good advertising medium! It took time, effort and expense to enter this contest, required a strong reader interest which The News supplied. Phenomenal as the response was, the eighty-seven thousand entries represent less than five percent of the 1,800,000 Sunday News circulation.

MORAL: The News is the preferred paper of New York—bought and read daily by more people than any other newspaper in this country. (Circulation: daily, 1,425,000; Sunday, 1,800,000 copies.) It reaches one-third of New York City families, two-fifths of suburban families—as much coverage as the next three papers combined.

Joyce Muriel Goldsborough, ten years old, winner of the first prize of $1,000 in The News Beautiful Child Contest.

Its market is the best off group of people in the world today—less affected by unemployment, with more jobs, more incomes, more money in the bank.

And The News carries more retail advertising than any New York paper—sells today unprecedented quantities of merchandise. (Ask for details!) It is a medium that still sells in a market that still buys!

If you want to do big things in a big way in America's biggest and best market, trust your advertising expenditures to a big medium that does big things for itself as well as for its customers! Now is a good time to start!

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO E. F. SWIFT IN FUNERAL RITES

Business Leaders of City Attend Services.

Distinguished business men mingled with other folk yesterday in paying last tributes to Edward Foster Swift, chairman of the board of Swift & Co. Mr. Swift died last Saturday in a fall from his eighth floor apartment to the pavement at 1550 North State parkway.

The services were held in St. James Methodist Episcopal church, Ellis avenue and 46th street, and were conducted by the Rev. J. L. Gardiner, the pastor.

Twenty pews in the church were reserved for honorary pallbearers. Among those who filed in to take these seats were Melvin A. Traylor, George M. Reynolds, Samuel Insull, Samuel Insull Jr., Thomas E. Wilson, Sheldon Clark, Philip R. Clarke, Albert W. Harris, Tracy Drake, Silas H. Strawn, William R. Dawes, and Harry A. Wheeler.

Relatives Attend Service.

Members of the Swift family were seated in front pews, directly before the casket, which was covered with a blanket of white roses. In addition to the widow and her three children—Edward F. Jr. and T. Philip Swift and Mrs. Huntington Henry—three of the five brothers of Mr. Swift attended the service. They were Charles H. and Gustavus Swift of Chicago and George H. Swift of Boston. Louis F. Swift, eldest of the brothers, and Harold Swift are in Europe.

Employés of Swift & Co. viewed the body of their chief officer at the church between noon and 1 o'clock yesterday. At 2 o'clock the services began. They were simple, in accord with the desires of the family.

A vested quartet sang "Lead, Kindly Light." The Rev. Mr. Gardiner read two prayers and the 23d psalm and delivered a brief eulogy of Mr. Swift.

Praises Name of Swift.

"The name of Swift is written indelibly in the life and history of St. James church," said the Rev. Mr Gardiner. "The father and mother of Edward F. Swift [Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Franklin Swift] were charter members of this parish and their children and their children's children have been its faithful supporters.

"I suppose every man has some ruling passion in life, and the ruling passion of Edward F. Swift may be expressed in the words of our Lord: "'I came not to be served, but to serve.'"

The active pallbearers were six vice presidents of Swift & Co. and two others who had been closely associated in business with Mr. Swift. The burial service at Mount Hope cemetery was private.

E. B. SHAW DEATH AN ACCIDENT IS VERDICT OF JURY

A coroner's jury yesterday decided that E. Bogardus Shaw, 66 years old, retired stock broker, fell to his death accidentally when he plunged from a fire escape outside his 13th floor apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive, Sunday. The jury was composed of unemployed members of the American Legion.

Joseph A. Kroeck, son-in-law of the broker, and his wife, the former Betty Anne Shaw, residents of the same building, testified that Shaw had been in good spirits and unhampered by financial worries. They said he frequently went to the fire escape for air and was subject to attacks of dizziness.

"He was a heavy man," said Kroeck, "but most of his weight was above his waist. It was, therefore, easy for him to fall over the three foot rail. He was 6 feet 1½ inches tall and weighed 235 pounds."

"Wouldn't it also have been easy for him to fall if he had intended to do so?" inquired Coroner Frank Walsh.

"Yes," Kroeck said, "but it would have been impossible for him to climb over the rail. He was so weak that he had to be assisted in and out of his automobile."

Mrs. Kroeck testified that her father had twice fainted when he was with her downtown several weeks ago.

Funeral services for Mr. Shaw will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Rosehill cemetery chapel.

MRS. ANNIE SWAN COBURN, NOTED IN ART CIRCLES, DIES

Mrs. Annie Swan Coburn, widow of Lewis Larned Coburn, wealthy attorney and one of Chicago's foremost art collectors, died suddenly yesterday in her home in the Blackstone hotel. She was prominent in the social world.

She had been ill for months. There had been no indication, however, that her sickness was of immediate danger. Mrs. Coburn's husband was a leading patent lawyer. He was the first president and one of the organizers of the Union League club. Since his death early in the century Mrs. Coburn had resided at the Blackstone.

For years Mrs. Coburn maintained an active interest in art. She leaned toward French and American canvases. Her collection is considered one of the finest in America. Among her last purchases was the painting "Le Journal Illustre," by Edouard Manet, which she obtained in 1929 at a price reputed in the six figures. Many of her paintings were put on exhibit in the Art institute early in April. It was on April 6, incidentally, that Mrs. Coburn made her last social appearance, and then as the guest of honor of the Antiquarian society.

Mrs. Coburn has no immediate survivors. Friends said last night they believed that her art collection probably was willed to the Art institute. Funeral services for Mrs. Coburn will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow at Graceland chapel. It is asked that flowers be omitted.

Lost 72 Lbs. of Fat The Safe Way

"Dear Sir: I'm very glad to write and let you know what Kruschen Salts has done for me. I take it for reducing and have lost 72 pounds in less than one year and never felt better than I do now. I highly recommend it to all my friends. I weighed 234 and now I weigh 162 lbs."—Mrs. O. J. Kohrman, Mariners Harbor, S. I., N. Y., February 25, 1932.

Fat folks should take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes and pastries—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce, as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. E. Griffiths Hughes, Inc., Rochester, N. Y.

BODY ON LAND ARMS DRAWS IRE OF U. S. DELEGATE

GENEVA, May 31.—(AP)—Hugh R. Wilson, American delegate to the disarmament conference, today sharply criticized the conference's land armament commission for its inability to arrive at definitions that would draw a line between tanks and armored cars.

The United States considers armored cars of little military value and will make a reservation giving its own definition if the commission's report fails to distinguish between them and tanks.

"The Fountain," by Charles Morgan [Knopf]. Published today.

"THE FOUNTAIN," which is the June choice of the Book of the Month club and recently was chosen for its subscribers by the English Book society [of which Hugh Walpole is editor in chief], is the kind of novel which has so many different appeals to so many different types of readers that it is certain to find itself among the best sellers. It is besides an excellently written book, which commends it intellectually to readers quite aside from its emotional appeal.

CHARLES MORGAN.

First of all it is a love story of epic qualities. The hero is an English soldier prisoner interned in Holland. The heroine is the wife of a German count whom he had known ten years before when he was a young man and she a child whom he tutored. Paroled to the girl's stepfather, working in the feudal library on a history of contemplation as well as on a translation of an old Van Leyden document, he her at first only a vague disturbance; then the truth stabs at both their hearts and he goes away at her request, only, after months, to be recalled on terms of honesty rarely expressed in a letter in a book.

They become lovers and their ecstasy is broken by the return of the husband, maimed. How the situation between the wife, the English soldier lover, and the German soldier husband is resolved during the final months of the war makes a story which has epic emotions if any ever had.

Epic Picture of Holland.

Then it is an epic picture of Holland and the life of one of its great feudal families. Holland is still novel enough material to most readers of fiction to make it an exciting and alluring milieu in which to wander vicariously. Mr. Morgan has drawn that picture with enough detail to make the book for some worth reading for its background alone. In it Holland, its great families, its clannish life, its customs, its beliefs, its social charms are all set down by a person who obviously knows his Holland. He should—he, like the hero of the book, was interned there during the duration of the war.

Then for certain readers it is a deeply philosophical book. Underneath the story, underneath the emotional and social overlay, the book is a picture of a man seriously searching for "absolute beauty." Something of his search is expressed in the words of Von Narwitz: "Hatred and jealousy and possessive love, perhaps all earthy love, belong to the childhood of the soul, as you know. You are among the few men living who understand that they are to be outgrown. And I have learned that there are experiences that quell them. There are experiences that take the place of philosophy."

The "experiences that quell" human philosophy are what give the novel its power, but underneath that power there is a philosophical content of the man to whom came those experiences. When he was shut inside the walls of a fort for how long he had no idea, at least until the war should be over, Lewis Alison found that imprisonment a blessing, for it gave him for the first time in his life a right as well as an opportunity to contemplate his own soul and take his bearings.

Has Quality of Tenseness.

Alison asked for nothing better than that it should be continued until he had made at least a few findings on the chart of life. His inner need of contemplation and the means to it did not, however, keep him from being the brains of the prisoners' attempt to escape from their prison. In other words, he faced life while knowing in his soul and admitting it as well, that he cared more about thinking than about living.

And finally there is a quality of tenseness, of excitement in the pages of "The Fountain" which make it a boon for those who demand, if not actual shivers, at least potential ones. The adventures in "The Fountain" are all adventures of the spirit. The physical ones, of the attempt to tunnel under the fortress and escape, for instance, have little thrill compared to the spiritual ones of the discovery of love, of the brewing of hatred, of the friendships and the misunderstandings. It is an extremely rare quality in a book—that sense of tense adventure in affairs of the spirit. It will be for that quality that many readers will praise "The Fountain."

And it will be for a few very wise and very beautifully stated observations that the praise will be universal. For this, for instance: "There is no peace equivalent to the peace of loving; it is the sigh of a hated child who, laying his head upon his pillow, has consolation in sleep, passing from the blindness of life into the serene assurance of dreams."

Good Morning!

"The Famous Ferguson Case" would prove to you beyond reasonable doubt that there are newspaper persons and newspaper persons. Solid and scum. Like "Five Star Final," it is an indictment against yellow journalism.

The picture proper is preceded by a foreword giving Webster's definition of news as "fresh information on a recent event." It then, at some length, informs the observer that "news" can also be a deliberate distortion of facts for sensational purposes—in fine, "manufactured news." Following this you are plunged into the Ferguson case, where an innocent woman almost goes to her death through the conscienceless activities of a most reprehensible crew of reporters.

The action—and talk—there's a lot of the latter—occur in a sleepy suburban town. During the first scenes you meet the Fergusons and young Mr. Brooks, the man in the case, and are introduced to the boy editor of a local newspaper who is in love with the sheet's one reporter—a maiden who does fashions, society, art, and any "sobbing" that may seem necessary. Both regret deeply that nothing ever happens in their fair town to give the boy a chance to prove to some big town city editor that here's just the reporter he's been looking for to grace his sheet and, for so doing, pull down several hundred simoleons a week. The lad has just decided to break loose and make tracks for the metropolis when—WHAM—the lid is off . . . !

Down from the city troop the newspaper laddies and one newspaper lassie—Joan Blondell, the little blond wonder! — to cover the Ferguson case. . . .

Two widely diversified methods used in this "covering" occupy the rest of the picture's footage.

As a whole this is a sincere and interesting photoplay. The ending wasn't very convincing to me, but it may strike you as a likely one. Acting's all good and types are well chosen.

Certainly it was a relief to see a newspaper film that doesn't class all journalists as rat tails.

While Paris sleeps [the upper crust]
Her underworld's alive with lust.
Apaches prowl, all watchfulness,
To catch some maiden in distress
And barter her, bo-dy and soul
To some foul fiend for fiend's foul gol'.
The heroine of this pict-ure
Is everything that's good and pure.
No mother has the poor or-phan,
Her dead [???] dad was a soldier man.
She treasures his Victoria cross
Pinned on him ere his life he los' [???].
But, strange as fiction is, you know,
Life's stories beat it at the throw
And when this maid's in durance vile
Comes—Vic McLaglen, minus smile;
A-mustached, too, and on his head
A price. "Get him alive or dead . . . !"
[They'd thought him dead, his jailers, though
No corpse of his could they ere show.]
(This is getting pretty thick.)
Well anyhow this bird appears
And, incognito, wipes the tears
Away from Mary's pretty eyes
And rescues her from them there guys
Who have her ill so much at heart,
And pro-vides her with a new start
In life with one who loves her so. . . .
[He plays the accordion and's from Bordeaux]. . . .
This is a hectic little number
Through which, I think, you will not slumber.
It's reminiscent of the days
When nickolodeons were the craze.

See you tomorrow!

Bath Luxuries Today Surpass Ancient Rome

Toilet Counters All Set for Summer.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

SOME sleuthing soul has totaled the oceans and gallons of water we draw each season for early morning shower singers and evening tub tenors, but there doesn't seem to be any official record of the supply of salt crystals we nonchalantly throw into the yawning bathtubs.

Anyway, we continue to throw lavishly. The old luxurious Roman bath takers have nothing on us for daily and glamorous ablutions and intriguing bathrooms and the thousand and one bath accessories to make us well scrubbed and fragrantly interesting!

Salts and scents, powders, lotions, soap, brushes, oils, and other whatnots are being unpacked and piled high on every toiletrie case in town until one suspects that the great "clean up the town" project has been turned on the citizens.

The most interesting fact is that just water and plain soap still sounds as unalluring as it did when we, as small protesting bathers, killed time and balked at the cleaning process . . . there is just enough of that utilitarian savor and sound to almost make you, as a grown up, recall the old time antipathy.

But armed with soap that smells like your favorite perfume, salts that make you dream of summer gardens drenched with dew, long handled brushes that cunningly find and scrub and scratch every portion of your back, your morning or evening thirty minute soak becomes an event to slave and perspire for.

Summer seems to be the ideal season to really get to know your tub and bathing accessories, you are a wild and dingy person as you jaunt bath-tubward home after a sultry session seeking the illusive dollar, but the gal who emerges, pink skinned and knowingly perfumed from the bath, is just a smart and clever shopper for things to fill the bathroom shelves.

New bath salts have been taught to dissolve instantly, thereby removing the old time danger of the unwary and thinly-padded bather scrambling hastily to keep from being punctured. If you are still a pessimistic buyer, you'll grab the salty powder softeners that effervesce and then melt without any trace of their former selves except the delicious odors which follow you out.

You can sink in a sea of shrinking violet scent, you can submerge in waves of romantic rose perfume, you can tingle with the tang of tall blue green pine trees by salting down your tub with Russian pine bath crystals, and you can sniff the old fashioned quaintly piquant perfume of lemon verbena, lavender, or rose geranium and dash for hours around the town as crisp and cool as these friendly flowers.

After you have swaddled yourself in the folds of the new blanket-size bath towels [incidentally they can be procured in every tint and tone to match your mood] the summer bath taker goes in for dusting powder in a large way . . . billowing clouds of perfumed softness descend till the greedy powder puff wielder is almost suffocated . . . but the result is comforting, cooling, and delightfully fragrant.

This luxurious and lovely way of bathing is good enough to make lots of the best bath takers of ancient Rome return from the seven hillsides to sample and compare the bathing sprees possible in 1932.

Anna Burmeister Wins Praise in Lieder Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Anna Burmeister waited until the season was almost over before giving her recital of lieder at the Cordon club, but when she appeared last night she gave one of the most engaging and artistic programs of the whole season. Not that this was any particular surprise. She has been known as a first class soprano for some time, but last night she was a little better than usual.

Schubert, Brahms, and Hugo Wolf, a half dozen or so songs of each, made up her program. They were carefully selected, not only for their value as musical compositions but as to their contrasting character. It was in this latter point that Miss Burmeister revealed her stature as an artist. She had studied not only music but words, and in both she projected differing moods with the ability of an expert. She never lost the fine tone that is in her voice and she never failed to sing excellent German, but she sang gracefully or earnestly, soberly or humorously, passing from one mood to another with complete facility and certainty.

It was a program of first class art, and by no means the less so because one of the best accompanists in this part of the country, Frederick Schauwecker, was at the piano.

Families Receive Flour Made from Farm Board Wheat

The Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross began delivery yesterday of 3,250,000 pounds of flour to the unemployed in the city. The flour was milled from forty million bushels of wheat turned over by congress to the Red Cross from the supply of the Grain Stabilization board. The milling was done by the Eckhart Milling company and the Washburn Crosby company.

The flour will be available to the Cook county bureau of public welfare for distribution with rations of dry groceries issued to more than 100,000 families in Chicago. The cost of the flour and its distribution will amount to less than 10 cents a barrel, Red Cross officials said, and will mean a saving of more than $57,000.

Cosmetics Are Clever Aids to Costume Colors

They Enable You to Wear Any Shade.

For years and years all we heard was how to adapt the dress mode to the face. Rather, how to adapt the dress color. We were told we should not wear this and that because it did unflattering or cruel things to our eyes, skin and hair.

Well, some colors still do unflattering and cruel things to us, and no amount of optimism can rule them otherwise. Still, we've gone a long way from the order not to wear blue because it wasn't our best shade; not to wear pink because it was sister's shade; not to wear gray because it was Mom's best bet.

There's been a world of compromise, recently, with dress colorings brought about by makeup coöperation. And it is remarkable what women can and do wear now compared to that earlier day when restrictions were ordered to embrace a whole body of women classified as of this type and that type.

Truth is, women aren't "typed" any more. They do not want to be typed and they shouldn't be typed. Beside, yesterday's blond is just as likely as not to bob up at breakfast bearing every evidence of having embraced a completely new type of standard. Yes, yesterday's platinum may be today's or tomorrow's Titian. Women are just that revolutionary toward being "typed!"

Anyway, the makeup art of the moment is accomplishing the impossible—that is, it is making us chameleons with the aid of cosmetics. Cosmetics, as one observer says, are no longer paint. They are means of compromise, of making up discrepancies, of outwitting nature. Since colors in dress are as much a part of fashion as line or cut, we have to be wiling to accept new color ideas. Some colors do drain the natural color out of the face. Cosmetics replace this. Some hard bright colors affect skin and eyes. Brilliant lipsticks, rouge and mascara are needed to recover eye and complexion poise.

The color blue, so popular this year, is grand with blue eyes—but with gray eyes, no color, and a face not so young, it drains the warmth completely. Deep blue eye shadow, the proper rouge and lipstick and you are your nice warm self again. It's a study about which you are going to hear a lot this season. Better look into it yourself, right away.

Society Sees Portraits at Preview Tea

Amy Irwin McCormick Hostess at Party.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. JOSEPH G. COLEMAN, whose portrait was one of the most admired in the exhibition of portraits and paintings by Amy Irwin McCormick which opens today in the Chester H. Johnson galleries, was one of the early pourers at the tea Mrs. McCormick gave yesterday to give her friends a private view of the exhibition.

It was too bad Mrs. Coleman couldn't pour all afternoon, such an attractive and interesting picture did she make sitting at one end of the tea table with the portrait hanging in back of her. Pouring tea at such a huge party, however, is trying business and so Mrs. McCormick had asked a number of her friends to preside at the coffee urn and teapot during the afternoon, including Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Richard T. Fox, Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Orville E. Babcock, Mrs. Charles Edward Brown, Mrs. Robert G. McGann, Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Marjorie Caldwell, Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, and Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney.

From the moment one stepped out of the elevator at the second floor of the Fine Arts building one knew something special was going on, for even the hall was filled with flowers and the whole atmosphere was most "partyish." Where all the flowers that came later were put I'm sure I don't know, for long before the party was half over every available place was ornamented with a fragrant bouquet, and still the flowers were coming. No debutante ever had more!

Many Friends Praise Work.

Mrs. McCormick, wearing a beige gown, with orchids at her waist, and a close-fitting navy blue hat, was kept busy greeting and receiving the congratulations and praise of the hundreds who attended the tea. Assisting her was her sister, Mrs. Arthur A. Small, whose husband, Dr. Small, appeared in person late in the afternoon but whose likeness hung on the wall all the afternoon and was one of the most admired portraits in the show. Mrs. Henry Hooper, Mrs. Howard J. Cunningham, and Col. Robert R. McCormick, the artist's husband, also were present in person and on canvas.

It is not within my province to write about the artistic value of Mrs. McCormick's work, but perhaps it is not amiss to say something about how enthusiastically her friends acclaimed the portraits in the exhibition. Some liked one best, some liked another, but all agreed that in each Mrs. McCormick had caught something more than a mere likeness, something more vital and real.

There were no flowers on the tea table, just the necessary silver, but any sort of decoration on the table would have been "gilding the lily," for with the paintings and portraits on the walls of the galleries and the gorgeous view from the window—the table was very near a large window overlooking Grant park and the lake—anything else would have been too much.

A few of the many—I understand 700 invitations were issued and I'm sure every one of the 700 was there—at the tea were Mrs. Moses Wentworth, Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes and her daughter, Miss Florence Noyes; Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell and her son's wife, Mrs. Robert S. Hortz; Mrs. William P. Hunt Jr. and her sister, Miss Marie Rozet; Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Robert Fauntleroy, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Newcombe and Mrs. George R. Newcombe, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Miss Eleanor Holden, Mrs. Austin N. Niblack and her sister, Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding; Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair, and the Henry Fields.

Model Boat Regatta Saturday.

The model boat regatta, which is the annual cause of much exciting competition among the boys of the north shore, is to be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. Forty Lake Forest youngsters have been at work since January building the Advance, a thirty inch jib headed sloop designed by Payson R. Mayhew, and we're told the Advance boats give every indication of beating the Jolly Rogers, which the boys built last year from Mr. Mayhew's design.

One hundred and fifty boats, including the 22 inch models of two years ago, the Jolly Rogers, miscellaneous sloops, schooners, and yawls are to be entered in the regatta. Admiral Walter S. Crosley will judge the events and Lieutenant Commander T. C. Slingluff will lay out the course to be sailed and arrange for details of sailors in navy motor boats to pick up the models and return them to their youthful skippers after the boats have crossed the finish line. The Lake Forest Sea Scouts and their skipper, Benjamoin Carpenter, will assist the boys in the business of adjusting the main sheets and the tillers so the boats will hold their course.

Rue Winterbotham to Be Bride Today.

Only the relatives and a few close friends will witness the ceremony which will unite in marriage Miss Rue Winterbotham and Alfred P. Shaw this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham of 1301 Astor street.

The Rev. Dr. Duncan Browne will officiate, and the bride's only attendants will be her two little nieces, Theodora and Anne Badger, children of Mr. and Mrs. Shreve Badger [Theodora Winterbotham]. Orville Davies of New York, formerly of Chicago, has come from the east to serve as Mr. Shaw's best man.

Mr. Shaw and his bride are going abroad for a wedding trip and upon their return in about 6 weeks they

Sudden Love

By ELISABETH SANXAY HOLDING

SYNOPSIS.

Esmee Sully spends her forlorn young life between the office, where she is an inefficient typist, and a dismal home. Mrs. Sully loves her three children blindly, but doesn't know how to direct their spiritual or physical needs. Cynthia, the oldest, has been deserted by her husband. Lew, a year older than Esmee, is minding in bad company. Esmee can barely remember the days before her father's death when they had had a cheerful home. Jimmy Considine forces Lew to introduce him to Esmee. Lew warns her she'll make trouble unless she keeps away from Jimmy. She is fascinated by Jimmy's grand manner, but finds him an unmanageable lover. Lew gets in a jam. Esmee promises to get him money. She's afraid to ask Jimmy. She meets Arthur Twining at the home of a former woman employer. He is attentive to Esmee, impressed by her beauty and guilelessness. In her anguish she tells him her troubles and he offers to help. Arthur's roommate is Michael Marriott, a dissipated young playwright, imbued with the futility of life. When Esmee meets him it's love at first sight and she feels his need of her is real. Esmee is late keeping a dinner engagement with Michael because of Jimmy, who threatens trouble. When she gets to Michael's apartment she is met by Twining and Michael's sister, Mrs. Cowley, but no Michael. Returning home she finds Michael waiting for her. He'd been drinking heavily. Esmee takes him home in a cab, but he has no key and can't get in. In desperation she takes him to a hotel and registers as his wife. When she calls the hotel next morning she learns that Michael has checked out. That evening Claire Cowley invites Esmee to dinner and tells her that Michael is engaged.

INSTALLMENT XV.

RIGHTING A WRONG.

It was Esmee's anguish that she had to believe that, had to believe that this fair, quiet girl was honorable and kind.

"It's only that I feel sure the whole thing's just—one of Michael's dramas, Claire. Linnett understands him so well. She can help him so much. She's a year older than Michael. She's been married—a sad marriage for her. She's suffered—and that makes her able to understand better. I think, I really do think, that she's the only one who can save Michael."

"I see," said Esmee.

"You see, you're new," said Claire. "And you're lovely. Any man could lose his head about you. And if you give Michael any encouragement at all, he'll—throw everything away."

"I see," said Esmee, again.

Claire looked, with a frown of distress, at the girl's white face.

"It can't matter terribly, when you've only seen him twice?" she asked.

"That—doesn't make any difference," said Esmee.

"Michael told me that things weren't—very easy for you at home. Won't you let me introduce you to some people I think you'd like? You'd be——" she hesitated. "This is a rather awful thing to say, but Arthur Twining's frightfully smitten with you. And he's one of the best. He begged me to get you out for the week-end. I think if you knew him better——"

"Well—thank you," said Esmee.

Claire rose suddenly and sat down on the arm of Esmee's chair.

"I hope I haven't—hurt you," she said. "I didn't mean to—I didn't want to."

For a moment Esmee's dark head rested on the other girl's shoulder, as if all strength had left her. Then she sat up straight.

"Yes, I see," she said. "Of course it's all just — nothing, anyhow. I mean — Michael's been—been sweet to me, that's all. And I——"

She was thinking, "He hasn't kissed me. He doesn't really care."

Cowley came in then with the cocktails, and presently dinner was brought up by two assiduous waiters. Esmee watched them setting up the table, uncovering dishes. She realized, to the very uttermost, what these two young people had, and what she lacked, their poise, their sureness, and her own terrible insecurity. She had nothing, and she was nothing. A waif, a bit of flotsam, a girl that had pleased Michael for an hour.

She could not eat. Claire and her husband were very kind, but their kindness came to her through a sort of haze; she longed only for the moment when she could get home.

"Michael!" she cried in her heart. "Michael——"

He could at least have telephoned this day, this long, long, long day—just so that she could hear his voice.

Here she must sit, a wretched little marionette, in her paint and her black lace dress. Food was set before her and taken away.

The telephone rang and Claire rose.

"O!" she said, and after a moment's silence turned to Esmee.

"Michael wants to speak to you," she said.

It seemed to Esmee that she could not rise. But she did rise, and she spoke, in a strained, shaky voice.

"Hello, Michael."

"Esmee," he said. "I've got to see you. Come down here, will you?"

"I'm sorry, Michael, but I can't see you any more."

"Esmee," he said again, and his own voice was not steady.

"Esmee—I need you so. Will you come?"

She turned her head. Cowley and Claire were sitting at the table talking quietly to each other. Not listening. Claire trusted her. Claire had told her how Michael was engaged to that Linnett, who could save him.

"Esmee!" he cried. "I need you!"

She met Claire's glance, her cool, honest eyes. Claire trusted her. And Michael needed her.

She had to make her decision. She knew that if she went she would have Claire against her from that moment—and she most terribly longed for Claire's respect and friendship.

But Michael won. As he would always win with her.

"I'll come," she said.

She took a taxi—which she certainly could not afford, and sat back in a corner, not elated now.

"I guess he's been drinking again," she thought, sadly.

There was no resentment in her heart, not against Claire, who had been very cool, certainly not against Michael. She thought of him with unmeasured tenderness. If he made her unhappy, then she must be unhappy. And if he needed her, she would come, always.

"I just bet," she said to herself, with a trembling lip, "that that—Linnett doesn't understand him any better than I do."

She got out of the taxi before the door which haunted her dream, and, running up the steps, rang the bell. Arthur Twining opened the door, with a look on his face that dismayed her. Was he hostile, too? He who had been so kind and friendly?

"Come in!" he said, but before she had reached the sitting room door Michael came into the hall.

"Esmee!" he cried, catching both her hands. "O, God! Darling!"

He had not been drinking. He was very sober, very pale, his face haggard with unhappiness.

"Get out, will you, Twining?" he said. "I've got to talk to Esmee."

Twining turned away with the same austere expression on his face, and Michael very carefully took off Esmee's hat and then absent-mindedly threw it into a corner, helped her off with her coat and threw it on the couch.

"Sit down, Esmee!" he said, indicating a chair.

She sat down there in the high backed armchair. And she was thinking.

"He hasn't kissed me. He doesn't really care."

He stood before her, with his hands in the pockets of his dark gray suit; he stared at her. Then he pushed a cushion behind her neck.

"Look here, Esmee!" he said. "We've got to get married. At once."

"We haven't," she said, vehemently.

"Look here! What you did. It was the—the loveliest thing—Esmee, listen! I was—all right, wasn't I?"

"Yes," she said. "You were all right."

"Swear it?"

"Swear it."

"Well—that was my last drunk," he said. "You needn't believe it until I've proved it. But—O, God! When I think what I let you in for!"

"I didn't mind," said Esmee. "I didn't care. It wasn't anything."

"Why do you talk like that?" he cried. "Don't you love me?"

"O, stop it!" she cried. "It's not—love. You don't know me—and you're engaged to somebody else."

"I'm not," he said.

"Your sister——"

"Look here, Esmee," he said. "This morning, when I waked up, when I read your note—when I realized what I'd done——"

"You haven't done——"

"Look here! As soon as I was fit to do it, Esmee, I went to see Linnett. I told her——"

"Michael! Michael!"

"She understood, Esmee."

Esmee rose.

"If you think," she said, in an unsteady voice. "If you told her. Your sister said you thought you'd—done me a wrong. So now, I suppose you think you've got to——"

He gave a quick, impatient frown.

"This isn't 1860," he said. "I don't look at it that way. It's because I've—failed you. I've betrayed you. I'm older than you—about a hundred years older. I ought to have looked after you. I ought to have made our love a beautiful thing. And I dragged it in the gutter."

Doris Blake Answers

That's Merely an Excuse.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love says he is giving me up because I use lipstick. HONEY."

It must be something else. Where could he get a girl who doesn't use lipstick these days?

Mortification in Order.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend objects to my smoking. I object to his drinking. Please advise. MARIE."

You promise to give up smoking, and he'll give up drinking, and you'll both be better off.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE PLOT CONGEALS

COME ON OUT AWAY FROM THE WOMEN AND I'LL TELL YOU ABOUT IT.
YOU'VE GOT ME GUESSIN'
IT'S THIS WAY. LORA HAS BEEN FALLING HARD FOR A NO-GOOD LIZARD. I HAVE ORDERED HIM TO STAY AWAY FROM THE HOUSE AND FORBIDDEN HER TO SEE HIM.
WHERE DO I COME IN? YOU DON'T WANT ME TO MAKE LOVE TO HER, DO YOU?
BY ALL MEANS NO. BUT I DO WANT YOU TO SHOW UP THIS OTHER WORTHLESS EGG. SHE WON'T BELIEVE ME — BUT YOU CAN CONVINCE HER, SQUINT.
GOSH, WALT, I'M NO HAND WITH THE WIMMIN'.
I—PRIDE MYSELF ON BEING ABLE TO PICK THE RIGHT MAN FOR THE RIGHT PLACE—AND YOU'RE IT.
WHATEVER YOU SAY, WALT. BUT I FEEL ALL SNARLED UP IN MY TIE ROPS ALREADY.

will be at home at 1520 Dearborn parkway.

Among the out of town relatives here for the wedding are the bride's uncle, Joseph Winterbotham of Burlington, Vt., and New York, and Mrs. Winterbotham; her aunt, Mrs. Reynolds of East Orange, N. J.; and her cousins, Mrs. Patrick C. Hill [Genevieve Carpenter] of Fort Worth, Tex., and Mrs. George McKay Schieffelin [Louise Winterbotham] of Bernardsville, N. J., and Mr. Schieffelin.

Miss Winterbotham will wear the lovely white satin gown that "Ginny" Carpenter wore when she was married to Mr. Hill on last Dec. 27 in Burlington. The former Miss Carpenter, daughter of John Alden Carpenter and the late Mrs. Carpenter made the gown herself and so it is a particularly sweet sentiment that prompted her to lend it to her cousin, the namesake of Mrs. Hill's mother, the late Rue Winterbotham Carpenter.

William Clows Wed 50 Years.

Some 300 friends of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow will drop in at their Lake Forest residence today to offer them congratulations on their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The party, which is to be an informal reception, is being given for the senior Clows by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Clow, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas [Martha Clow], and William E. Clow Jr., who will arrive this morning from a visit at Santa Fe, N. M., with Mrs. Clow and their daughter, Miss Francise Clow.

The Junior league of Evanston will present Louise Hunter Windsor [Mrs. Henry Haven Windsor II.] in a concert next Tuesday evening at the Country club of Evanston. Before her marriage Mrs. Windsor was one of the lyric sopranos of the Metropolitan Opera company. Proceeds of the concert will be turned over to the Evanston Associated Charities for the purchase of much needed medical supplies for welfare work.

Mrs. John E. Warner is general chairman of the event and Mrs. John F. Herdic and Mrs. Walter Rompel are assistant chairmen.

Nursery School Benefit Dance.

Miss Adelaide Atkin, Miss Louise Jacobs, Miss Dorothy Dewes, Miss Margaret Hamill, Miss Evelyn Bouscaren, Miss Mary Ellen Prindiville, and Miss Anne Byron Smith will be on hand Friday night at the dance to be given for the benefit of the nursery school of Gad's Hill Center at the Sunset Ridge Country club, to conduct the carnival features that are being planned for the party.

A group of north shore women under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tom E. Hough of Winnetka, is in charge of the dance by which it is hoped a tidy sum will be realized for the nursery school of the settlement which for 34 years has been located at 1919 West 20th street.

The nursery school was started in 1927 and the women who are interested in it feel that it is doing a splendid work for the children of the southwest side.

The children are brought into the school on the recommendation of the Visiting Nurses and are all from families supported by organized charity or under court jurisdiction. Nourshing food, cod liver oil, decent clothes, rest, training in habits of cleanliness, harmonious surroundings and joyous play help to train these underprivileged children for citizenship.

The Chicago Smith College club will hold its annual spring meeting at a luncheon on Friday in the directors' room of the Century of Progress Administration building. Smith Alumnae in all parts of the country are showing interest in the World's Fair of 1933, and a discussion of plans for a display to be carried out under the direction of the Chicago club will be led on Friday by the president, Mrs. L. Sherman Aldrich of Winnetka. The nomination of Mrs. Edwin O. Griffenhagen and Mrs. A. H. Barber for vice president and treasurer respectively will be presented for approval at a short business session before the luncheon.

News Notes of Interest.

Notes of interest: Mr. and Mrs. A. Wallace Owen have taken a cottage at Geneva, N. Y., for the summer. Young Wallace, who is just back from preparatory school at Aiken, will be with them.

Mrs. Winterbotham Buchanan will be at Sugar Hill in the White mountains until the end of July and then she will go abroad for the rest of the summer.

The John R. Winterbothams and their young son, Johnny, will spend the month of July at Gratiot Washburne's ranch in Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Noyes and their popular daughter, Miss Florence Noyes, have left the Ambassador and are at the Chicago Golf club in Wheaton until they move back into their apartment at 1242 Lake Shore drive about June 10.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely sailed on the Europa last Friday for her annual summer trip to Europe.

The former Beatrice Ripley and her husband, Frank A. Baker Jr., announce the birth of a daughter, Janie Rea, on May 24 at the Evanston hospital.

The James R. Addingtons are being congratulated on the birth of a son last Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital. The baby has been named Keene Harwood Addington for its late paternal grandfather. Mr. and Mrs. Addington, who have an apartment at 220 East Pearson street, will have a house in Lake Forest for July and August. Mrs. Addington is the former Sarah Wood.

The former Anne Wood and her husband, Edwin E. Tullis, and their two children are spending the summer with her parents, Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, in Highland Park, and the former Frances Wood and her husband, Calvin Fentress Jr., are dividing their time between the Woods' residence and the senior Fentresses' place in Hubbard Woods.

The Albert B. Deweys Jr. announce the birth of a son at the Woman's hospital in New York yesterday morning.

Mrs. Alice Peck Curtis of Rochester, N. Y., is a house guest of the James Ransom Walkers at Fair Acres, Stockbridge, Mass. Mrs. William G. Gridley of New York is expected to arrive there on Friday for a visit with the Walkers, and Mrs. Walker's sister, Mrs. David Shields Cook Jr., will arrive at Stockbridge next Monday to spend two months with them.

Mrs. Henry Holt Visits Cousins.

Mrs. Henry C. Holt of Boston [the former Elizabeth Gray of Chicago] has been here for a week's visit with her cousins, Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze of the Webster hotel. Col. and Mrs. Pelouze will go to their summer place at Lake Geneva on June 9, but they will keep their town apartment open during the conventions. They are delaying the opening of their country estate until their daughter, Miss Medora, finishes the current term at the University School for Girls.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Noyes of 70 Cedar street, who have been traveling for a month in the east, are in New York City this week and are expected to return to Chicago next Sunday or Monday.

On Tuesday, June 14, the opening day of the Republican convention, Patrick Hurley, secretary of war, and Mrs. Hurley will be guests of the Woman's National Republican club of Chicago at a dinner at the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Clyde L. Day, treasurer, is in charge of reservations.

Color Feature of McCormick Portrait Show

BY EDMUND GIESBERT.

[Instructor in the department of art, the University of Chicago, and member of the faculty of the Art institute. He has won, among other prizes, the Logan medal (1928).]

Lightness of spirit and vivacity of approach give a refreshing note to the exhibition of portraits and paintings by Amy Irwin McCormick which is now current at the Chester H. Johnson galleries.

Possessor of a fine and discriminating collection of modern art, Mrs. McCormick recently has become again interested in creative work following a long period of inactivity, and the present exhibition represents her efforts of the last six months. But this exhibition is no over-reaching or amateurish effort, for Mrs. McCormick, trained by such capable teachers as Whistler and Sorolla, has achieved decidedly beautiful passages in many of the canvases.

Her interest lies obviously in the field of portraiture, but inasmuch as many of the paintings are very sketchily and quickly done, we cannot expect the usual qualities of portraiture as we commonly think of that term. I refer here to the only too usual academic portrait, stripped of all real value except a likeness that makes it no better than a photograph.

Mrs. McCormick has concerned herself with worth while ambitions, and we find a subtle quality of background in relationship to figure as well as refined arrangements of color.

Still somewhat under the influence of Sorolla, hers is a rather impressionistic outlook, dependent on light and color sensations. Sometimes this goes to the extreme of sacrificing form, as, for instance, with the "Girl at the Table," in which the yellow in the hair and forehead does much to mitigate the sense of volume.

On the other hand, we have canvases which might be called signposts of the future, and in which we can feel a subtle change and a more personal outlook. I am thinking particularly of the small head of Miss Katharine Cornell, the actress, and the portrait of Dr. Arthur A. Small. The former is lovely in color and simple in statement with the exception of the lower part of the face, which strikes me as having been given a trifle too much emphasis.

In spite of a slight lack of clarity in the relationships of values, the portrait of Dr. Small is firm and full of vitality. The force of the sitter's personality is brought out, and the background recedes beautifully. We have another distinguished color scheme and fine characterization in the charming portrait of Mrs. Howard J. Cunningham.

A refreshing sort of thing is the large group picture of Joseph Medill and his grandchildren, which represents an unusual and courageous experiment on the part of the painter, whose only guide was a small photograph. Much of the quaintness of the original is preserved in the painting. The artist has met with unusual success the problem of translating the photograph into color by the device of holding to a simple theme in which the umbers predominate to give a sense of unity. This refinement in use of color, together with the naïveté of the subject, is most disarming and makes one overlook a lack of academic draftsmanship.

In all of the paintings is a fine, sensitive quality of color and a lightness of touch which is rare among painters. If this exhibition is the product of the last six months, we can surely look with anticipation toward the future.

Mate Snatcher Complains of an Enemy Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 28, always considered to have some brains, which I'm now beginning to doubt. For a year and a half now I have been seeing a man constantly. Probably you've guessed it. Yes, he's married. And has two children.

"I know he does not care about his wife, but he cannot seem to get enough money together to get a divorce. She runs bills everywhere on him, and although he makes good money he has to pay out every cent of it on debts. He says we are to be married when he can manage it, but I am growing impatient.

"His wife won't let him alone. She watches him all the time. His two boys have a hold on him, of course. Do you think if I let the man alone for a while it would bring him to his senses and make him get a divorce?

"UNHAPPY."

A smart wife, I call that woman! Keeping the man broke is just the right and proper system with some husbands. This woman knows her man and bases her actions on that knowledge.

Why shouldn't she go out and run up bills if it is going to mean preventing an outsider from capturing her man? Why shouldn't she keep an eye on him if she wants him for herself and for the boys? If more women put up that spirit, there'd be a lot less philandering among women like you, "Unhappy."

Wives go down too easily under threatened defeat. They would do better to throw their false pride and their injured feelings to the winds and fight for their position. Especially now that this business of husband snatching has become such a popular sport among certain types of girls, wives would do well to show grit and determination in holding on to what is rightfully theirs.

Believe it, these same girls do not hesitate to use every weapon at their command to attain their ends. Why shouldn't the privilege be extended to wives.

"Sauces are to cookery what grammar is to language and melody is to music." So said Carême de Soyer, a famous old-time chef and a master in the art of making ravishing somethings out of next to nothings—with the magic of sauces. And so say we all today. For one thing that modern cookery is teaching us is that complicated, expensive dishes are bad taste, and that simple foods simply cooked—and given verve and character with well chosen flavorings and sauces, are the real aristocrats of the kitchen.

But one loud, long word of warning before you dash kitchenwards to smother the dinner in spices and herbs. The mission of a sauce is to enhance and complement the flavor of the food—not to hide it.

The ancient Romans forgot this important fact and became such sauce enthusiasts that even the most critical epicure was baffled in deciding just what he was really eating. Goose was made to taste like fish, pork like partridge, and tunny like veal! The French, not to be outdone, tell of one noted chef who claimed to have prepared a delicious ragout from—a leathern glove! "But the sauce! That is my secret, my work of art, my glory," declared this juggler of flavors.

You may have wondered just where sauces leave off and gravies begin. One authority suggests that gravies are meat juices seasoned but not thickened, while sauces are meat, vegetable, or fruit juices seasoned, thickened, and served cold or hot over the dish to be sauced. Now what foods shall we dignify and flatter with sauces—and what variety of sauce shall we use? Here is an answer in tabloid form which you may like to clip for your files:

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE—ET AL.

Roast lamb—Mint sauce, lemon rind sauce.

Roast beef—Horseradish cream, tomato catsup.

Roast goose—Apple sauce, stewed gooseberries.

Roast pork—Apple sauce, quince sauce.

Liver—Tomato sauce.

Heart—Horseradish cream.

For cold meats, interesting combinations may be made with chutney, currant, cranberry, horseradish, mint and apple sauces. Hot meats call for olive, mushroom, apple, and tomato accompaniments, varied with the many other sauces that individual tastes have leanings toward.

Puddings and frozen desserts give us more chances to ring in sauces. Jelly, banana, apricot, apple, chocolate, custard, strawberry—there's simply no end to the pleasant possibilities for sweet sauces with which to dress up the simple dessert. We seem to have a rather unusual stock of sauce recipes in our files and will be most happy to send any of them to you on your request.

EGG SAUCE FOR FRIED SALMON.

Beat one egg until lemon colored and stir into it slowly one cup of thin white sauce, slightly cooled after cooking. Add one chopped, hard-cooked egg, one-fourth cup minced parsley, three tablespoons of butter, and salt, pepper and cayenne to season. Simmer ten minutes and serve over fish.

Year Old Baby Is Too Young to Discipline

Parent Should Guide Him, Instead.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Question: "Could you tell me how to discipline a baby of 13 months from just striking any one in the face with his hand, especially his 3 year old sister? He just seems to be playing and will slap with his hand for nothing. Also, advise me when the baby has some object that he should not have and does not wish to give it up without a fuss. And how to teach him not to touch objects in the room. And when visiting what to do when he runs from room to room and touches what he wants to."

Answer: Babies the age of yours often go through this slapping performance. There is usually nothing to do except protect the other child and give the baby plenty of outlet for his energy. Slapping a face at this age is no more to him than slapping a table—only more fun! They don't realize that they are hurting.

When we want babies this age to give things up we can often teach them with gentleness, but more often we provide something of greater interest and substitute it. We do not discipline babies of a year—we guide them.

You must not try to teach a year old baby not to touch anything, but instead train his sense of touch. Our booklet, "Don't Touch," will tell you how to do this. When you go visiting take the baby's favorite playthings with you. Even so he may run around a little, especially now when he is just learning the power of locomotion and speed. Don't visit fussy people and remember that he is a baby.

If intelligently reared he won't embarrass you much! I think some fundamental ideas on child management would help you a great deal to avoid difficulties. We have booklets on the subject.

Question: "My little boy of 5 is intelligent and loving but cannot keep a promise even though he will earnestly make one. This distresses me because I want him to grow up to be a man of his word. What can I do?"

Answer: Promises at any age should be charily given and accepted, but when given should be kept. So, at 5 it is best to steer clear of them. Truthfulness we can expect but expecting a child to make absolute promises and keep them is not a wise procedure at 5. When a thing is important enough and a child can be expected to consciously do or not do something, we can say in a serious way, "Will you try very hard to remember this or that?"

If the members of a child's family always keep their word and their promises to him he will be almost certain to pattern after them, if he receives friendly and intelligent guidance in general.

If you could see this adorable youngster in real life, you'd be attracted immediately to the exquisite texture of her skin . . . Smooth as the velvetiest rose petal, it is the pink of perfection—and very kissable!

What is her secret? It's as simple as A-B-C. Or perhaps, we should say "Z. B. T." For that is the name of the pure, smooth, snowy-white powder which rains down every day on her precious little body...Z. B. T. Baby Talcum!

Her doctor told her nurse, and her nurse told her mother that Z. B. T. is the very best health and beauty treatment for an infant's delicate skin. If you should ask your doctor, he'd say that this very same Z. B. T. is perfect for grown-ups, too!

For Z. B. T. is a mildly medicated compound talc that not only soothes the skin, but heals, as well! Free from lime, mica or any other irritant, Z. B. T. contains a special ingredient which absorbs moisture, neutralizes acids, and guards against infection.

Your druggist or chain store sells Z. B. T. in three sizes—50c, 25c and 10c. Reject substitutes! Get a can of Z. B. T. today and test it yourself. Or, if you prefer, mail the coupon with 4 cents to cover postage and we will gladly send you a full-size "Junior" can.

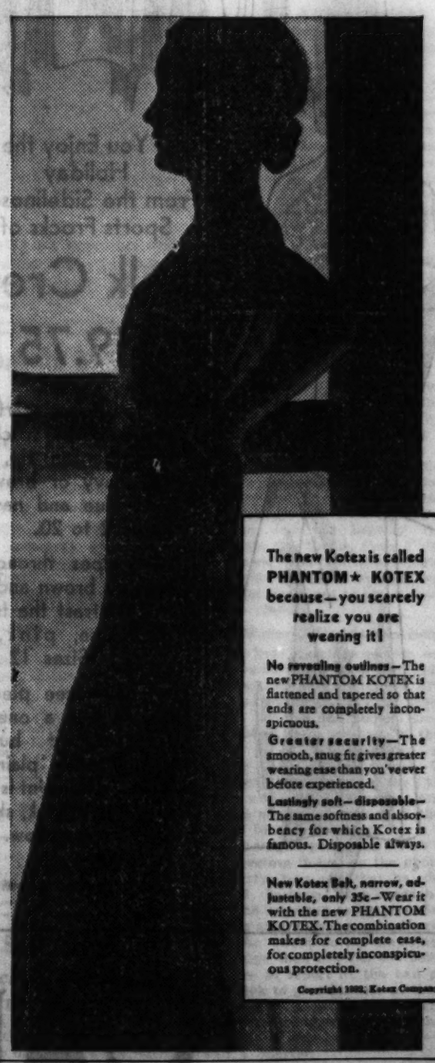
Strikingly, Radically New Phantom★ Kotex
SANITARY NAPKIN (U. S. Pat. No. 1,857,854)

Most important improvement in sanitary protection since the invention of Kotex itself in 1920.



AT LAST! A radically new design in sanitary protection. You are scarcely aware that you have it on. Made, of course, by Kotex—originators of the modern sanitary napkin.

It is called PHANTOM ★ KOTEX. Why? Because the ends are so flattened and tapered that it leaves no outlines even under the closest-fitting of gowns. Not the slightest bulk suggested even under the filmiest of summer silks. And—for those who require extra protection—Super-Phantom Kotex is ideal. There's extra protective surface but the ends are so skilfully flattened as to be completely inconspicuous.

Kotex features retained

The special Kotex features you have always appreciated are retained, of course. It is soft after hours of use; wonderfully absorbent; treated to deodorize; can be worn, with equal protection, on either side; disposable, easily.

Insist upon getting genuine Kotex, when you buy it already wrapped. Each tapered end of the new pad is stamped "Kotex" now—so you can't get inferior substitutes.

Kotex prices are today the lowest in Kotex history. This new improvement comes to you at no increase in price. All dealers have the new PHANTOM KOTEX.

The new Kotex is called PHANTOM★ KOTEX because—you scarcely realize you are wearing it!

No revealing outlines—The new PHANTOM KOTEX is flattened and tapered so that ends are completely inconspicuous.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The 23 year old Lon Warneke is off on another winning spree. Nobody less than the world champion Cardinals fell under his pitching magic yesterday, and the lad from Arkansas, aided by a belated rally on the part of his Cub mates, turned in a brilliant 3 to 1 victory for his second in a row. It also was his seventh in nine starts, during which he has hurled 86 innings without being relieved. The various enemies he has encountered can boast of scoring only 25 runs off him in that time, and more than a few of these were unearned.

Warneke had quite a problem on his hands in the person of Jesse Haines, who is as old as the Cub star is young. The veteran gave up only seven hits, one more than Warneke surrendered, but he didn't have the skill of his freshman adversary in escaping trouble. The Cubs bunched two of their drives for a run in the fifth just after the Cards had picked up their only tally. And in the eighth Bill Jurges, Johnny Moore, and Billy Herman bunched three others to shatter a deadlock that seemed destined to go on indefinitely.

Jurges Starts Winning Thrust.

The honor of touching off the first blast under Haines' house of hopes went to Jurges, who previously had assisted in the work of getting Riggs Stephenson home with the first Cub run. Jurges opened the eighth with a drive past third and Gilbert slowed it down sufficiently to keep it from being a double. Warneke fanned trying to bunt. Moore then stepped into the breach with a whistling two bagger to right center, Jurges tearing around to the plate. Warneke could have won on that run, but for good measure Herman slammed a single over second and Moore registered. The rally died immediately.

Among the achievements of Warneke were five strikeouts and control which was so excellent that only one enemy guest walked. Two of the five whiffs were hung around the neck of George Watkins, one in the first and the other in the ninth. In each instance the Card clouter was shouldering his arms when the third strike zoomed over. Jim Wilson also was the victim of strikes in the ninth and Harvey Hendrick closed the eighth in the same fashion. That gave the Cub pitching notable three strikeouts among the last four men.

Hit Warneke in First.

Until Warneke was frisked for a run he furnished the champions with quite an impressive exhibition of pitching. He restricted them to two hits in four innings. Both of these occurred with one out in the first. Martin singled to center and tore for third on Hendrick's single to right. Collins bounced to Grimm, who bluffed Martin back to third and then touched Collins as he came charging down the

Mrs. Cheney Only American Survivor in British Golf

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAUNTON, England, May 31.—The four Americans who were eliminated from the British women's golf championship at Saunton yesterday went out today to help make up a gallery which witnessed the defeat of two more. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare and Miss Virginia Van Wie were beaten today, and of the original 13 only Mrs. Leona Pressler Cheney is left to try for the one golf championship of any importance that no American woman has ever held.

MRS. L. P. CHENEY.

Mrs. Vare played two matches. She won in the morning from Mrs. John Challen of Blackwell, 5 and 4, but was beaten in the afternoon by Enid Wilson, defending champion, 4 and 3. Miss Van Wie was defeated by Susie Tolhurst, plump Australian champion, on a fluke 19th hole at the end of the morning round, taking eight strokes to finish a par three hole.

Both Roll Dead On.

Mrs. Vare's half with Enid Wilson at the par four ninth hole, where both took threes and Miss Van Wie's finish furnished two holes which will not be seen again in a major championship in a decade. The ninth is 386 yards long. Both Mrs. Vare and her opponent put their seconds off the green into dunes but both rolled dead on. Mrs. Vare a yard away and Miss Wilson little more than two feet. Both sunk their putts.

Miss Van Wie's fatal hole was the biggest freak ever seen in any championship. There is no record of any golfer taking five over par in international competition. She used a driver from the tee and then a mid-iron, niblick and putter in getting from a hollow onto the green in six where she needed two more to get down. Miss Tolhurst was little better for she took a six on the hole to defeat the Chicago golfer.

This afternoon Mrs. Cheney beat Doris Park, Scotch challenger, 1 up, after a seesaw match in which the American was 2 up at the turn but never far enough ahead for comfort. They were even twice during the second nine.

Seven others are left with Mrs. Cheney in the fourth and semi-final round tomorrow. Mrs. Cheney plays Beryl Brown, several times semi-finalist, tomorrow morning. If she wins, she plays the victor of the morning match between Enid Wilson and Kathleen Garnham. With the semi-finalists is Wanda Morgan, English native champion, but the rest are unknowns who have reached the final stages while the stars were falling.

Miss Wilson Always Ahead.

The winner of the Cheney-Wilson match, if they meet, is likely to be the champion. Otherwise Miss Wilson has an apparently clear path to retain her title. No one except Wanda Morgan in the upper half of the draw is able to hit near the present holder.

Mrs. Vare never led Miss Wilson at any stage of the game. The champion was far superior on the greens and outdrove Mrs. Vare from 10 to 20 yards on every hole. Miss Wilson was out in 37, with only two fives on her card, and one of these won a hole. Mrs. Vare took 41.

This morning Mrs. Cheney downed Jean Hamilton, who beat Maureen Orcutt yesterday, 4 and 3.

Michigan Star Who Lost in '05 to U.C. Suicide

Salem, Ore., May 31.—[Special.]—Denny Clark, the man "who lost the Michigan-Chicago football game in 1905," which the Maroon won, 2 to 0, lost another battle today when after a period of despondency he shot himself. Clark, whose full name was William Dennison Clark, left an air mail letter to his wife, Mrs. W. D. Clark of New York City, written while in San Francisco April 18 but never mailed. He was 47 years old.

In his letter Clark, the man "who lost the Chicago game," said his act was "not cowardice, but the very hardest thing I ever did."

"Failed in Everything," He Says.

"Also I have tried everything else desperately and without success," he added.

In the Chicago-Michigan game of 1905 each team was on the qui vive for a mistake on the part of its opponent after they had battled scoreless for more than 50 minutes. Almost at the very end of the second half that mistake occurred. It was made by Clark, the Michigan half back. The late Walter Eckersall, quarter back for the Maroons, made an unusually long punt over the Michigan goal line, and Clark, believing he could run the ball out successfully, made the attempt.

He had just crossed the goal line when Badenoch of the Maroons tackled him. He struggled forward a step and Catlin, the Chicago captain and end, joined Badenoch. With a mighty effort they swung Clark back over the goal, forcing him to a safety and deciding the game.

Never Explained Play.

Clark, according to documentary evidence found in his effects, had never given an explanation of his reason for not touching the ball down for a touchback, but denied, as stated in an article in the Saturday Evening Post, written in 1926 by Coach Alonzo Stagg of the University of Chicago, that he vanished overnight "from Ann Arbor because conditions at the university became intolerable."

Instead of "vanishing" Clark said he returned to his home in Detroit the day after the game and went back to the university following the Thanksgiving holidays, where he remained until April, at which time he left to take up special work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

While Clark always assumed responsibility for the loss of the game, he had felt that the article impugned the sportsmanship of the university and himself, which he always resented.

Orwell Choice to Win English Derby Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EPSOM DOWNS, England, May 31.—Twenty-two three year olds will face the barrier tomorrow in the 153d running of the English Derby. Tonight, with a fast track, Orwell, remained the favorite to win the classic.

Orwell, property of W. M. G. Singer, heir to the Singer Sewing Machine millions, who has spent year after year on the English turf seeking a championship in the Epsom Downs Derby, the greatest fixture in all England, was quoted at 2 to 1 in the betting today.

Rain, which was forecast, would ruin Singer's chances of winning the championship he has sought for many years. A fast track and the distance is to Orwell's liking. He has won several races over the mile and is ready to go through the mile and one-half in tomorrow's race.

A late scratch brought the field down to twenty-two today when J. A. De War withdrew his Sunnyborough. He thus eliminated all chances of duplicating the feat of last year when De War's Cameronian won the classic.

America's hopes of capturing the English Derby are on Orwell, Totaig, owned by Victor Emanuel, and Richard Croker's Corey, and Celebrator, which are not the choice of many English turf fans. Both are rank outsiders in the betting and are given little chance.

Second in the betting is Miracle, owned by Lord Roseberry, which is quoted at 100 to 9. Other favorites are Dastur, owned by Aga Khan; Hesperus, owned by M. M. Boussac, April The Fifth, owned by T. Walls and Lord Woolavington's Cockpen.

Only one horse in the entire field has won a race over the Epsom Downs course. He is Royal Dancer, property of E. Esmond, which in the late betting tonight was at 66 to 1.

Tonight another huge crowd was beginning to make its way toward the course. The king and queen and other members of the royal family were preparing to visit the track and witness the Derby.

Cleveland, O., May 31.—The White Sox, pretty sore about one thing and another, today terrified the Cleveland Indians to the degree that the Chicagoans were able to win the first of their seven 1932 starts in this beautiful capital of Cuyahoga county. The score was Sox, 6; Indians, 5.

Ted Lyons, who was pretty much of a dud as a peacemaker in Monday's little riot to help Umpire Moriarty to his feet, was touched for 13 hits and was distressed considerably by the poor fielding of Carey Selph and Red Kress, but he had the heart and the temper to stand off the inevitable ninth inning rally one point short of a tie.

They Nearly Lost Again.

In the final inning Porter was safe on Kress' fumble, then Selph drew his third error for dropping Cissell's foul. Ted braced to strike out Cissell, but Averill knocked out his No. 9 homer, scoring Porter ahead of him. Vosmik flied to Hodapp, but Morgan beat out a grounder to Selph. The game ended when Hayes threw out Myatt.

It really wasn't such a hot ball game, errors figuring in all four of the scoring innings and the players generally showing the evidences of expecting Umpire Moriarty to run out on the premises with a machine gun or something. But it was a victory in Cleveland and a victory in Cleveland for the Sox is a glorious matter.

Selph Scored First.

The first run of the game was scored by Selph in the fourth inning. Carey got on on Montague's fumble, went to third on a single by Blue, and scored on an infield out.

In the fifth the Indians busted through for a 3 to 1 lead. Montague and Brown singled with one down and Porter walked, filling the bases. Cissell sent an easy double play towards Selph, but the young man cuffed it, Montague scoring and the bases remaining full. Averill fouled to Grube, but Vosmik singled to left, scoring Brown and Porter. Morgan walked, again filling the bases, but Lyons threw out Myatt.

One Big Splurge Wins.

The Sox wound up their scoring maneuvers with one big splurge in the sixth. With one out Kress doubled, then Blue walked. Vosmik fell down and Hodapp's liner went over him for a double, Kress scoring and Blue stopping at third. Fothergill was given an intentional pass to fill the bases, then Grube's grounder got through Morgan, Blue and Hodapp scoring, Fothergill taking third and Grube reaching second. Lyons singled to right, scoring Fothergill and Grube, the latter with what proved to be the winning run. Funk and Hayes were infield outs.

Then came the near blowup in the ninth.

PUTTING TOGETHER FIGHT FACTS

Poor Moriarty, He's Slipping; Was Pretty Good Fighter Once

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 31.—Any one who knew George Moriarty, the American league umpire, when he was in his prime as a free style fighter, will be certain to experience a feeling of sadness—nostalgia is the magazine word for it—on reading that he lost a fight to four members of the White Sox in Cleveland.

This looks like the final crack-up of a grand old man, because when Mr. Moriarty was really good, anything less than a full lineup was considered to be no contest for him. Once when he was going to fight a ball club, the pitcher did not show up so the bout was postponed on his own demand.

"I do not want anybody to say that I picked on you when you did not have your full strength," Mr. Moriarty said. "The Moriartys believe in fair play and I refuse to take advantage of your weakness."

Now, however, at the age of 47, he gets into a social quarrel with four members of the White Sox, and not all of them regulars, either, and they show him up as nothing but a venerable hollow shell. The fact that he broke his right hand knocking out his first man is not very comforting, either, because this was less than half a ball club that he was fighting and the other hand should have been more than enough.

He Must Be Slipping.

In fact, under the old Moriarty ratio he could have been disqualified at the very start for using both hands on four men, unless it can be shown that the four were using ball bats on him, although even that would be a doubtful parity in the case of the White Sox, who are no great hitters. Altogether it looks as though the years had softened up Mr. Moriarty and the time may be approaching when he will be reduced to fighting singles, which would be very humiliating to a man who used to go around the country fighting little contests which were advertised in placards reading, "Pleasure fight; town hall tonight; George Moriarty vs. Teamsters' union."

The reports of the contest under the Cleveland grandstand are rather ambiguous, but it is to be hoped further investigation will show Mr. Moriarty was misquoted when he was reported to have said to the White Sox, "I will fight the whole team of you, one at a time." The "one at a time" clause was not characteristic, and I believe that when the testimony is in it will be shown that what he really said was, "I will fight the whole team of you at one time." In the confusion it probably was very difficult to get the story straight, but a little slip like that in the reporting of the affair might give Moriarty grounds for a serious libel suit. The Moriartys are a proud lot and sensitive of their good name.

Unfortunately, George does not

Moriarty Cited for Neglect of Duty.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 31.—President William Harridge of the American league tonight announced the fines and suspensions assessed against Manager Lew Fonseca, Coach Johnny Butler and three White Sox players for their part in the brawl with Umpire Moriarty after yesterday's Chicago-Cleveland doubleheader. Moriarty was let down with a "severe reprimand for his neglect of duty."

Pitcher Milton Gaston, who was knocked down three times by Moriarty, was fined $500 and suspended for ten days.

Manager Fonseca, who testified that he struck no blows but was in the melee, was fined $500.

Catcher Charley Berry, whose arguments with Moriarty during the second game precipitated the later trouble, was fined $250.

Catcher Frank Grube, who testified he merely had tried to assist Gaston and Moriarty to their feet, was fined $100.

Butler in Preliminary "Bout."

Coach Butler was suspended for five days without pay for his actions and profane language addressed to Moriarty just before the main bout went on.

President Harridge announced the punitive actions in a formal statement which he issued at 10 o'clock tonight following a series of investigations after his arrival from New York. The statement:

"During my twenty-one years in baseball I have no recollection of an incident such as occurred after the second game of the Memorial day doubleheader between the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland club in the city of Cleveland.

Aims to Prevent Recurrence.

"After making a thorough study of the umpire's report, consulting with officials and players of the Chicago club and officials of the Cleveland club, I have come to the following conclusions, so as to eliminate, if possible, a recurrence of the affair.

"The following penalties have been imposed:

"Pitcher Milton Gaston is suspended for ten days and fined $500.

"Manager Lew Fonseca is fined $500.

"Catcher Berry is fined $250.

"Catcher Grube is fined $100.

"Umpire George Moriarty has been severely reprimanded for his neglect of duty on the ball field.

"The umpire's report indicates that Pitcher Gaston was the only player actually involved in the fisticuffs.

"I am convinced that if the other players penalized had been a little more alert they could, to a great degree have prevented what happened.

No Appeal—Grabiner.

"Coach Butler is suspended for five days without pay for his actions and use of profane language to Umpire Moriarty during the second game."

Harry Grabiner, White Sox vice president, who had rushed here to advise and support his players during the investigation, heard the announcement shortly after its issuance.

"There will be no appeal from the action," he said. "The players accept the decision without comment."

It was indicated from other sources, however, that while some of the players had expected punishment, they also had been confident that Moriarty also would suffer something more substantial than a "severe reprimand."

The ball players and Moriarty did not face each other during the course of the Harridge hearings.

The Sox at 10:30 o'clock this morning held a club meeting with Secretary Grabiner. Later it was announced it practically was agreed that no one really had struck Moriarty, but that the players who were said to have swarmed about him merely were seeking to aid the official after he had slipped while sparring with Gaston. At the hearing the Sox repeated this theme, though all frankly stated that Moriarty would have received his just dues if what he thought happened to him actually had taken place.

Moriarty Unable to Attend.

The first Harridge session was held in a hotel adjacent to the Union station within a few minutes after the league president's arrival from New York. All the Sox players present at the melee were waiting in the hotel lobby when Mr. Harridge arrived. Owner Alva Bradley and General Manager Billy Evans of the Cleveland club and Bill Dinneen, American league umpire, also were on the scene ahead of Mr. Harridge.

The league president before calling the meeting talked on the phone with Moriarty, who said that he could not attend because of a headache, but that he expected to umpire the bases in this afternoon's game. He was told that he would do no umpiring. Mr. Harridge then ordered the belligerent umpire to report at the ball park at 2 o'clock to give his side of the brawl. Moriarty was on hand as ordered and submitted to questioning in the presence of a stenographer for an hour and a quarter.

Moriarty returned to the hospital tonight to have the broken bone in his right hand set. He will not work in the final game of the series here tomorrow, Mr. Harridge said.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A track record was smashed into a couple of thousand pieces when Hillsborough, owned by Mr. Abraham Bartelstein of our Rogers Park territory, won the South Side purse at Washington Park yesterday afternoon.

Hillsborough skipped over the seven furlongs in 1:24, which clipped a fifth of a second off the record made by Chicago three years ago. It was a sensational race, for in the early part of it, while Hillsborough was running last, the noted Pansy Walker ran a half mile out of the chute down the back stretch straightaway in 45 4-5 seconds.

Pay Off Is $8.18.

Few half miles have ever been run any faster, and maybe Pansy shouldn't have turned on such early speed, for when Hillsborough got ready to challenge less than a furlong from home, Pansy was no match for him. She had nothing left and Sun Dot ran on past her to grab second money.

There had been quite a plunge on Hillsborough. In the opening wagering he was at 8 to 1, but the price against him was driven down and down until he was at 3 to 1 at post time. He wound up by paying $8.18 for a two dollar ticket.

Jockey Maiben was in the pilot house on Hillsborough.

Big Day for Rogers Park.

Pansy Walker, with everything taken out of her by the swift early pace, was struggling along in third place, a length and a half back of Sundot. All the folks from Rogers Park gave Hillsborough a mighty cheer. For all of them had been betting on him.

The winning streak of Trinchera, from the Waggoner's Three D Stable, which had extended over a long period of time and included six victories in a row, was ended in the Sherman Hotel purse when Marmion from the Coldstream Stud beat him by two lengths.

He had never been asked to go a mile before, and the distance was too great. He forced a terrific early pace, in which six furlongs were run in 1:10 2-5, then began to wilt and, with Marmion moving up in resolute style on the outside, he soon was conquered.

Marmion May Be Heard From.

Marmion has always been highly regarded. They thought he would be a great 2 year old last season and at times he gave promise of fulfilling those hopes. This year Marmion was made eligible to all the great stake races for 3 year olds. He won in Maryland not long ago and came on to score here yesterday. Maybe he will have something to say in the American Derby, the Classic and the other 3 year old fixtures which are to follow.

There was a plunge on him yesterday, and from an opening price of 12 to 1 the odds were driven down until he paid only $10.72 to win.

McAtee Gets Evening for Illinois Oaks

Jockey Pony McAtee is coming on from New York to ride Evening in the Illinois Oaks on Saturday at Washington Park. It will be McAtee's first saddle engagement here in several seasons. Tony Pascuma is also coming from the east to ride Suntica.

Suntica, which has the Kentucky Oaks to her credit, never has been much of a work mare. Prefers to show her speed in the afternoon when there is a prize at stake. Yet she went a mile and an eighth handily at Washington Park yesterday in 1:57 after stepping the mile in 1:43.

Albert Sabath's Oaks candidate, I Say, will get her final tuning up for the $10,000 race in the Kensington purse at 7 furlongs, which features today's program. Looks like she ought to win it without much trouble.

War Saint, running in cheap selling races not many months ago, is one of the sensations of the Chicago season. He has six victories in a row to his credit and may go on to even greater things. He is fashionably bred, his sire, St. James, holding the record for the Belmont Futurity. Looks like War Saint suddenly decided to be a good boy and do some real running.

The lightest jockey in the Washington Park colony is Eugene Wilburn, from Gallatin, Tenn., under contract to Bob Gilmore. The kid can scale 65 pounds. Looks like his red hair and freckles would weigh almost that much. Gilmore thinks he is going to make a great rider some day.

Miss Purray, juvenile daughter of Purchase-Auray, owned by the Tranquility Farm and winner of her only three starts, including the Victoria stakes at Woodbine last week, was a supplementary nomination for the Hyde Park stakes, Arlington Park feature, it was announced yesterday. It cost $200 to enter at this time. She could have been nominated for $50 on March 15.

If you've got a horse which you think can win one of those rich stakes at Arlington Park, better nominate him before midnight tonight. Entries for the 21 minor stakes worth from $2,500 to $5,000 close at that hour. It is also the deadline for making supplementary entries for the seven major stakes, which will have a gross value of about $225,000. There is to be a stake a day during the Arlington meeting.

Wonder if that spill which Jockey Charley King took in yesterday's fourth race will check his sensational career? Rosie, a field horse, threw him soon after the start and the ambulance was out to carry him back to the emergency hospital room. He was badly shaken up but not severely injured. But it was the first fall King ever has experienced.

BELMONT RESULTS.

BRAVES SALVAGE LAST GAME FROM GIANTS, 7 TO 2

Knothe's Homer in Fourth Scores Winning Runs.

Boston, Mass., May 31.—[Special.]—Ed Brandt and Fritz Knothe saved the final game of the series for the Braves today and Boston beat the Giants, 7 to 2. The Giants were held to four hits by Brandt, who won his sixth game of the season. Knothe sent home the winning runs with a homer in the fourth. Knothe's triple also drove in a run in the sixth. Hal Schumacher was hit hard by the Braves, but he stayed until the eighth when he gave way to a pinch batter.

Ray Miller Signs to Box Johnny Datto

Ray Miller, Chicago lightweight contender, signed yesterday to box Johnny Datto at Pittsburgh Wednesday. Larry Johnson, local heavyweight, and Maxie Rosenbloom, recognized as light heavyweight champion in New York, meet on the same card. Miller has started training at the Arcade gymnasium.

Billy Petrolle and Tommy Grogan of Omaha are matched at Pittsburgh June on 15.

Eddie Shea, Chicago junior lightweight, and Santiago Zorilla battle at Akron, O., next Thursday. Shea will begin workouts this afternoon. Mike Collins, Minneapolis promoter, has set June 19 as the date for the contemplated match between Eddie and Tommy Paul, featherweight champion.

King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, left last night for Reno, Nev., where he boxes Max Baer of San Francisco July 4. The Levinsky group expect to arrive in Los Angeles Friday. From there they will go to San Francisco. They will leave San Francisco Monday or Tuesday for Reno, where the King will establish training quarters. Baer is in Reno. Jerry [The Greek] Luvadis, Jack Dempsey's trainer, will condition Levinsky. Dempsey is promoting the show.

Mickey Walker probably will fight Johnny Risko at Cleveland June 10, according to Jack Kearns, Walker's manager. Walker was scheduled to meet Risko at Cleveland early last month, but an attack of boils forced Mickey to cancel the contest. Tuffy Griffith is willing to meet Walker at the Chicago Stadium, June 24. Kearns is expected to sign this week for the match.

Who's Who in Women's Golf

By Betty Eckersall

MRS. MARY KING.

Among Marquette park's outstanding women golfers is Mrs. Mary King, who has been competing in tournaments for the last eight years. She also is known for her work in the promotion of interpark competition for women.

She never is ruffled by defeat, always accepting adversity with a smile. Last year she lost to Margery Roessiein, golfing stenographer, 2 and 1 in the 36 hole final of the women's Cook county championship. In 1928 she was runnerup to Mrs. Oscar C. Horn in the women's city parks meet at Marquette park.

Mrs. King, like all women who take their golf seriously, believes in plenty of practice. In a practice round she plays each shot as if the were in a final match.

Mrs. King seldom has been a victim of nerves. In the title match with Miss Roessiein, even in the face of defeat because of several bad shots, she never faltered under the eyes of the critical gallery. Miss Roessiein appeared just the opposite.

Poor Moriarty, He's Slipping; Was O.K. Once

seem to have conquered his old selfish tendency, for when his partner, Mr. Bill [Sweet William] Dineen, came running up inquiring, "Can I have a piece of your fight, George?" Mr. Moriarty turned on him in a jealous frenzy and yelled, "No, you cannot have a piece of my fight. I have only got four of them myself. There are eight ball clubs in this league and you want to fight the one I am fighting."

He's Very Selfish, Too.

Ordinarily Mr. Moriarty abides strictly by the umpires' motto of "all for one and one for all," but though he is always perfectly willing to accept a piece of another umpire's fight he is never willing to share his own.

There is an old story of Mr. Moriarty's fight with Ty Cobb which doubtless will be repeated now, possibly to the detriment of Moriarty who has always suffered from a false version of the affair. The story is that when Moriarty and Cobb were playing on the Tigers many years ago and Cobb was a belligerent young man, Moriarty took the part of Donie Bush, a young shortstop who was having a bad time at his work. Cobb had a habit of running in from the outfield and calling the young man abusive names for his mistakes and Moriarty said, "The next time you jump on that kid you jump on me." Mr. Cobb, who was nothing if not reckless, soon addressed himself again to the unfortunate shortstop and Mr. Moriarty said, "All right, that goes for me, too."

It Was Novel, Anyway.

Now the common version of the ensuing events has it that when they went to the bench after the inning, Moriarty picked up two bats, handed Cobb one and said, "I am bigger than you, but you are a good hitter and the bats make us all even, so come on and fight." Mr. Cobb, however, replied that it was not his turn at bat and that he did not wish to hit out of turn.

But the other version holds that Mr. Moriarty did not pick up two bats. On the contrary, he picked up one bat and handed that one to Cobb saying, "That makes us even; come on and fight." Old friends of Mr. Moriarty have always resented the version of the two bats, contending that it represents Moriarty as a sissy.

Mr. Lew Fonseca, the manager of the White Sox, who took part in the victory over Moriarty, complains that George is not only belligerent but profane. I hope I will not be accused of being an umpire lover, but I have frequently associated with Moriarty on the road and have made note of his avoidance of coarse language in casual conversation and his rather marked preference for the society of the clergy.

Must Be Another Guy.

At one household gathering which I attended with him in Boston there were present a monsignor and four or five Jesuits, including a provincial, or whatever his exact title may have been, who was in general charge of both Holy Cross and Boston college. They seemed to constitute the umpire's regular social circle in Boston for they conversed as old acquaintances and I do not recall any one's using any language which could have offended the ear of the most sensitive baseball manager.

But possibly Mr. Moriarty has a dual nature, rough on the ball yard and sweet elsewhere, like Jack Dempsey whose old trainer, Teddy Hayes, a bookish intellectual, once described him as a regular Dr. Weber and Mr. Fields of the roped arena.

Foxx Ahead of Ruth's Record Home Run Pace

JIMMY FOXX.

June 1 finds Jimmy Foxx, the 24 year old veteran in Connie Mack's Philadelphia infield, well on the way to fulfilling Home Run Baker's prophecy of nine years ago. In 1924 Baker sent Foxx, a stripling of a youngster 16 years old, to the Macks from the Easton club in the Eastern Shore league.

"Here's a catcher," Baker told Mack, "who'll be worth $100,000 a few months and who'll be better than Babe Ruth."

Foxx, who never made the grade as a catcher but became one of the game's outstanding first basemen, has hit 17 home runs in 41 games this season, three more than Ruth, holder of the all time record.

Foxx's record has been compiled in 41 games. Ruth to date has hit 14 home runs in 40 games But more important in Foxx's case is the fact that his 17 home runs by June 1 place him one home run and two games ahead of Ruth's record in 1927 when the New York slugger set the present big league standard of 60 homers.

Ruth hit 16 homers in 43 games up to June 1 in 1927, being stopped on June 1 by Rube Walberg of the Macks, after he had hit a home run in each of the five preceding games. His 17th homer that year came on June 5 against Detroit.

If Foxx continues to hit home runs at his present pace, he will break Ruth's all time record of 60 by five. To continue ahead of the Babe's record for 1927, the Mack infielder must hit nine home runs between now and the last day of June.

Ruth had 25 home runs on June 30, 1927; 34 on July 31, 43 on Aug. 31; and added 17 in September. His batting average on June of that year was .335. Foxx had not batted sufficiently in his few appearances even to be entered in the averages up to that time. Ruth's average at the end of the 1927 season was .356 against Foxx's .328 for 61 games.

It's Lindblom vs. Lane Tech for Prep Title

Once more it's Lindblom against Lane Tech for the Chicago Public High School league baseball championship. Lindblom qualified for the finals yesterday by beating Tilden Tech, 5 to 3, at Normal park.

Lane Tech and Lindblom, which met last year for the title, will play again Saturday afternoon. The site of the game will be determined today in the offices of A. H. Pritzlaff, secretary of the league.

Lane Tech, 1931 champion, went into the final round by defeating Bowen, 1 to 0, last Saturday.

A three run rally in the seventh inning gave Lindblom victory over Tilden. Lindblom led, 2 to 1, until the first half of the seventh. Then Tilden scored twice, only to be overtaken in the last of the seventh.

Frank Narbut, who probably will pitch against Lane Tech Saturday, held Tilden to six hits.

EVANSTON WINS, 10-4.

Evanston won second place in the Suburban High School league by defeating Oak Park, 10 to 4, at Oak Park yesterday. It was the final league game of the season for both teams. Score:

Oak Park	110	200	0— 4	7	6

Batteries—Brinker and Crawford; McKay, Cutshall and Tamburino.

Michigan Beats Ohio State, 8 to 4; Evens Season Series

Columbus, O., May 31.—[Special.]—Michigan defeated Ohio State's baseball team today, 8 to 4, for an even break in their four games this season. Workmaster, Ohio State shortstop, was hit on the head by one of McNeal's pitches and forced to retire. Score:

Warneke Wins No. 7 for Cubs; Yields 6 Hits line. This still left the hard hitting Watkins to be handled and Warneke did this quite successfully by slipping over a called strike.

The first incident in the Cards' fifth was a triple aimed into right center by Gelbert and it soon provided the champs with a momentary lead. Delker died swinging, but Haines aided his own cause by singling to left, Gelbert scoring. Then Orsatti profited to the extent of a single on a ball which caromed off Grimm's ankle. Martin's fly to Moore and Hendrick's roller to Warneke ended this annoyance.

Second Hit Leads to Run.

When Stephenson opened the home fifth with a single to center it was only the second hit off Haines, but another followed immediately and the tying run resulted. Grimm sacrificed Steve to second. Hartnett singled off Haines' shin, Stevie taking third. Jurges tried a squeeze bunt, but it didn't work, so he took a full swing and hoisted a fly to Watkins in right. Stevie galloped to the plate after the catch. Warneke couldn't stand for Haines having anything on him as a hitter, so he singled past third, but Moore gave a third strike the icy stare.

Haines tempted the Cubs with a pass to Herman to start the sixth, but a hit and run sign was put on and English didn't connect. Herman was thrown out at second, whereupon English fanned and Hornsby grounded to Gelbert. The Cards, after the fifth, didn't peep again until Gelbert led off in the seventh with a looping single in short center. The Cubs put a quick stop to this by applying a double play, Herman to Jurges to Grimm. The Cards didn't get another man to base.

Malone and Dean Will Clash Today in Cub-Card Final

The Cubs will put on another show with the Cardinals this afternoon and then pack up preparatory to a month of travel, except for one appearance here next Sunday with the Pirates. The road trip will start tomorrow at Pittsburgh, after which Brooklyn, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and St. Louis will be visited in the order named.

Pat Malone will be entrusted with the Cub pitching chores in the final today. The St. Louis pick will be the famous Dizzy Dean, who came to the big league bearing the front name of Jerome Herman. He now says it's Jay Hanner and that he was named after Jay Gould. He doesn't know what the Hanner represents and doesn't care. The young man also has decided that his birthday is Aug. 16 and not Jan. 16 and that he is 20 instead of 21 years old.

Harry Taylor, sub first sacker, was shipped yesterday to the Reading club on a twenty-four hour recall option. He was purchased from Seattle last winter. Pitcher Buck Newsom also is reported on his way to Reading. Buck is the fellow who had to miss spring training because a mule stepped on his leg.

Charley Grimm flopped around like a winged mallard in the fifth when his left ankle was smacked by Orsatti's hard drive. Charley tried to go after the ball but couldn't maneuver on one leg, so he dropped to the ground. Hasty examination revealed nothing more serious than a bruise.

Pepper Martin copped a possible hit from Hartnett in the seventh. He raced back to the center field screen, made a few turns, and finally grabbed a long fly which lacked about two feet of being a homer. It was easily the prize defensive item of the day.

Kiki Cuyler, the Cubs' star center fielder, who has been out of the game because of a fractured foot, now has recovered sufficiently to walk without the aid of crutches. He expects to be able to play before the team completes its impending journey through the east.

CROFTON TAKES BOWMAN'S PLACE AT AGUACALIENTE

Agua Caliente, Mexico, May 31.—(AP)—Wirt G. Bowman, president of the Agua Caliente Resort company, stepped out today and James N. Crofton, who tomorrow will submit his resignation as president of the Agua Caliente Jockey club, succeeded him as head of the hotel, casino, golf club, and spa.

Today's meeting of stockholders in the $5,000,000 company was a routine affair. Dissension, which had torn the organization during the last year, was removed recently by the sale of most of the stock held by Bowman and Abelardo Rodriguez, Mexican cabinet member. Baron Long, San Diego hotel man; Joseph M. Schenck, Hollywood film magnate, and Crofton were the purchasers.

It was announced today that at the Jockey club stockholders' meeting tomorrow Crofton and the entire board of directors will resign.

Preps Menace Dash Record in Stagg Meet

The 100 yard dash promises to be the most closely contested event in the 28th running of the Stagg interscholastic meet at Stagg field Saturday. If only one of three leading entrants in the event can equal his previous marks this year the record of 9.8 seconds is doomed.

In 1913 Charles Hoyt of Greenfield, Ia., ran the hundred in 9.8. Since then that mark has been equaled five times in the Stagg meet. This year three entrants have run 9.7 races. James Owen of Maplewood, Mo., winner of the Stagg century last year; Alonzo Merwether of Mount Carmel, Ill., and Randall Herman of Oak Park, who became state sprint champion two weeks ago at that rate.

Stollers Is Ohio Threat.

These three will face Sam Stollers of Hughes High, Cincinnati, who has done 9.8; Robert Grieve of Glenbard High, Glen Ellyn, Ill., who was second to Herman in the state meet, and Elmer Helbing of North Side High, Fort Worth, Tex., who won the Texas prep hundred at 9.9.

The same group will be out for the Stagg 220 record of :21.4.

Sixteen team entries received by Coach Stagg yesterday brought the total number of squads registered up to 126 and the total individuals to 476.

Three men in the 120 yard high hurdles have equaled the national mark of :15. They are Fritz Pollard, colored star of Senn, who made that time to win in the Illinois state meet; Sam Allen of Bristow, Okla., and Amsden Oliver, Negro star from Roosevelt High, Dayton, O.

Quarter Mark in Danger.

Marshall Miller of Maine Township High, Des Plaines, who established a new quarter mile record of 48.8 last week in the Illinois state meet should be able to better the Stagg mark of 49.4 made by Ivan Fuqua, then running for Brazil, Ind., in 1929.

WOOD DEFEATED IN SINGLES, WITH HELEN IN DOUBLES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUTEUIL, France, May 31.—Sidney B. Wood, young New York tennis player, was defeated in the third round of the French hard court championship tournament today by Rene La Coste, once France's greatest player.

La Coste, returning to the courts after an absence of three years, displayed some of his best form in defeating the young American in a hard fought five set duel. The scores were 6-0, 6-1, 3-6, 6-8, 7-5.

La Coste wore down Wood in the singles and the American, after the contest, appealed to officials to postpone his mixed doubles match in which he was to appear with Helen Wills Moody. Physicians pronounced him in poor condition to continue on the courts, but tournament officials told him to go through with the match or default.

As a result Wood and Mrs. Moody were eliminated by Betty Nuthall and Frederick Perry of England, Wood at times appearing too weary to strike at the ball. He gave Mrs. Moody little support and the English pair won in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

The defeat in the mixed doubles spoiled all chances of Mrs. Moody's winning in three divisions of the tournament. Mrs. Moody, paired with Elizabeth Ryan, won the doubles championship and is a favorite to capture the women's singles title.

The defeat of Wood leaves only one American, Gregory Mangin, in the men's singles. Besides Mrs. Moody, Helen Jacobs, who today defeated Doris Metaxa of France, 6-3, 6-3, in the women's singles, is the only other United States player in the tournament.

SENATORS GO ON HOME RUN DIET TO WHIP A'S, 5-4

2 Triples in Twelfth Add Final Touch.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 31.—(AP)—Heinie Manush's bat gave Washington a 5 to 4 decision over the Athletics after twelve innings of scrapping today. The triumph put the Senators in a tie with the second place Detroit club and cost the A's a chance to capture third.

Manush nearly won the game in the eleventh after Tony Freitas, the As' newly acquired left hander, had been taken out and George Earnshaw was pitching. Heinie welcomed Earnshaw's arrival with a home run that gave Washington the lead. Philadelphia tied the score again, but the next time Manush came up he whacked a triple to drive home Buddy Myer, who also had hit for three bases, with the winning run.

Freitas, making his debut with the A's, pitched a fine game for seven innings, but lost a victory when Joe Cronin hit for the circuit in the ninth, after the newcomer had had a rather wabbly eighth. Carl Reynolds also hit a home run in the second inning.

Freitas yielded only three hits in the first seven innings, while Philadelphia gained a 3 to 1 lead off Frank Ragland, another rookie making his first start.

WILL REFINANCE THE WINCHESTER ARMS BUILDING

New Corporation to Be Formed.

BY AL CHASE.

Reorganization plans for the Winchester Arms apartments, at the northwest corner of Winchester and Wilson avenues, announced yesterday, provide for the formation of a new corporation, the common and preferred stock of which will be placed in a voting trust of ten years' duration. The deposit under the trust plan calls for ten shares of preferred for each $100 in bonds now held. The owner of the property, who will hold the common stock, has agreed that the preferred shall be retired and that during the first five years of the voting trust all of the net income shall be used for that purpose.

CHAS. J. YOUNG.

The original bond issue was for $290,000, underwritten by the Straus Brothers Investment company, and has since been paid down to $244,000. The building contains 87 apartments. A foreclosure decree was entered against the property on April 7, 1932, and the property ordered sold for the benefit of the bondholders.

Five Months' Expenses.

According to Barnet L. Rosset, chairman of the bondholders' protective committee, the trustee has been operating the property since Nov. 1, 1931, and reports the following receipts and disbursements for five months from Nov. 1, 1931, to March 31, 1932:

Receipts—
Rents	$17,712
Miscellaneous	19
	$17,731
Disbursements—
Operating expenses	$ 8,260
Net income before taxes and depree.	$ 9,471

The committee has worked out a projected statement of estimated income and expense for the yearly period commencing May 1, 1932, with $32,476 gross income after deducting $8,370 for vacancies and $1,004 for bad debts. Expenses are estimated at $25,415, which would leave a net annual income of $7,061.

"As a result of negotiations with the owner of the property," said Mr. Rosset, "the proposed plan will obviate the running of the period of redemption and permit the operating of the property with a financial structure capable of producing returns to present bondholders under present existing adverse real estate conditions."

Owner Deposits Cash.

The committee, Mr. Rosset states, has decided that the mortgage securing the temporary financing necessary for reorganization is to provide that foreclosure proceedings may not be instituted in the event of any default prior to the final maturity date.

The owner of the property has deposited $5,438 with the trustee to preserve his equity and this sum will be used in the refinancing and consequently reduce the amount of new financing necessary to consummate the reorganization. No bonds will be accepted for deposit after June 10, the committee states. The voting trust will be composed of Mr. Rosset, Charles J. Young, and A. S. Graven, all members of the bondholders' committee.

S. W. Straus & Co. yesterday stated that their various reorganizations which have been adopted now total 24 issues, amounting to $32,045,000 as originally underwritten by that firm. Details of these have been given in this department from time to time. S. J. T. Straus, chairman of the board, states that within the next month or two plans for the refinancing of at least ten more issues, totaling $16,175,000, will be announced.

Sheridan-Grace Apartments.

F. M. Hickok, receiver for the Sheridan-Grace apartments, at the northwest corner of Sheridan road and Grace street, yesterday reported a cash balance of $135,32 on hand March 31, 1932. Following is a statement of receipts and disbursements from Jan. 1, 1931, to March 31, 1932:

Receipts	$289,031
Disbursements for operating expenses	97,423
Net receipts after oper. expenses.	$191,608
Other receipts	1,861
Total receipts	$193,469
Other disbursements	178,403
Excess receipts over disbursem'ts.	$ 15,066
Cash balance Dec. 31, 1930	120,466
Cash balance March 31, 1932	$135,532

This was a Greenebaum Sons Investment company bond issue of $2,150,000 at 6½ per cent. The receiver reports occupancy March, 1932, as 89.67 per cent.

BANKS HESITATE TO JOIN IN U. S. CREDIT EFFORT

Disturbed by Budget and Tax Crises.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Once more it becomes rather clearly evident that the banks of the country are not willing to join whole-heartedly the credit expansion program of the federal reserve authorities until uncertainties regarding tax legislation, balancing the budget and relief are at least partly cleared up. Moreover, unwillingness to go ahead prevails for the same reason and to almost as large degree among industrial and business leaders.

Financiers and business men have all along expected a prolonged congressional wrangle over new revenue bills. But a few weeks ago the general opinion was that the problem would be solved by June 1. Now, after the senate acts, there is still the conference report and action by both houses to complete the legislation. Moreover, there are world uncertainties, including the Lausanne conference to consider reparations and inter-governmental debts, expiration of the Hoover moratorium and the German political situation.

Reduce Their Loans.

As the result of these uncertainties, the large banks have continued steadily reducing their loans, both on collateral and for commercial purposes. And this has taken place despite the fact that the federal reserve banks have pumped around $800,000,000 of credit into the market through purchases of government obligations in the last two months.

A continuation of this movement is shown in the latest report of the federal reserve board setting forth the position of weekly reporting member banks, which include the larger banks in the principal cities. This report, made public yesterday, shows that these banks reduced their loans on securities by $40,000,000 during the week ended May 25, while at the same time their commercial loans declined $33,000,000. They disposed of $9,000,000 of government obligations, probably as the further result of the buying policy of the reserve banks.

Increase Holdings.

These banks, however, increased their investments in other securities by $39,000,000. This fact tends to confirm reports that the banks are cooperating in a plan to support the bond market as the first step proposed by committees of business men and bankers organized in New York, Chicago and St. Louis recently to study ways of expanding credit.

But for current political uncertainties, it is evident the banks have a plethora of funds to finance business recovery, whenever it may start. These reporting banks increased their reserve balances at the reserve banks by $35,000,000 during the week under review. They also showed a gain of $23,000,000 in net demand and time deposits. It is estimated that all member banks of the reserve system have more than $300,000,000 of excess reserves.

Bank Paper Comments.

The present situation is the subject for comment by the Journal of the American Bankers association.

"It seems safe to feel that the element of public hysteria in respect to banking had apparently been eliminated as a major cause of business uncertainty," it says. "Following the establishment of this desirable condition it was possible to develop a more constructive bank credit situation and effective steps to this end were beginning to show results in May. The reserve banks were buying a substantial volume of government securities, resulting in enlarged deposit funds in the hands of members which were enabled to reduce borrowings from the reserve banks.

"This led to a situation in New York that in several previous depressions has been the first step in financial recovery, that is, the development of excess reserves or idle funds. Whereas heavy indebtedness of member banks in New York and elsewhere to the federal reserve had previously evidenced a stage of credit stringency in the depression, this federal reserve policy exercised an influence toward credit ease and expansion, which should normally place the banks in a position to adopt a more aggressive policy in making sound investments and in extending increased commercial loans to business and industry wherever justified expansion in activity called for them.

"A movement of this kind, of sufficient volume and duration, if reinforced by a basis of sound industrial and commercial activity, ordinarily means the beginning of business recovery."

H. P. PRESTON HEADS CHICAGO WORK OF THE CREDIT RELIEF GROUP

Howard P. Preston, former vice president of the Bank of America, has been named Chicago agent for the Reconstruction Finance corporation. He succeeds Howard M. Sims, who resumes his post as chief examiner of the Chicago Clearing House asociation, a job which he temporarily relinquished to act for the governmental group.

Cotton Belt Finance Plan Is Operative

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 31.—Averting receivership by a margin of six hours, the management of the St. Louis Southwestern [Cotton Belt] railway announced today that sufficient consolidated 4 per cent bonds had been received to make operative a plan for their refinancing.

The deposit of about 200 bonds from unnamed sources helped make possible the plan's success. The bonds, of which $20,727,750 are outstanding, mature today.

Deposit of 90 Per Cent Announced.

The announcement followed charges made on Saturday by Walter E. Meyer, minority director, that the Southern Pacific company, which controls the Cotton Belt, had endeavored to abandon the plan that which action would have precipitated a receivership. Today's statement was issued after a Cotton Belt board meeting ending at 6 o'clock. At midnight the bonds became due. The statement declared: "The depositary reported that the holders of 90 per cent of the outstanding first consolidated mortgage bonds had deposited their bonds under the refunding plan."

Hale Holden, chairman of the Southern Pacific's executive committee and of the Cotton Belt's board, said of the charge by Mr. Meyer, "I do not intend to notice it."

Owner's Name Kept Secret.

Mr. Holden disclosed that the Mercantile-Commercial Bank and Trust company of St. Louis, which holds 700 of the consolidated bonds, had deposited under the plan all but 200 of them.

The deposit of 500 of the bank's bonds left a remainder of 198 lacking to make the plan effective. The source of the deposit of those additional 198 bonds was not disclosed.

Authorizes Loan.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—The Southern Pacific company has been authorized by the interstate commerce commission to guarantee $18,000,000 in notes of the St. Louis Southwestern railway evidencing a loan for this amount from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The commission required this guarantee in its recent order approving a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan of $18,000,000 to the Cotton Belt.

U. S. AND FRANCE CALLED NEAR NEW TRADE COMPACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 31.—An accord on import quotas which virtually has eliminated some branches of American business in France and an agreement for a new commercial treaty between France and the United States have been reached here, it is said. The official news is not to become known until tomorrow. Then Ambassador Walter E. Edge sails for America to attend the Republican national convention. Full details will not be revealed until Edge's arrival in Washington.

V. R. Lynch Named Head of Manz Corporation

V. R. Lynch, who for several years has been executive vice president and general manager of the Manz corporation, was elected president of that company yesterday. F. D. Montgomery, the retiring president, has been appointed chairman of the executive committee.

The Manz corporation was founded in Chicago in 1867 as a wood engraving business. It has grown until it is one of the largest color printing houses of its kind in the world. The company at its meeting was reported to be in excellent financial condition, without bond or bank debt. The year 1931 was a profitable one, and the first quarter of 1932 surpassed that same period of 1931.

Auto Sales in Illinois Reported Holding Up Well

Buying of new automobiles in Illinois continues to be held up by many contributing factors, according to the Illinois chamber of commerce, which reports 7,702 new cars sold in May, as compared with 7,982 in April and 15,349 in May, 1931. During the last month 4,301 new cars were sold in Cook county and 3,401 in downstate counties, as compared with 4,771 in Cook county and 3,211 downstate in April. Total sales for the first five months of the year are 31,286 cars, compared with 63,064 for the same period in 1931, current totals falling to less than half the number disposed of last year.

MIDDLE WEST DEFAULTS TODAY ON 40 MILLIONS

Six Groups Confuse Security Owners.

The Middle West Utilities company, the big Insull utility holding company which was placed in receivership in April, today will default payment of principal and interest on $10,000,000 of its 5 per cent serial notes and also will default interest on the remaining $30,000,000 of the issue, of which $10,000,000 matures annually.

Default on the issue has been a foregone conclusion since the receivers were appointed, eventually to work out a reorganization plan. However, the formation of several protective committees by groups of holders of the various securities of Middle West Utilities has complicated the situation, particularly as several committees have been launched to act for the same classes of stockholders.

Six Such Committees.

All told there are six committees. There are two committees for the note holders, one headed by Charles S. Dewey, vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, and the other by Lucius Teter, chairman of Baird & Warner. There is a committee for the preferred stockholders headed by C. Frederick Childs, investment banker. Then there are three committees for the common stockholders, headed respectively by Martin Lindsay, Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago board of trade, and Burton Colbert.

This multiplicity of committees has caused considerable confusion among the security holders, who do not know with which group to deposit their securities or whether to deposit them at all. With the receivers of Middle West Utilities so recently in charge, they have made no formal reports. Therefore, none of the committees has been able to present any plans to the note and stock holders and have merely suggested that the security holders should organize for future action.

Holds $4,000,000 Notes.

The note holders' committee headed by Mr. Dewey holds approximately $4,000,000 of the Middle West Utilities notes. It is reported to have the support of the Chicago banking group that originally distributed the notes. Thus far, the preferred stockholders' committee headed by Mr. Childs has no rival. The common stockholders' committee headed by Mr Lindsay is understood to be supported by the large Chicago and New York banks which hold large blocks of Middle West Utilities Investments and Corporation Securities company.

John C. Shaffer, president of the J. C. Shaffer Grain company, has been added to the committee representing the debenture holders of Insull Utility Investments. John J. McDevitt Jr., Philadelphia attorney, is chairman of the committee. The committee also has established a Chicago office in the

APPROVE $1,150,000 FEDERAL LOAN TO NORTH SHORE ROAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 31.—A loan of $1,150,000 to the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad company by the Reconstruction Finance corporation was approved today by the interstate commerce commission.

The loan, which is to run for not more than three years, is to be used to pay $500,000 of $2,000,000 of gold notes that matured April 1, 1932; $39,500, real estate mortgages; $150,408, sinking fund deposits for retirement of first and refunding mortgage bonds; $161,400 car trust certificates maturing during 1932; $25,000 of purchase contract notes; $60,000 interest on three year notes that was due April 1; $63,175 interest in first and refunding bonds that was due April 1, and $150,517 bond interest due July 1, 1932.

As security for the loan the commission said the applicant should pledge $2,056,000 of its first and refunding series C 5½ per cent gold bonds of 1956.

Though the North Shore has denied that the interstate commerce commission has jurisdiction over the issuance of its securities, it submitted to the commission's jurisdiction in order to obtain approval of the securities to be used as collateral for the loan.

The Pittsburgh and West Virginia railway has been authorized by the commission to issue $7,446,000 of 6 per cent bonds, incident to the pledge of as many of these bonds as may be necessary as collateral security for a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The bonds unpledged will be held in the road's treasury.

EXPECT INTEREST WILL BE PAID ON GERMAN BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 31.—Financial circles here expect prompt payment of interest due tomorrow on the German government international loan 5½ per cent bonds of 1930, due on June 1, 1965, and on the other German corporation, bank and municipal loans, either today or on June 15, although most of them are quoted at "default prices" on the New York Stock exchange.

Paying agents of many of the issues have indicated that funds have been in hand for some time to meet the interest payments, while others, as a matter of policy, make no advance statements.

NICKEL PLATE REPORTS APRIL OPERATING NET

New York, Chicago and St. Louis reported net operating income for April of $314,999, a decrease of $390,710 from the same month a year ago. Gross last month amounted to $2,534,527, or $810,938 less than April, 1931; for the four-month period, $10,404,888, down $2,702,425 from a year ago.

Other roads reporting net railway operating income for April, with 1931 comparisons, included the following:

Burlington Carries 4,000 Memorial Day Passengers

The Burlington railway system carried around 4,000 main line excursion passengers in and out of Chicago over Memorial day, exclusive of suburban business, according to Passenger Traffic Manager A. Cotsworth Jr. "The travel for the holiday was surprisingly good and was only a trifle under last year's figure," he said.

Kresge Puts Its Dividend on Dollar Basis

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 31.—Directors of the S. S. Kresge company announced today a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock, payable June 30 to holders of record June 10. No mention was made as to whether the new rate will be continued quarterly. Heretofore payments were on the basis of 40 cents quarterly, or $1.60 annually.

Boston and Maine.

Reflecting the continued decline in net earnings, the board of the Boston and Maine railroad took no action today on the 7 per cent prior preference dividend. Action on the dividend was postponed at the March meeting, when it was stated that dividends in the future would be considered semi-annually instead of quarterly.

Thomas N. Perkins, chairman of the board, intimated last month that "there is a strong feeling on the part of directors that if dividend is earned and cash position warrants prior preference dividend should be paid."

Taken to Conserve Cash.

In a letter to holders of the 6 per cent and 7 per cent cumulative preferred stocks the National Electric Power company said the July dividend omission was voted in order to conserve cash and apply it as rapidly as possible to reduction of bank loans. Omission of the preferred dividends will add more than $1,000,000 a year to the amount available for that purpose, it was pointed out.

30 MILLION BONDS OF FEDERAL BANKS ARE OUT TODAY

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Offering of $30,000,000 of Federal Intermediate Credit bank debenture bonds will be made tomorrow. Charles R. Dunn, fiscal agent for the twelve institutions, so announced today.

The new financing will be the first since enactment by congress of an amendment to the federal reserve bank act making credit banks' debentures eligible as collateral for 15 day loans by member banks at the federal reserve bank.

The new issue is larger than usual and the interest coupon rate of 3 per cent is the lowest in months. In April, $25,000,000 of the banks' bonds were floated on a 3½ per cent basis.

The present $30,000,000 offering will consist of collateral trust debentures dated June 15, 1932, and due in 3, 6, 9, and 12 months in series.

LOAN FAILURE OUSTS RUMANIA PREMIER JORGA

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 31.—(AP)—Premier Nicholas Jorga and his cabinet resigned tonight because it was unable to negotiate a foreign loan to help the country out of a financial stalemate. Former Premier Nicholas Titulescu, ambassador to London and now in Geneva, was urgently requested by King Carol to return and become premier-designate.

Dahlberg Calls Celotex Co. Suit Vicious and Untrue

The receivership suit against the Celotex company filed in May 26 was brought "apparently with some ulterior motive for the purpose of creating trouble," according to B. G. Dahlberg, president of the company, in a letter to stockholders.

The charges of mismanagement brought in the suit "are vicious and untrue," declares Dahlberg, who states that the bill was filed on unsupported "information and belief." The suit was filed by Christ Larsen and his wife.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 31.—Wall street's calamity complex was hitting on all eight cylinders today. The reasons were:

The fall of the Bruening government; President Hoover's warning to the senate that the economic state of the nation has reached the "emergency" stage; the senate finance committee's prompt rejection of the general sales tax.

All Depress Market.

All of them weighed like so many tons of lead on speculative sentiment.

Stock prices gave way easily and rather rapidly at times. The reaction was most pronounced immediately following the delivery of the President's message. Toward the close prices steadied a little as pressure subsided, but little evidence or rallying power was visible and final figures were generally around the worst of the day. Losses ranged from a fraction to about 4 points in the active list. Turnover increased with the pace of liquidation, the total mounting to 1,400,000 or so shares.

More Selling Follows.

While the President's remarks on the economic situation and the need for prompt remedial action accorded in the main with those held by the street, his outspoken comment and the tenor of dispatches dealing with the episode—one of them referring to the atmosphere as "vibrant with the presence of vast public uncertainties"—undoubtedly proved the signal to many wavering traders to let go holdings to which they had been clinging day after day for so long in the hope of some turn for the better.

The President's failure to make his sales tax recommendations all-inclusive—a general sales tax—was no doubt disappointing to many big guns of the market who have convinced themselves that such a measure is the only way out of the country's present financial difficulties.

The Trust Company First Appointed in Cook County By the Probate Court As Administrator

On November 13, 1889, for the first time in the history of Cook County, a judge of the Probate Court selected a trust company to serve as the administrator of an estate. The judge was the late Hon. Christian C. Kohlsaat. The estate was that of Emma S. Rust. The trust company was the old American Trust and Savings Bank — one of the banks now united in the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company

PLAN FURTHER FIGHT

That the New York banks will take further steps to obtain legal sanction for the sale of securities they hold as security for loans to the two Insull investment trusts was indicated yesterday following the federal court's refusal to dissolve the injunction holding up the sale.

The public auction which was to have been held yesterday was postponed again, this time until June 22, by the four New York banks which proposed the sale. Designation of a future date for the sale lent support to reports that the eastern institutions will shortly petition the Circuit Court of Appeals for authority to carry out the proposed auction.

Stocks Decline Again.

Another bad break yesterday in the prices of the stocks involved in the litigation further complicates the situation. Shares of Public Service of Northern Illinois, Commonwealth Edison and Peoples Gas all sold off yesterday along with the general market. Collateral held by the New York banks consists of large blocks of the stocks of these three concerns.

The no par stock of Public Service experienced the sharpest break yesterday in falling nearly 9 points to an all time low price of 37¼.

The recession developed on transactions involving only 600 shares. Edison was more active and gave up 4¾ points to finish the day just under 55. In New York, Peoples Gas was quoted 3 points under its previous price of 54.

The collateral, as measured by market quotations, is now worth considerably less than when the banks originally proposed the auction. Obviously, the sale cannot be carried out under the terms originally set. Those called for a minimum price of $10,000,000. The price set was then approximately the same as the market quotations. Since that time there has been a steady erosion of market values in which the stocks in question have shared. The three stocks are now selling from 15 to 25 points below the May 5 prices, the date on which the sale was originally to have been held.

The American Public Service company, which is a part of the Middle West Utilities system, voted today to omit the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock due at this time.

Other Issues Decline.

Declines in the Chicago market yesterday were not confined to the Insull securities. Stocks of all descriptions showed further losses along with securities and commodities in other markets.

With a few exceptions the losses were not large. In addition to the declines in the Insull issues there was a 12 points drop on Telephone Bond and Share, a utility holding company security.

The Swift stocks regained steadiness after the selling flurry which disturbed the market Saturday following the death of Edward F. Swift.

Swift International recovered something over a point following an official statement calling attention to the company's strong financial position. Swift & Co. was a few cents lower at the end of the day. The volume of trading in each stock was smaller than at the close of last week.

HEAVY LIQUIDATION SENDS JULY COTTON TO 34 YEAR LOW PRICE

New York, May 31.—(AP)—Heavy liquidation today forced cotton futures to new low levels for the season, and established for the July position a 34-year record low price for any futures contract at 5.23c a pound. The October delivery sold down to 5.48c and at the close losses ranged from $1.35 to $1.45 a bale. The annually heavy selling was attributed to political unsettlement in Germany and disappointment over the adverse action of the senate finance committee on the proposed general sales tax.

HEAVY SELLING LOWERS PRICES ON WALL STREET

in that troubled domain but gave rise to reports that the reich might seek a partial moratorium on private debts as well as further delay on reparations.

Gas Tax Plan Factor.

Lesser news developments appeared to plague individual shares and groups. The treasury department's stand for a national gasoline tax hit the petroleum shares; the weekly figure on carloadings showing a drop of about 2,200 cars from the previous week gave the carrier shares a fresh blow. Tobacco shares continued to brood on the disappointing April cigaret figures.

General Electric, so lately rated among the market's mighty, was called on to pay further toll on its dividend omission last week and dropped to a new of 8½ in doing so. The steady decline in price of these erstwhile blue ribbon shares has given rise to reports that the company is considering the advisability of reducing the number of its common shares outstanding.

One version of the rumor today had it that the move might take the form of a "split-down" on a 1 for 2 basis, the corporation's last capital adjustment was in 1930 when four of the present shares were issued for each one held at that time.

U. S. Steel at 25½.

United States Steel common, which has been winning pats on the back by its dogged resistance to liquidation during the last two weeks, finally ran up the white flag and consented to be marked down to a new bear market low of 25½.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 18,000; sheep, 8,000.

Best grades of hogs ruled strong to slightly higher on good local support yesterday, while the market for plainer kinds maintained an even keel throughout the session. Large local houses were most aggressive in the grades selling at $3.25@3.45.

The peak price went up to $3.50, equaling the highest price last week. The general average remained steady at $3.25, with the clearance the best for Tuesday in recent weeks. Only 4,000 remained in the pens. Armour, Swift & Wilson handled a combined total of 24,000 head including 21,000 billed direct from other points. Favorable reports from the wholesale market for fresh pork helped some in buoying the trade toward the close. There was a good clearance of pork at most distributing centers.

Best Cattle Steady.

Cattle buyers skimmed the "cream" from yesterday's supply at fully steady prices, buying 1,000@1,200 lb steers freely at $7.00@7.25. Prime 1,151@1,235 lb averages topped the market at $7.75. Order buyers encountered plenty of competition in top grades when large local houses came in for their share. Swift paid the top price.

Soon after the best had sold weakness commenced to crop up in several divisions and before long prices on the rank and file of cattle were headed downward again. Losses of 10@15c became general, with spots off as much as 25c. Bulk of beef steers changed hands at $5.25@6.75. Only scattered lots of inferior grades sold at $5.00 and below. The light supply of butcher stock sold strong to 25c higher, fed yearling heifers scoring the advance. Most yearling heifers sold at $5.00@5.85, with 51 averaging 721 lbs at $6.00. Calves were unchanged.

PRODUCE MARKETS
